THE MARKETS

The following prices for fruits and vegetables are those asked by the wholesaler of the retailer, and not what is paid to the producer. All other prices are those paid the producer. Corrections are made daily.

The grain and live stock market holds at the prices established several days ago and the general opinion is that the price will hold at the present high level.

Produce men are quoting broilers under 1½ pounds at 16 cents, with those over this weight at 14½ cents.

Turkeys came on the market today with a quotation of 18 cents.

Oranges are higher, and California grapes are scarce on the market with an advance of 50 cents a crate. Huckleberries are now quoted at 8 cents.

Market Slowed Up but Prices Are Steady

New York, Sept. 28.—The New York Evening Sun financial review today says:

In an orderly and rather uninteresting speculation today prices, although at times exhibiting irregular and reactionary tendencies, were firm in the best part of the session, which decided strength in a few issues and sharp advances in some of the specialties. Declines from the high points were not important, in view of the extent of recent improvement, while on the other hand gains in the general list, as compared with the closing in Wednesday's market, were relatively small, the movement of quotation, lacking the stimulus of great public buying, as reported on preceding days of the week. There was, however, buying in fair volume for outside account.

As the session progressed, however, there was no indication in the character of the trading that a big slump in market values was approaching. There was no important liquidation and traders, although somewhat bearish, were extremely cautious in putting out contracts on the short side of speculation.

Wilson League Is Growing in Members

The Woodrow Wilson League is growing in numbers and many are taking out Woodrow Wilson cards, irrespective of party affiliations, said John Bayne, president of the league. There seems to be much interest in the work of the league and according to Mr. Bayne and new members are being interested daily. The assignment of speakers for the state will soon be made. The first to talk on the issues will be Mrs. Thompson, of The Dalles, and there is some prospects of getting J. Ham Lewis, senator from Illinois, and one of the democratic leaders of the senate. Besides being a man of brains and natural leadership, Mr. Lewis is famous as the man with the pink whiskers and Chesterfieldian manners.

DIED THIS MORNING

Miss Lulu Heglen died at the home of her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Heglen 766 South Summer street at 8:30 o'clock this morning after an illness of two weeks.

She was born in Seattle, Washington, October 1, 1898, and would have celebrated her 18th birthday next Sunday. She came to salem with her parents about five years ago. She was a member of the First Baptist church and was active in the work of the Sunday school and the young peoples' society of the church. To her large circle of friends, her untimely death was a great shock.

The funeral services will be held at the parlors of Rigdon & Richardson at 2:30 o'clock Saturday afternoon and will be conducted by the Rev. Geo. F. Holt, pastor of the First Baptist church. Burial will be in the City View cemetery.

The report of the government bureau as to crops in Oregon for the past week says prune drying is nearly finished and a heavy crop of Italian prunes has been secured in excellent condition. Apple picking is general and the crop is meeting expectations in every respect except as to color. The weather has not been just right for coloring the first pickings, but it was more favorable this week and some improvement has taken place in the last few days.

NOTHING DOING IN STREET CAR STRIKE

Leaders Say Unions With 164,000 Are Voting and Will Go Out

New York, Sept. 28.—The second day of what was to have been a general strike of union workers in New York revealed no change early today in the situation, marked yesterday by practically complete failure of the men and women to whom the call was directed to respond.

Best information showed that a bare handful of workers went out on sympathetic strike. The larger unions have contracts with their employers and have hesitated to break them.

Interest today centered in the possibility that subway and elevated motormen who have heretofore refused to join the traction strike, might be called out. A. L. Gridley, organizer of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, with which some of the motormen are affiliated, attacked leaders of the street car union and declared officials of the Interborough company wuld be called to account for their refusal to treat with representatives of the brotherhood.

Unions with a membership of 164,000 were voting on the question of responding to the sympathetic strike call today. Leaders still claim a majority of these would go out.

They also claimed more than 150,000 workers walked out yesterday, but admitted most of these were Jewish workers who would have remained away from work anyhow because of their holiday.

CHANCELLOR GOES

ation of war upon Germany, but Germany refused to play Italys game, while the allies continued to press Italys to declare war.

"Finally the measures which England uses with equal recklessness against neutrals and allies, were too strong," he added.

"Italy's warfare depends upon English coal and money. Italy finally had to give in. The decision was certainly brought about by English coercion, though Italian hopes in the Balkans also exercised an influence. Italy, as is known, wants Balkan territory which is wtihin the natural sphere of GPreek interests.

"In order not to be abandoned, Italy thought it necessary to join in Sarrail's expedition and this again caused an encounter between Italian and German troops in Macedonia."
