Notifies British Columbia She Can't Make Use of Educational Test.

Federal Lawyers Instructed to Secure Admittance of Immigrants Held on Board Ships at Victoria—Trouble Threatened.

VANCOUVER, B. C., Feb. 13.—(Special.)—The fight between the Dominion and Provincial governments on the question of Japanese exclusion reached a crisis today when the federal government announced that it would immediately disallow the statute just passed by the Legislature of British Columbia. This act provides an educational test for all immigrants. It must remain in force ten days before cancellation. In the meantime the federal government lawyers in Vancouver have been instructed to secure the admittance of all Japanese held up by the provincial enactment to the extent of applying for habeas corpus proceedings in the courts. The Ottawa government has also advised the Mikado that the rights of Japanese coming to British Columbia will be fully protected. All this may precipitate another riot in Vancouver. If the provincial government will keep out the Japanese by reason of federal interference, working men will undoubtedly parade the wharves and forcibly prevent Orientals from landing.

JAPANESE IN HOT DEBATE

Opposition Howls at Speaker and Makes Him Apologize.

TOKIO, Feb. 13.—After an exciting debate lasting six hours, which developed into a riot on the floor of the House of Representatives, the financial budget was passed by a majority of 102. Speakers on both sides occupied a long time, and towards the last they indulged in the usual and charged savagery. The opposition members demanding an apology. The chair suspended the session for half an hour, and upon resuming the chair apologized handsomely to the opposition. Impassioned speeches were made during the debate all making a point of the feature that more than one-half of the budget was expended in armaments. It was also argued that the fiscal measures of the government did not contain provisions to prevent an outflow of gold, while the balance of trade had a tendency against Japan, fear being expressed that the basis of the gold reserve might be endangered. Upon the side of the ministry, the principal speakers eloquently argued that it was both unwise and dangerous to publicly discuss the Nation's finance from a pessimistic standpoint, thereby creating an unnecessary alarm abroad. He called attention to the natural resources of Japan, which were only awaiting development by cheap capital.

evening, which was attended by the president of the organization, who came from Seattle to settle the trouble. It was decided that the local organization had committed an error in striking and the location was unanimous that the members return to work. The trouble arose over the refusal of the company to discharge Zach Stephens, a sawyer, who has been in the employ of the company for a number of years and who has repeatedly refused to join the union. The union employees have decided that they will work with Stephens.

PUYALLUP MAN IN DISGRACE

Charged With Crime Against Girl Who Lived With His Family.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 13.—(Special.)—J. M. Rising, of Puyallup, a well-to-do merchant who is accused of a statutory offense against Hilda Schiller, a 19-year-old girl who had been living in his family, will not be tried on a charge of criminal assault until the Legislature meets to commit the crime. For lack of testimony, Judge Snell, before whom the trial began today in the Superior Court, held the charge of criminal assault was not binding on Rising, after a motion to take the case from the jury had been made.

Tacoma Shipping Notes.

TACOMA, Feb. 13.—After loading 1900 tons of wheat and a heavy shipment of lumber the French steamer Amiral Fourichon proceeded to Seattle tonight for additional cargo.

With 60,000 feet of lumber from the Tacoma Mill, the schooner Bangor was towed out by the tug J. M. Coleman this afternoon.

The Norwegian steamer Transit, under time charter to carry railroad ties from Tacoma to Guaymas, Mexico, is back in port for her third successive voyage.

Find Suitable Rifle Grounds.

ASTORIA, Or., Feb. 13.—(Special.)—The special committee from the Chamber of Commerce went to Fort Stevens yesterday afternoon to confer with Colonel White relative to the selection of suitable grounds for a rifle range for the use of the men on Admiral Byans' fleet. A site was selected that appears to be suitable in every way, just south of the old fort and of easy access either from the Quartermaster's wharf or the Engineers' dock at the jetty. Colonel White will prepare data concerning the grounds, giving measurements, etc., which will be submitted to the Navy Department.

Injured by Dynamite Cap.

KELSO, Wash., Feb. 13.—(Special.)—John Jabush, the 14-year-old son of C. F. Jabush, of this place, sustained a painful accident this afternoon while playing with a dynamite cap, the explosion of which threw three fingers and the thumb from off his right hand. The splintering of the shell caused abrasions on the face around the eye, but without injuring the lad's sight. The thumb, index and middle fingers were amputated and the hand dressed by physicians who were immediately summoned.

Eggs Plentiful, Drop in Price.

TACOMA, Wash., Feb. 13.—(Special.)—The egg market is not in satisfactory condition. The receipts are constantly increasing and the demand is such that the jobbers are having difficulty in moving their stocks. In order to stimulate trade the price of strictly fresh ranch eggs was dropped today from 25 to 24 cents a dozen. The market weak at 24 cents and unless things brighten up the dealers state that probably another drop will take place tomorrow.

J. H. SHERAR DEAD

HE WAS FAMILIAR FIGURE

Freighted Gold From Interior Oregon in Early Days and Built Roads That Will Make His Name Long Remembered.

THE DALLES, Or., Feb. 13.—(Special.)—Joseph H. Sherar, who died in this city on Tuesday, February 11, was one of the stalwart figures of the pioneer days of Eastern Oregon. No one was better known to all classes of the traveling public and few among the thousands that came and went from under his roof did not remember well the towering figure and strong personality of Mr. Sherar. In this day of railroads and easy transit comparatively few realize that from their earliest settlement every team and traveler going to and from Eastern and was taken, in by Mr. Sherar on the back of a mule. His courage and foresight enabled him not only to protect the treasure entrusted to his care, but helped him to successfully evade the then frequent Indian raids. This good fortune, however, did not follow his successor, Henry Heppner, to whom he sold his outfit, as on his second trip he lost the entire train by the Indians near the John Day River. After selling his pack train Mr. Sherar bought a farm where the town of Dufur now stands and engaged in stock raising. Later he moved to Tygh, where he took up a pre-emption claim and remained in the stock business until 1871, when he purchased the Deschutes bridge from a settler named O'Brien and took up a homestead upon which he built his home and stage station. In 1863 he was married to Miss Jane A. Herbert, whose parents had immigrated from Illinois, and lived on Fifteen-Mile Creek.

From the time Mr. Sherar purchased his Deschutes home his every effort was bent upon improving and enlarging his holdings. Gradually he gained possession of valuable tracts of land in Sherman and Wasco Counties, a new and substantial bridge was built across the gorge of the Deschutes, and for 30 miles each way from the river he built such roads as trained engineers might justly be proud of. He was a master road-builder and the grades leading in and out of the Deschutes canyon, built without surveying instruments of any kind, are a monument to his remarkable talent. For years by his own manual labor he continued to better these grades until the construction of the Columbia River Railroad diverted the inland traffic.

Flouring and lumbering mills were among his possessions, the former built by the falls of White River, which now furnish the electric power of The Dalles. His herds and flocks were large and on one occasion he shipped an entire trainload of wool, mostly of his own raising, to the Philadelphia wool market. Mr. Sherar was a public-spirited man and took a keen interest in politics, but would never accept office, his one experience in that line being when he was appointed by Governor Moody as a road expert to inspect the state's road in Uno County.

Mr. Sherar had been in ill health for some years, and since the death of his wife last Summer had failed rapidly. He was born November 15, 1828, in Philadelphia, Pa., and was reared in that city. He was the adopted daughter, Mrs. C. M. Grimes, of Dell, Malheur County, and a nephew, J. E. Sherar, of Colorado. His remains were buried here on Thursday, those of his wife in the Oddfellows' Cemetery.

DRINK CAUSES TRAGIC DEATH

Intoxicated Man Fatally Burned by Explosion of Kerosene.

BELLINGHAM, Feb. 13.—Joseph Paulus, a butcher at Deming, went home last evening badly intoxicated. He started a rousing fire in the stove with kerosene, leaving the tin can standing near the stove, and fell asleep in his chair. The tin of oil exploded, throwing the burning fluid over the sleeping man. He was rescued by neighbors, but was fearfully burned. Paulus was brought to a hospital here last night, but died this morning.

YOUNG GOSSON FACES TRIAL

JURY OF FARMERS TO DECIDE FATE OF WASCO LAD.

Accused of Killing Ernest Bonomi While Asleep in His Dooryard on the Night of August 5.

THE DALLES, Or., Feb. 13.—(Special.)—The trial of Edward Gosson for the murder of Ernest Bonomi began here today. Prosecuting Attorney Menzie and his deputy, F. W. Wilson, appearing for the state, and W. H. Wilson for the defense. Most of the day was occupied in the selection of a jury, which was completed this afternoon after little difficulty. A majority of the jurors chosen are farmers.

The opening statements of counsel to the jury were finished before the adjournment of court tonight. The crime for which Gosson is on trial was committed August 6 last, when Ernest Bonomi, a market gardener, was shot and killed as he lay asleep in bed in his dooryard. Gosson at that time was employed in Umatilla County and is known to have been at Bonomi's farm on the morning of the murder.

Why it is Good. Our water comes from wells 1400 feet deep. Our barley is selected by a partner in our business—selected from the best that is grown. Most of our hops are Bohemian. Our yeast is produced forever from the same mother cell. 'Tis a yeast that no one can duplicate. That is why Schlitz beer is good. But we spend more on purity—more time, more skill, more money—than on any other cost of our brewing. That is why Schlitz beer is good for you. Ask for the Brewery Bottling. Common beer is sometimes substituted for Schlitz. To avoid being imposed upon, see that the cork or crown is branded. Sherwood & Sherwood, 8 Front Street, Portland.
