CHARLEY RAY SAVES GAME

Goes in in Ninth Inning and Strikes Out Four Men-Ragged Work Done by Both Teams in Support.

There was another extra inning matines at the league grounds yesterday afternoon, the Brewers heating the Trunks, 5 to 4. Three safe bingles in the tenth canto made it curtains for the valiaemakers, and settled the old-time rivalry between the two teams. The games on the whole, was slow, and was at times marred by bad miscues on the part of the players on both teams. Luck stood in with the Brews, and gave them the game.

Kotterman, a new acquisition of Mar kotterman, a new acquisition of analysis ager Jack Helser, was sent out on the mound for the Sudamakers, and Rummell, another new one, did slabwork for the Trunks. Kotterman was touched up for nine safe ones in eight and a half innings, and when things began to look doubtful nine safe ones in eight and a half innings, and when things begar to look doubtful in the first of the ninth, he suddenly changed places with the old was horse. Charley Ray, on first base. When the old timer wandered up to the box, those Vallsemakers thought that they would have easy picking, but they didn't. Five men faced the old boy, one made a dinky bit, another went out on first, and the next four took the ozone, and wandered back to the beach. Charley only needed to throw a few, then curtains for the to throw a few, then curtains for the Trunks. Rummell, Manager Partlow's prodist, did fatrly good work with the exception of the fatal tenth. Three bingles, one after another, put the boy to the had.

to the bad.

The Trunks started the scoring. With one down in the first, Enrich lined out a two-ply wallop, went on to third on a hobble by Lodell, and scored on another miscue by Ripple. In the second, the Brewers took a hand in the game. Mc-Bride hit safely, and Lodell, next up, sent a slow bunt down to Tauscher. The little fellow gathered it in, but threw the ball wild, over into the bleachers, Mc-Bride scoring, and Lodell going to third on the play. Lodell scored later on a hit by Catnock. The Brews sent another over the pan in the third. Ripple was hit, went to third on a hit by Ray, and scored on an attempt of Enrich to throw Ray out at second. Another a was registered for the Sudsmakers the fourth. Helser hit, went to second a Tauscher's error. on to third on grounder by Goddard, and scored on

The Trunks were chalked up with a tally in the fifth. Kennedy hit, went to third on an error by Ray, and scored of a passed ball. The Valisemakers manage to even things up in the ninth. Tausche hit, went to third on a blugle by Ker nedy and came in on a sunge by kennedy and came in on a squeeze play.
At this stage of the game, Kotterman quit the box, and Charley Ray came in. Rummell found the "Old Hoss" for a safe one, and Kennedy scored. Then Charley found his range, and there was nothing to it. In the last of the ninth, the Brews were easy, and went out in onetwo-three order. There was nothing doing in the first of the tenth, but the freeworks in the first of the tenth, but the fireworks came in the last part of the canto. Ray hit safely, went to third on a bingle by McBride, and scored on another safety by Lodell. The scorekeepers' version:

After this game, a contest between teams representing the Federated Trades and Building Trades Councils was played. The Federated Trades team won, I to 3. Because of the late hour the game was called at the end of five innings.
