

COOKING IN PORTLAND MARKET

BY LILLIAN TINGLE.

POUTRY is a shade higher in price this week. Turkeys cost 20 cents a pound; geese 20 to 25 cents; chickens 20 to 25 cents. Ducks are rather scarce and cost 25 cents. There were some wild geese costing from 65 cents to $1 each; fine jack rabbits good cooked on a casserole at 75 cents each, and guinea fowl, also 75 cents each. Well-fed guinea fowl is almost as good as pheasant, but since it is sometimes inclined to be dry when roasted, the "hardy" or protective covering of fat pork or bacon should never be forgotten and sometimes it is worth while to "lard" the breast and legs with strips of the same material, so that it will not become too dry. I have not met very many guinea fowls since a long ago country visit, when I spent many exciting hours "stalking" a perverse bird who insisted on taking away from me its meat a whole silver sixpence to me if I discovered the nest; and sixpence in those days seemed to have larger purchasing power than it has now. A friend who has an intimate acquaintance with the bird tells me of a way of stuffing it with Malaga grapes cooked in Madeira. She says that after once trying this combination, turkey and cranberry sauce seem quite flat and flavorless; so perhaps it might be wiser to refrain; one would hate to think less of such old friends.

Epicures may rejoice in the presence of turtle in the markets. They do not interest me much; but then a wise man has said "No woman ever succeeded in dressing a turtle or writing an epic." After all it is perhaps just as important for a woman to succeed in dressing herself anyway, most women seem to think so and the presence of the turtles has not appreciably affected the "bargain Friday" sales. The turtles cost 31 each or $10 a dozen.

Razor clams, black bass, crabs and wharf were all very scarce yesterday and I saw no smelt in any place I visited. Frogs are again to be had at 80 cents a dozen. There was very fine Chinook salmon at 35 cents a pound, and steel head salmon at 15 cents. Striped bass cost 25 to 30 cents; croppies and catfish 20 cents; black cod, sole, halibut and shrimps were all about 15 cents, while perch and large fresh herring both cost 10 cents a pound.

Those who prefer time to lemon to serve with certain meats or in certain drinks can get them now at 20 cents a dozen. They make rather a fascinating pickle, too, and a good chutney. Oranges cost from 20 to 30 cents a dozen; apples from 15 to 25 cents a box. There are very good figs in the market just now—both California and small grape-fruit cost 40 cents a pound and pineapples 40 to 55 cents. Huckleberries are 12 1/2 cents a pound and cranberries, 15 to 20 cents a bushel. Small grape-fruit cost 40 cents a dozen; large ones $1 and $1.25 a dozen.

Green peas and beans are rather scarce and cost 10 to 15 cents a bushel. There are new California carrots in at 10 cents a bunch. Fine hot-house cucumbers are to be had at 25 cents each, there is a quantity of small fancy celery at 5 and 10 cents. Artichokes are about 15 cents each. Other fresh vegetables now to be had include cauliflower, spinach, savoy cabbage, kale, chichory, green peppers (40 cents a pound), squash, Hubbard, cream and Spanish lettuce, leeks, green onions, watercress and radishes.

proposed to rush the building operations to an early finish, and that it is expected to have it ready for tenants in about 90 days.

The early completion of the Commercial Club building and the new Board of Trade building in the same vicinity is regarded by real estate firms as important in the way of stiffening values in that part of the city.

SALVATION ARMY RALLY

Arrangements are being made for the successful four days' special revival campaign in connection with the different Salvation Army corps in Portland, January 11-14, inclusive.

The services are to be as follows: Saturday evening and Sunday morning, at No. 1 corps, Third and Davis streets, also united soldiers' rally Monday night; Sunday afternoon and night, at No. 4 corps, Madison and Third; also on Tuesday night at the same hall, grand "War Memorials" demonstration.

The conference of officers, two sessions, will be held on Tuesday, January 14, in the vestry of Taylor-Street Methodist Episcopal Church.

OPPOSE SUNDAY THEATERS

LABOR FEDERATION TAKES DECIDED STAND AT TACOMA.

Resolution Protesting Against Sunday Closing Overwhelmingly Defeated—Others Are Acted On.

TACOMA, Wash., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—By an overwhelming vote following three hours of heated discussion, the State Federation of Labor went on record today as opposed to the Sunday theater resolution. The resolution was introduced by J. C. Dalby, of Seattle, who submitted a resolution protesting against the Sunday closing of theaters and urging that the law of the state be amended. Following the reading of the resolution, 29 delegates clamored for recognition, and after many speeches for and against, a rising vote was taken which showed that only 32 of the delegates favored the resolution, while over 200 were opposed.

Considerable discussion was had over a resolution introduced by the Cooke and Walters' Union of Spokane, demanding a state law for the inspection of all kitchens in public eating-houses and sanitary methods on the part of the owners. The resolution was adopted by unanimous vote.

Other resolutions adopted favored making the office of Labor Commissioner elective and stipulating that one of the Commissioners be a woman; indorsing a National child-labor law; demanding tariff reform; demanding that Congress sell the state constitution terminating government by injunction; demanding that all public works be advertised before contract is let; indorsing woman suffrage and prohibiting the employment of aliens on state, county and municipal work.

The committee to interview the Exposition directors did not return. Seattle and no action will be taken on the boycott resolution until tomorrow.

Thomas Levy, of Spokane, is prominently mentioned for the position of secretary-treasurer, as are the names of Charles Perry Taylor, of Tacoma, and John E. Campbell, of Everett. It is generally conceded that Carter will be re-elected president of the Federation. Resolutions condemning the present banking system of the United States, indorsing the parcels post and postal savings bank were presented, but referred back to the resolutions committee for amendments, and will probably be adopted tomorrow.

Discussing a letter which he had received from Samuel Gompers concerning the approaching election of a United States Senator to succeed Ankeny, Oregonian C. O. Young said: "Wesley L. Jones has repeatedly contradicted himself to be an enemy of organized labor. As Gompers said in his letter, Jones has voted against labor and for its oppression every time he had had the opportunity. Senator Ankeny's record is clean and I would advise every laboring man to use his influence in securing the re-election of Ankeny. Jones has shown himself to be against us, and we are going to fight for men who will be for us."

CITIZENS COME TO RESCUE

People of Brownsville Give Cash to Repair Power Dam.

ALBANY, Or., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—To replace the dam in the Calapooia River the destruction of which in the recent flood has placed Brownsville in darkness, left it without a city water supply and closed practically all its industries, citizens of Brownsville in a mass meeting last evening subscribed more than $2000 in cash. The meeting was held only on a few hours' notice and the voluntary subscription is regarded as a remarkable exhibition of civic loyalty, considering the state of Brownsville and the ease with which the money was secured. It will take $3000 to replace the part of the dam which was destroyed and the additional money is being secured by subscription today.

The dam was owned by the companies operating the light and water plant, the Brownsville Woolen Mills and the Brownsville Flour Mills, but the damage, coming as it did after the dam had been washed out the year before, was so heavy that these companies were unable to replace it for some time, so the citizens came to the rescue.

OWNERS AND OFFICERS AT OUTF

Puget Sound Steamboat Owners Will Not Recognize Association.

SEATTLE, Jan. 10.—As a result of the refusal of the Puget Sound Steamboat Owners' Association to continue the present scale of wages for engineers, masters, mates and pilots, from today on the owners are at odds with both the Masters, Mates and Pilots' Association and the Marine Engineers' Beneficial Association.

At present only one or two tug boats, which their owners state were tied up for lack of business, have ceased operations. A temporary agreement to pay the present scale to employees and all other engineers and navigators can be found or until the present trouble

TRI-STATE Y. M. C. A. MEETING

Conference Convened for Three-Day Session in Walla Walla.

WALLA WALLA, Wash., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—The annual Y. M. C. A. rally and conference for the states of Washington, Oregon and Idaho met in this city today in the new Y. M. C. A. building, for a three-day session.

There are about 75 delegates present from different parts of the three states. Among them are: L. B. Rhodes, state secretary for Oregon and Idaho; J. W. Wilcox, state secretary for Washington; F. D. Hopkins, managing secretary for the Spokane City Association.

President E. E. L. Penrose, of Whitman College, addressed the gathering this evening on "Things Fundamental in the Christian Life."

The conference will close Sunday afternoon.

Boosting Bryson for Prosecutor.

CORVALLIS, Or., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—His friends announce that E. R. Bryson, of this city, will be a candidate before the primaries for District Attorney. They urge that he will be a very available candidate by reason of his administration as Deputy District Attorney in the enforcement of the local option law. He conducted the prosecution, won out in the justice, Circuit and Supreme Courts in the warfare that broke up a so-called club that attempted to do business here as an illegal part of the local option law, securing recently from the Supreme Court a decision that makes it impossible for such clubs to be conducted in dry territory in this state.

Ashland's Marshal Acquitted.

ASHLAND, Or., Jan. 10.—(Special.)—The trial jury in the Circuit Court, at Jacksonville, this morning, brought in a verdict of acquittal in the case of the State vs. C. A. Simons, charged with manslaughter in killing by accident a man named Albert Engval, at Ashland, in November. Simons was chief of police of Ashland and engaged in rounding up hoboes at the hobo camp at the time of the killing.

POLICE ARE HANDICAPPED

Reporting System Is Worthless, but New One Is Promised.

Quiet inquiry is being made by Thomas G. Greene, chairman of the police committee of the executive board, as to the status of the Home Telephone Company's franchise with regard to that provision which requires the installation of a complete reporting system for the police department.

An official statement from the Home Telephone Company is to the effect that the corporation is preparing to "more than fulfill its contracts with the city" by installing a strictly modern reporting system for the police department. Officials of the company have been in consultation with the Mayor and Chief Campbell, of the fire department, with a view to placing the required number of telephones in service and, as soon as a list of stations is furnished, the work will be begun, the company reports.

The present reporting system of the police department is unanimously declared to be worthless. It is always out of order, and an electrician spends much of his time trying to keep it in repair. It is strongly condemned by Chief Gritzmacher, who says there are frequently times when it is absolutely valueless, and when no reports whatever can be received over it from the policemen on the beat.

According to officials of the Home Telephone Company, that corporation has done its utmost to install the required reporting system promptly, but it has been met with many obstacles, such as labor troubles and delays in receiving shipments of materials, rendering it an impossibility to live up to the strict letter of the franchise. The company promises, however, to give the police department a modern reporting system.

HOTEL PLAN ABANDONED

Board of Trade Building to Be Office Structure.

After figuring on the additional cost of turning the new Board of Trade building into a hotel, the owners, Gay Lombard and Joseph M. Healy, have decided to carry out the original plans and complete the structure as a modern office building. To alter the building, now nearing completion, would involve an expenditure of over $50,000, which would place the cost of the building at such a figure that would make it lease for hotel purposes somewhat problematical.

Mr. Lombard said last night that it is
