land hopmen as to when the market will open and at what price. A number of orders are on hand and it is probable that within the next day or two some business in the new crop may develop. The general opinion is that the opening transactions will be at 71/2 to 8 cents, but some dealers

The crop produced will fall short of estimates on the continent."

The plantation reports given in the Kent-ish Observer of August 22, differed but little from those of the previous issue. The growth of the crop was slow, owing to the uncertain weather and all spoke of the need of higher temperature. Fuggles were about ready to pick, but the later sorts were

The London Brewers' Journal of August

The London Brewers Journal of August 15 said:

There has not, for many years, been a season when it has been so difficult as at present to form anything like a definite idea as to what the eventual outcome will be. Men who have been engaged in hop-growing for the last 25 years and more heatlate to express an opinion as to how many hundredweights per acre are likely to be grown, because, as they argue, the existing conditions are of a nature that may mean anything; there are vermin, and there is mould, and the weather is of an unsettled type, which is not a favorable omen. It is generally admitted that since the beginning of August the bine has made very marked progress and that prospects on the whole have been greatly improved. But the fact that vermin remain in an active state and are busy among the burr and young hops is a matter of serious import, while the prevalence of mould also causes anxiety.

Adolf Heiler, of Prague, writes under the season of the serious import, while the prevalence of mould also causes anxiety.

of August 19:

Apprehensions were entertained that the intense heat might produce far-spread fire-blast in the hop plantations, and, in fact, in some places with sandy soil growers were compelied to commence picking to save their hops. But this concerns a small area only, not exceeding 5 per cent and the remainder of the yards in the Saaz as well as the other Bohemian districts are quite healthy. Now, having had the last few days heavy rains, followed by genial temperature, the hops are doing well and growing out, aga it is hoped that the freehast has been shidued altiogether. No final estimate can be given yet, but the yield will be a very good one and, so far as can be judged now, the quality and color of the Saaz and other Bohemian sorts will be firstrate. Picking will be general by the end of this week. In some places in South German hop districts freblast has also appeared and rate. Picking will be general by the end of this week. In some places in South German hop districts freelist has also appeared and fears were entertained that it might do great havor, but now it is hoped that the danger has passed away and the reports are signin cheerful, but it is doubted whether everywhere the hops will get the proper

IN SPITE OF A FAILURE

Extra Dividend Declaration by the Burlington Aids in the Bettter Feeling - Large Requirements Yet to Be Met.

NEW YORK, Sept. 5.—The bad news which has been supposed to be hanging over the stock market eyentuated today in the announcement of a failure of a Stock Exchange house, after which and the Burlington extra dividend declaration there was a buoyant recovery from the weaknes which had been in evidence yesterday and early today.

This is the first failure of a Stock Exchange firm which has occurred through all the drastic contraction of values of securities of drastic contraction of values of securities of the Spring and Summer, a record which has been a subject of surprise. The trouble which pulled the firm down was not of the imme-diate past, surmise pointing to the shrinkage to some of the Northwestern railroad group. among the earliest in the severe decline, as the origin of the embarrassment. The inci-dent called attention to the fact that an in-stallment of $3,000,000 of Great Northern subscriptions is payable tomorrow, and revived consideration of those recurrent requirements consideration of those recurrent requirements for capital already subscribed but not paid. On September 20 there is payable the final installment on the Union Pacific convertible bonds, which will call for $37,500,000. It was intimated today that there would be no extension of the syndicates which underwrote these bonds, and also only a small portion of the syndicates which underwrote these bonds, and also only a small portion these bonds, and also only a small portion of the syndicate's holdings has been marketed. On October I again, there will be due $11,400,000 for subscriptions to Northern Pacific stock. No small part of the unensiness prevalent in the stock market has been due to the knowledge of the difficulties involved in finding resources for meeting accruing cails of this kind by reason of the light maner warket.

money market.

The fact of the failure at an after-effect of events so far in the past left an unpleasant impression on sentiment. The feeling of relief over having the matter out of the way overbore other considerations and also left a short interest uncovered that had sold stocks on early information of the trouble, The spe-cial weakness of the Hill stocks in the early dealings, on account of the fallure, was sup-plemented by depression in the copper stocks. There was another break in the price of cop-per in London and feeling was not settled as to the stability of the price of copper here. On the other hand, advices from the fron trade were encouraging.

The easier tone of time money was still evident, but rates for call loans were slightly evident, but rates for call loans were slightly stiffer. The extra dividend on Burlington etock confirmed rumors many times renewed in the past of an intended meion-cutting for the Hill stockholders, but the increase in the regular dividend rate was a surprise. The announcement coming in the midst of the unfavorable influences of the Stock Exchange firm's failure on these stocks caused a violent upward reaction, and turned the whole market buoyant, in which state it remained until the close.

Bonds were firm. Total sales, par value, $972,000. United States 4s declined ½ on call.

RIGID WATCH FOR PLAGUE

Marine Surgeons Inspect Roanoke's Rats and Fleas.

mediums, 1955c.

SAN PEDRO, Cal., Sept. 5 .- The United States Government is compelling rigid States Government is compelling rigid inspection of steamships entering the spread of plague to points along the Southern Coast. Dr. W. A. Weldon, marine surgeon of this port, acting under instructions from Washington, today turned back the Roanoke as she was entering the harbor, and compelled her to come to anchor in the outside harbor. He conducted a thorough inspection of the rats in the lower hold. The Roanoke was then given a clean bill of health. Every vessel, large and small, is being rigidly inspected. Not only are the rats closely scrutinized, but the fleas on them are being looked out for.

CHICAGO, Sept. 5.—The wheat market broke wildly at the opening today, the infial quotations being all the way from it to like below the close of yesterday. Liverpool cables were lower, and it was reported that a heavy slump had taken place in the Berlin market. The result was that nearly everybody on the exchange was anxious to sell.

LOWER COMMODITY VALUES WOULD BRING RELIEF.

Present Scarcity of Money Is Due Largely to Increased Cost of Production.

Henry Clews writes of financial conditions in New York as follows:

The chief danger in the future is a crisis in the money market. It is to be hoped that this will be averted as the result of past liquidation and through prudent action by the banks. The latter should continue to lend freely to all sound, going concerns, since an undue curtailment of credit at this time might casily precipitate disaster. Of course the blow in Wall street will be felt indirectly in industrial and commercial circles; particularly in respect to new enterprises, or the enlargement of old ones. Wall street has unquestionably pretty well discounted all unfavorable conditions and rurther reactions in securities ought to bring prompt rallies. The commodity markets, however, have not yet shown any general tendency to recede from the present abnormally high level. Costs of production have been greatly enhanced by the rise in labor and commodities. This fact has more to do with the present stringency in money than is generally supposed.

While our supplies of capital have been exhausted by resent demands, it is also true that the supply of money has been rendered inadequate to a large extent by high prices in all commodities. If we are to return to more normal conditions it seems incertable that some reaction must follow here; not to the extent which has been experienced in Wall street, but still to a substantially lower level than now exists. Such a decline, if well distributed and brought about graduative would place our industries upon a more substantial footing. Enterprise is unquestionably checked by high costs of production quite as much as by monetary restraints, and a moderate recession of such values would afford substantial relief in all quariers. Henry Clews writes of financial conditions in New York as follows:
