DEATH OF C. L. RODGERS

C. L. Rodgers was born September 17, 1864, on a farm about eight miles south of Salem, and died at Eugene, Ore., July 26, 1915. He lived for the greater part of his life in the home in which he was born, but in 1914, because of a malady from which he had suffered the most of his life, he sold the home farm and started for eastern Oregon with his family. They went only as far as Eugene, where he rented a farm. His death came following a severe operation and a very short illness.

Mr. Rodgers was a graduate of Willamette university, class of 1884, and during his college course, under the preaching of President VanScoy, he was converted and joined the Methodist Episcopal church, of which he remained a faithful member until his death. In 1889 he was married to Miss Carrie Humphreys, who survives him, together with their five children: Mrs. Earl Crosson, Mrs. Harry Nearhoff, Mrs. Forest Edwards, and Josephine and Levina Clarke.

The funeral services were held July 28, at the undertaking parlors of Webb & Clough, in Salem, and were conducted by Rev. J. C. Spencer, of the Leslie M. E. church, after which the body was laid to rest in Twin Oaks cemetery, Turner.
