ALLIANCE TABERNACLE COMPLETED.

The tabernacle and convention hall of the Christian and Missionary Alliance, on the southwest corner of 10th and Clay streets, has been completed excepting the outside painting and will be dedicated with a series of services next Sunday. These meetings will be at 10:30 A. M., 2:30 and 7:30 P. M., and will be in charge of C. D. Sawtell, superintendent of the district comprising Oregon and Washington. The building is a one-story frame structure, with auditorium and Sunday school room separated by sliding doors. It was built within five weeks, some of the members assisting in the work from the foundation up. Superintendent Sawtell is pastor of the church, as well as of the work in Spokane, Seattle and other points in Oregon and Washington. The Portland Alliance has been meeting at Sixth and Main streets, but hereafter will meet in its new home. It purchased the lot 5x100 for $700 and erected the building for about $1500, outside of work donated. The convention for the district of Oregon and Washington will convene in the tabernacle in November, when delegates will be present from the various fields. Prominent leaders of the alliance will come from New York.

Eiderman.

WILL DISCUSS SEWERAGE.—One of the principal topics that will be considered at the meeting of the Board of Trade tonight will be the question of sewerage for that part of the city. The Brooklyn sewer system does not include territory south from Midway and it is proposed to build a sewer system for the whole of Sellwood, now that the population has reached a point in numbers which makes that a serious matter. The first meeting of the Sellwood Board of Trade has held for several months, and all citizens interested in that portion of the city have been invited to attend.

ANTI-BELL RUS SOCIETY TO MEET.—Notice has been given by the committee appointed by the Initiative One Hundred to suggest a new name for Bull Run as applied to the source of the city water supply, to meet at the Board of Trade rooms, on Monday, at 4:30 P. M. The members of the committee are: J. B. Lauer, Thomas G. Greene, E. W. Barnes, Dr. Emmet Drake and O. W. Taylor. DEATH OF FORMER PORTLANDER.—Miss Kate Cahill, well-known old-time Portlanders as a leading mediator, died at the home of her brother, Andrew Cahill, Thurles, Ireland, September 5. News of her death comes in a personal letter to H. L. Pitcock, manager of The Oregonian. Miss Cahill for several years was second in command at H. B. Litt's, and afterward set up an establishment on her own account in which she succeeded. She made many friends here who will learn of her death with regret.

TEMPLE BETH ISRAEL.—"Socialism and Crime" will be the subject of Rabbi Joseph B. Wise's sermon at Temple Beth Israel tonight. The services commence at 8 o'clock this evening and at 10:30 o'clock on Saturday morning. The young people's class will meet for organization and discussion of the year's work on Saturday morning at 10 o'clock. The religious school holds its session at 9:30 o'clock Sunday morning. Richards, living at 465 Rodney avenue, Alton. His death occurred at Quincy, Cal., September 26, and the body was brought to Portland. He was 24 years old and was born in this city, where he lived until two years ago. His death was sudden.

I., on a charge of grand larceny committed in this city, to warrant his extradition. Therefore, no officer will be sent to bring him back here.

ARTS AND CRAFTS MEETINGS TODAY.—The interest taken in the formation of an Arts and Crafts Society here insures an organization that should rank high among the handicraft-workers of the country.

At the preliminary meeting last week, Judge C. H. Carey, who presided, appointed a committee of 15 prominent people to take the necessary action looking to the birth, christening and maintenance of the society. This committee appointed two sub-bodies, one composed of I. N. Fleischer, Mrs. W. B. Ayer and A. E. Doyle, to prepare a constitution and suggest officers, and one on publicity, composed of Mrs. Lee Hoffman and I. N. Fleischer. The committee of 15 meets this afternoon at 4 o'clock, at the Museum of Art, where reports from the sub-committees will be heard and acted on. On Wednesday afternoon, at 4 o'clock, a meeting of all the people interested in the Arts and Crafts Society will be held at the Museum, when a committee will be adopted, and officers will be elected. All who attended the gathering last week, and everybody interested in arts and crafts work, are asked to be present on Wednesday.

FLOORED WITH SLOGANS.—At the meeting of the East Side Business Men's Club last night Secretary C. A. Biglow reported that 500 answers had been received to the call for slogans in the contest for the $50 prize. Part of these were opened when it was seen that the task was too much for one night. It was then decided to refer the slogans to a special committee, from which the most creditable will be selected. The club will decide at some future meeting which wins the $50 prize. Some of the slogans read as follows: "All roads lead to East Portland"; "The first the last, the best—East Portland"; "Watch East Portland Grow." The special committee will take the 500 answers and make careful examination of the several years. The best rendered number of the score last night was "Tale of the Seashell," by Vera Stanley and Edward Mora. Miss Stanley has an unmistakably good voice, by far superior in quality to any of the other members of the feminine contingent. Her acting is a bit amateurish and her appearance of youthfulness leads one to the conclusion that this is her first season out. If so there will be much more for her anon. Octavia Broske is the Edith this year and quite a fetching "Vassar girl" she is to be sure. Her voice is remarkably clear and her range is remarkably good, but there is a certain coldness, a certain clank of steel in her voice which makes it difficult for an audience to throw up its several hats when she sings a song.

FIRE HORSE RUNS AWAY.—Dexter, the big horse that pulls Fire Chief Campbell's buggy to and from fires ran away yesterday afternoon. Dexter had been left hitched in front of the City Hall and in endeavoring to crop the grass growing in the parking strip broke his halter rope. Then finding himself free Dexter dashed down Fourth street toward fire headquarters. But frightened as he was he steered from one side of the street to the other to avoid collision with passing vehicles, and had it not been for the chain stretched across the door of engine-house No. 1 he would have taken the buggy safely into its accustomed place.

PROBATIONER CHURCHMAN DEAD.—Rev. Danford L. Ruder, manager of the Pacific Christian Advocate, yesterday received a dispatch from Philadelphia, announcing the death in that city, of Rev. Charles M. King, secretary of the National Board of Christian Missions and Church Extension. Dr. King was 74 years of age and was born in New York City. He was educated at Wesleyan University, Middletown, Conn., and served for several years as pastor of several Methodist Churches in New York City. He visited Portland two years ago, attending the various conferences in session at that time, and was to have presided at the Home Mission and Church Extension convention to be held in Portland, November 14.

RECEPTION TO MINISTERS.—A reception in honor of Rev. E. H. Bryant, retiring pastor of the Episcopal Methodist Episcopal Church and Rev. C. T. McPherson, his successor and their families will be given tonight at the Oregon building, Fair Grounds. A good programme of music, refreshments and refreshments will be served. Rev. Mr. Bryant will hold the regular services at Laurelwood, Sunday morning and evening, October 6, 1907. The services are being held in a tent on the church grounds until the new church, which is in course of construction can be completed. Work is progressing rapidly and the building soon will be ready for dedication.

NOW HAVE 8566 SIGNERS.—Local workers for Woman Suffrage in Oregon expect to have 12,000 signers to their petitions before the next general election. They well worthy of patronage. It will remain at the Hellig the rest of the week, with a Saturday matinee.

INDICTMENTS ARE QUASHED.—Charges Against Members of Furniture Trust Dismissed.

On motion of Assistant United States District Attorney James Cole yesterday morning, the indictments against nearly 40 alleged members of the furniture trust were dismissed. As a basis for the motion for dismissal Mr. Cole said that the prime movers in the organization of the furniture combination had been found guilty and fined, and that the pending indictments were against the smaller fry who had practically nothing to do with the formation of the trust, and many of them had been forced into joining the organization by the larger dealers. To add to the troubles of the trust the Gilman Auction Company has instituted a suit for damages against the members thereof for alleged interference with the complainants' business.

WORKMEN ALL IN JAIL.—HOQUIAM, Wash., Oct. 2.—The arrest of the entire crew of Chinamen of the Hoquiam Packing Company has caused a good deal of indignation, as it has resulted in the suspension of carrying fish during the busiest part of the season. It is claimed that but one man was

BY ARTHUR A. GREENE.

AS SPRIGHTLY 6-year-old is this melodious comedy, with music which Gus Luders and Frank Pitkey wrote in their old Studebaker Theater days. "The Prince of Plesen" was at the Hellig last night on its third or fourth return trip and was practically just as enjoyable as when first Portland made the acquaintance of Hans Wagner, of "Zinzendorf" and the greatest song for a male chorus that we have had in a generation—"Heldelberg." There was also the sweet little "Message of the Violets" and a dozen others which every girl who owns a piano has been playing and singing in a thin little parlor voice for the several years.

The best rendered number of the score last night was "Tale of the Seashell," by Vera Stanley and Edward Mora. Miss Stanley has an unmistakably good voice, by far superior in quality to any of the other members of the feminine contingent. Her acting is a bit amateurish and her appearance of youthfulness leads one to the conclusion that this is her first season out. If so there will be much more for her anon. Octavia Broske is the Edith this year and quite a fetching "Vassar girl" she is to be sure. Her voice is remarkably clear and her range is remarkably good, but there is a certain coldness, a certain clank of steel in her voice which makes it difficult for an audience to throw up its several hats when she sings a song.

The spurious Prince Hans Wagner, Alderman and boss brewer of the Ohio metropolis, is played this year by Dan Mason, who has a home here, made when he used to come out with Mason & Mason. Later he went into vaudeville and now he is right back in his true element again. Mason is one of the genuinely funny musical comedians who range up and down this broad land of ours. Last night he kept his audience going all the time. I have watched several men play the part, but do not recall that any of them aroused more enthusiasm.

Another rattling good actor in the present cast is Hayden Clifford, who does the English lordling. He is so good that he should go into the "legitimate."

The "Song of the Cities" as usual, made a big hit, although it really was never much of a song, and was lugged in by the scruff of the neck to satisfy the demand for a "show girl" exhibit. This year the damsels who represent the various towns are particularly good looking and each in her turn was extended a cordial reception. The Portland girl naturally getting the best of it.

Melvin Stokes, who was here a few months ago with the San Francisco company, sings the role of the Lieutenant. He doesn't do it as well as he might. Reby Dale, a dashing brunette of ample charms, is this season's Mrs. Crocker, the fascinating widow, and makes a great deal of the part. The new chorus is a feature of the performance and the singing of "Heldelberg" was far better than on the occasion of the last production of the company who works hard and to considerable purpose is Lillian Lawson, who appears as Sidonie, the French maid.

As a whole the principal roles are in good hands, the chorus is "all to the good," the costumes and scenery as fine as could be asked, and the whole show well worthy of patronage. It will remain at the Hellig the rest of the week, with a Saturday matinee.
