French Consul Attacks Japanese Exclusion Order in Court.

DEFENDS CAPTAIN HEMET Husband Says Revelations Made by

Raises Interesting Point in Case of Master of Ship St. Louis, Charged With Allowing Oriental Seamen to Desert.

Out of a comparatively unimportant case fifed in the Federal Court yesterday, involving the escape of two Japanese sailors from a French ves-sel in Portland harbor, has arisen a legal question that may end no one knows where. The temporary results are that Judge Wolverton has been called upon to decide whether the recent order of the President of the United States excluding Japanese United States excluding Japanese coolles is legal or illegal. The case presents the unique spectacle of a French Consul fighting in an American court to uphold the right of subjects of Japan to enter the United States without hindrance.

Without hindrance.

The case that brought about this state of affairs is that of Maurice Alphonse Hemet, master of the French ship St. Louis, now in Portland harbor, who was recently arrested by the Federal authorities for being a party to the escape from the ship and entrance into the United States, without pass-ports, of two Japanese laborers. The master's fine was $300 in each case. Captain Hemet appealed to his Con-sul, C. Henri Labbe, of this city; and because the St. Louis is ready to sail and is being held to await the outen up forthwith in the Federal Court, with Judge Wolverton on the bench. United States Attorney Bristol represented the Federal Government and M. Labbe represented Captain Hemet.

French Consul's Contention.

M. Labbe contended that Captain Hemet was innocent of any intentional violation of the law, as he had sailed before it had gone into effect and had not heard of the President's order, being on the high seas at the time it

But entirely apart from this view of the matter, and even if Captain Hemet had been deliberate in the mat-ter, was the fact, M. Labbe maintained In court, that the President of the United States has no right to issue an order requiring passports from the Japanese, hence Captain Hemet was legally bound to obey such an or

M. Labbe held that as Japan is on most-favored nation basis with the ted States, the United States through its President, could not with-out violation of its treaty obligations, issue an order against Japanese-immigration not applying with equal force to all other nations. As the United States did not require such conditions from other nations that it could not do so from Japan alone. Hence, although Captain Hemet might have done willfully all he was accused of, he was guilty of no violation of any law heaves. law, because the President's recent or was not lawful. As the delicate questions at issue, according to M. Labbe, involve far-reaching consequences, Judge Wolver-ton yesterday withheld his decision for Three Important Questions.

Apart from the guilt or innocence of the French ship captain, M. Labbe says there are three vastly important questions. First, whether a Federal Judge can practically revoke an order of the President of the United States without the matter going be-fore the Supreme Court of the United States; second, whether there is a pos-sible violation of treaty rights with Japan; and third, what is the status of the matter of Japanese and Hindu

According to United States Attorney Bristol the plea of the French Con-sul befogged the real issue in the case Mr. Bristol held that the United States had a right to exclude the Japanese, especially in this particular case, not only under the President's order but under regulations of the immigration department. These regulations pro-vide that if a Japanese has no passport from his home government, as was the case with the two Orientals concerned, he shall be presumed to hold passports from Canada, Corea or Mexico; and Mr. Bristol contended that the President's order and other regulations and laws provide that pass-ports for Japanese laborers, such as these Japanese are admitted to be, from these three countries, will not Japanese laborers into the

TAYLOR TRIAL NEARING END

Witness Startle Him.

The trial of the long-drawn-out divorce suit of Malvina Taylor against Robert Taylor, will probably be decided today, as the testimony of the defendant's witnesses was concluded yesterday. Robert Taylor, when placed upon the stand in his own behalf, said he was startled at the revelations concerning his wife's the revelations concerning his wife's character made in court during the trial. Alice M. Burns, one of the witnesses called for the defense, said that while she was walking down the street Wednesshe was walking down the street Wednesday night, Mrs. Taylor and a woman friend sneered at her.

"Did you not," saked Henry St. Raynor, attorney for the wife, "in the presence of Mrs. Fleck, a friend of Mrs. Taylor, say: You bet, when I get on the stand I will show her?"

Mrs. Burns would not answer directly until compelled to do so by the court, until compelled to do so by the court, when she said: "No." It was this queswhen she said: "No." It was this question which gave Mrs. Burns the opportunity to induige in a lengthy dissertation upon the treatment she had received from Mrs. Taylor since the commencement of the divorce trial.

G. W. Brown, who drew up the deeds conveying Mrs. Taylor's interest in her property over to the Taylor Investment Company, testified when Mrs. Taylor signed the deed there was no indication of her being misled by her husband.

Albert Proves His Story.

Adam Albert, who attempted to show the court without documentary evidence, last Tuesday, that he paid his wife's bills to the amount of $60 out of a monthly sainty of $54, brought the receipted bills to court yesterday morning. District Attorney Manning, had investigated the case and had found no grounds for the non-support action. Judge Webster ordered Albert to pay his wife $10 a month for her personal needs, beside supporting her. Thomas Brande was ordered by the court to pay his wife $40 a month and turn over to her his life insurance policy, or go to the rockpile.

Trouble Over a Dock

MONTESANO, Wash., Sept 26.—(Special.)—Some time ago the County Commissioners decided to close the Oyebut dock to public use, and A. O. Damon asked the Board to turn it over to him, which they did, but no bill of sale or lease for the dock was made out. Damon now says the dock is his private property and is enforcing toll on all who use the wharf. The inhabitants of North Beach object, and it is now up to the Commissioners again to make some definite arrangement concerning it. STRIKE OF ROADMAKERS

Five Men at Seaside Get the Habit, Want Shorter Hours, More Pay.

SEASIDE, Or., Sept. 26.—(Special.)— Five men working on the road near Push decided last week to strike for higher wages and shorter hours. The scale of wages against which they struck prescribes a nine-hour day at $2. The men demanded an eight-hour day with $2.25, and, there being no one present to grant their request, they all lay down their, tools and marched soberly home. The amusing feature in connection with the walkout lies in the fact that the road they were improving is that part of the county road over which nobody but the strikers will have to do hauling during the Winter months, and six or eight days would have finished the job. So far as learned, no picket lines have been established, and pres-ent indications lead to the impression that it will be the most peaceful, harmonlous and successful walkout ever witnessed in Oregon.

COUNCIL SOLVES THE WATER TOWER PROBLEM.

Money Set Aside for North Third-Street Engine-House Will Be Temporarily Diverted.

The purchase of a water tower and a site for a new engine-house in the vicinity of the North Portland hos-pitals will probably be authorized by the Council at its adjourned meeting this afternoon. A plan was agreed on yesterday by Chairman Fleischner, of the fife committee of the Executive Board, and Chairman Rushlight of the ways and means committee of the Council, whereby money will be avail-able for both purposes.

The plan suggested is that the appropriation that has been made for the erection of an engine-house at Third and Glisan streets be recalled to the general fund, then voted out for the water tower and engine-house site. It is not probable that the spec-ifications for the Glisan-street engine-house will be completed in time to allow the erection of the building be-fore the end of the year. Another appropriation for this building can therefore be provided in the estimates for next year.

In the meantime the water tower and site near the hospitals, which are urgent matters, can be provided for.

Rushlight, who had signed a minority report against the purchase of a water tower, believes that the new plan is the best solution of the difficulty. There is $20,400 in the fund for the North Portland engine-house and this will cover the cost of both the water tower and new site. With additional money that will be availadditional money that will be available it may also be possible to purchase a site for another engine-house in the vicinity of Fourteenth and Mill streets. A Council resolution for the selection of such a size was received by the fire committee of the Execu-tive Board yesterday and referred to Assistant Fire Chief-Laudenklos.

A special meeting of the ways and means committee will be called by Rushlight today before the Council convenes. He will then submit the plan that has been outlined and it is probable that both the majority and minority reports on the water tower will be withdrawn. In their place the committee will recommend that the appropriation for the North Portland engine-house be used for the water tower and an engine-house site near the hospitals.

ADJOURNED MEETING TODAY

Council Will Dispose of Much Ac-

An adjourned meeting of the Council will be held this afternoon at 1 o'clock for the purpose of taking up business that it was impossible to dispose of at the regular session Wednesday afternoon. A decision against this company for operating a slaughter-house within the city limits has been appealed to the Supreme Court and the ordinance will protect his plant pending a decision by that body.

In addition to this and much routine business the Council will consider the ap-plication of the People's Market Association for a new franchise to the market block in South Portland. It is believed

"I claim to know a great deal about a few ailments, rather than a little of all human ills."

THE WORK OF A SPECIALIST IS THE DOING OF A FEW THINGS BEST.

There is not a physician living who can claim to be proficient in the treatment of all human allments and diseases. To attain the highest possible degree of proficiency in all departments of medical science would require half a dozen lifetimes of study and as many more of practical experience. The regular practitioner is proficient in a large number of the commonest and most easily conquered diseases. The specialist must first become proficient for general practice, and must then go on to proficiency in a few of those conditions and diseases more difficult to understand and more difficult to cure.

We cure safely and promptly WEAK-NESS, LOST MANHOOD, SPER-MATORRHOEA, SPECIFIC BLOOD POISON IN ALL STAGES, VARI-DISEASES COMMON TO MEN. Personal attention given all patients.

WE CURE WEAKNESS This is to men who lack courage, whose nerves are shaky, whose eyes have lost the sparkle, whose brains are muddled, ideas confused, sleep restless, confidence gone, spirits low and easily depressed, who are backward, hesitating, unable to venture because they are afraid of failure, who want somebody to decide for them, who are weak, run down and restless. It is to men who have part or all of these symptoms and want new life, new energy. We especially solicit those cases in which many so-called treatments have failed, or where the money has been wasted on other methods of treatment. Don't experiment when our direct method offers a certain means of cure by local treatment.

Varicocele causes congestion of the blood in some of the most vital blood vessels of man. It causes a dull, heavy, listless feeling, which is often mistaken for nervous debility or general decline. Varicocele results from partial paralysis of the delicate nerve fibers that control local circulation of the blood. The muscular conting of the veins is deprived of nervous control and become inactive, weakens and relaxes. The blood vessels expand from the pressure within. The circulation becomes sluggish and clots form in little nooks and pockets that constantly enlarge as the relaxation continues.

We have cured thousands of complicated cases where others have falled. Our offices are well appointed and equipped with the most modern appliances and the latest inventions essential for the proper and up-to-date treatment and cure of special diseases.

You may consult us privately in confidence, You will be examined in a thoroughly scientific manner and our diagnosis and advice will be cheerfully given to you absolutely free of charge. After this if you desire to be treated we will cure you and make you well and strong as you ought to be.
