Political Trades Give Him Firm Grip on His State Job.

HOLDS ON AS FISH WARDEN

Secretary Benson and Treasurer Steel Form Combination to Parcel Out Appointments and the Ax Is Not to Be Used.

That H. G. Vau Dusen has linked himself fast to his $2500 job as Fish Warden, through fortune of several trades in the state appointing board and the influence state appointing board and the influence of Senator Fulton, is the report in political circles. The report is strengthened by Van Dusen's evident peace of mind, which has come to him recently.

The Fish Warden's appointment is involved with that of Superintendent of the Insane Asylum and that of Superintendent of the Reform School, both institutions being in Salem. The appointing board is composed of Governor Chamberlain, Secretary of State Benson and State Treasurer Steel. Benson and Steel have agreed to parcel out these three jobs independently of the Governor. To do this they are swapping appointments.

ernor. To do this they are swapping appointments.

Benson, if political surmises count for anything, is to be recognized in the appointment of Van Dusen and also in the selection of Dr. R. E. Lee Steiner, of Salem, for the Asylum rosition. Steel is to have his share in the appointment of Harry E. Bickers, of Pendleton, an old-time Simon faithful, as chief of the Reform School. This would seem to give the lion's share to the Henson element. the Hon's share to the Henson element, but it will be remembered that James Steel, brother of Treasurer Steel, has seen appointed Bank Examiner, which

Are Sure of Consummation.

As viewed in several quarters, these se-lections, while not agreed upon to an absolute finality, are apparently sure of consummation. Meanwhile Steel and Benson are posing in the attitude of uncer tainty, to test the effects that the selections will make in their respective camps and to avoid semblance of ignoring other aspirants. This much seems cer-tain: Steel and Benson have reached an understanding, whereby each is to share in the parceling out of patronage and each knows what man the other wants. Six months ago it appeared wholly likely that Van Dusen would not be able to keep up his grip. Treasurer Steel was under evident obligation to favorite sons under evident obligation to favorite sons of Clackamas County, either H. A. Webster, then Deputy Warden, or J. U. Campbell, member of the Legislature, for appointment to the place. Each of these aspirants had reason to believe that Benson wanted Van Dusen dismissed also, though what the reason was has never been revealed. Van Dusen, however, has incurred a great deal of enmity in Clackamas County whore Steel has his home, and in Southern Oregon, enmity in Clackamas County where Steel has his home, and in Southern Oregon, whence Benson halls.

Coupled with the enmity of these two districts was that of the Upper Columbia River, center in Wasco County. The foes of Van Dusen thought aim as good as scalped, and during the Legislature they bruited it about that after the session the big knife would be used on him.

new man appointed. But Van Dusen's friends, with chief headquarters in As-toria, where is centered the opposition to Wasco and up-river fisheries, got busy and succeeded in holding things in status quo. Then arrived Senator Fulton from Washington, and from that time on the complexion of things changed.

the van Dusen camp as a friend. And though Steel belongs to a separate political faction, he and Benson are faced with the necessity of "getting together" on the several board appointments, of the Figh Wayler is not several board appointments, of the Figh Wayler is not several board appointments. which the Fish Warden is one. The selection of James Steel was the first sign of the agreement. It has been made plain since then that that means selection of a Benson man to the next important office. Van Dusen evidently has come to be the Benson man. The bas come to be the Benson man. The next offices of importance are the chiefs of the Asylum and Reform School. A Benson man will get one of the jobs and a Steel man the other.

The division of offices runs back some time. Dr. Steiner, in the last state electrons of the security worker in the Ben-as an active worker in the Benon ranks. Then came the Legislature, wherein was created the office of Bank Examiner. It was known before that that Steiner was aspiring to the Asylum job. His appointment, however, meant that Steel should select a man for some that Steel should select a man for some other big office. The Bank Examiner job afforded that opportunity. It had to be filled at once; therefore, the Steel man was chosen first.

And now that the Asylum office is next. Steiner would appear slated for his share right soon. This will turn out Dr. J. F. Cahreath, the present Superintendent, who seemed to have the support of Steel for a time.

He swung the can and when passing close to a gas burner, an explosion followed and the fiames burst out in all portions of the room. The employes managed to escape in time to save themselves from injury, but the deliveryman was slightly burned about the hands. From the clean-ing establishment, the flames quickly ate their way to the floor above and to ad-joining rooms, comprising the Rose City apartments. The inmates had ample time to reach the street in safety and none was hurt. So curious were they, in fact, that not even the brilliant speech of Coun-cilman Vaughn on the subject of steam heating, failed to hold them in their seats and they all got up and ran to the Fourth-street windows to see the fire ap-paratus go by. Vaughn delivered himself of a scathing rebuke to his associates. of a scathing rebuke to his associates, but without effect, and when a huge engine went puffing by, he lost his dignity also and took up a position with the others, including Mayor Lane. When they learned the City Hall was in no danger, they returned to their places and danger, they returned to their places and Mr. Vaughn resumed his talk.

I tried four or five doctors but they failed and my husband has spent hundreds of dollars in trying everything we could hear of. But I grew worse and worse, my hands itched awfully and I could get no rest at all. I was just in agony all the time because when they did not itch they were so dry and crackly that I was miserable and when they cracked, they bled. Walla Walla is to have a great Harvest Festival this year, according to K. L. Bernard, who was in the city yesterday. The festival is to be under the management of the Walla Walla Commercial Club and will be held September 18 to 21, inclusive. According to Mr. Bernard, who is director of the show, it will be the biggest show of the kind ever held in that city. The business men of Walla Walla already have subscribed $1006 to make the festival a success and the railroads have fallen into line by making very low excursion rates.

Members of the Portland Commercial Club were yesterday informed by Mr. Bernard that arrangements were being made at Walla Walla to entertain a large delegation of business men from this city on "Portland day" and a dozen

I treat for real and lasting cures. Every remedy I employ has its part in bringing positive and permanent results. Under my treatment the patient who notes improvement in his condition can feel assured that real benefit and not a temporary drug effect has been obtained, and can continue with confidence that a thorough cure is being accomplished. My success as a specialist is due to the fact that I accept no incurable disease and always treat with a cure in view, never resorting to the use of remedies that bring out temporary encouragement to the patient.
