ADMIRAL EVANS IS TAKEN ASHORE

Fleet Commander Landed at San Diego by Battleship Connecticut.

JOURNEY

Leaves at Once for Paco Robles Springs, Where He Will Undergo Treatment for Rheumatism. Hopes for Speedy Recovery.

SAN DIEGO, Cal. April 1.—With her after-fighting tops blackened by the dense coal smoke of fast steaming, and with a twin-starred flag of blue floating from her main truck, the 18,000-ton battleship Connecticut, which pointed the way of the Atlantic fleet from Hampton Roads through the Straits of Magellan and on to Magdalena Bay, arrived off Coronado Seach today, bringing Rear-Admiral Robley D. Evans, Commander-in-Chief, for a course of treatment at the hot mineral springs of California, in the hope that he may sufficiently recover his health to be able to participate in some of the hospitable welcomes which have health to be able to participate in some of the hospitable welcomes which have been arranged for the battleships at the various ports they are to visit.

Admiral Evans was transferred to a private car which had been held here two days to await his coming and left on the afternoon train for San Luls Obispo. He will receive treatment at the Paso Robles Springs, and in an interview given out here he expressed the hope that he would benefit sufficiently to be able to rejoin the fleet "for a frolk on shore" soon after its arrival in American waters. Suffering Leaves Traces.

Admiral Evans plainly showed the effects of his intense suffering from rheumatism and admitted that at times the pains have been almost unbearable. He declined to leave the fleet until the surgeon practically ordered him to go, declaring that his rhoumatism would not yield to treatment at sea.

Admiral Evans stood the trip to San Diego without apparent discomfort, sitting in the emergency cabin rigged upon the after bridge of the Connecticut during most of the voyage, which occupied apparent of the voyage, which occupied the voyage occupied the voyage of the voyage of the voyage occupied t cost of the voyage, which occupied ap-croximately 48 hours. The officers who accompanied him declared that the Admiral's health had materially improved during his stay at Magdalena Bay.

Gives Out Interview.

Speaking of his lilness and plans Admiral Evans said to the Associated Press;
"On the advice of my physicians I am going to Pass Robles Springs for treatment. I am told that my rhoumatic pains, which have become at times almost unendurable, cannot be conquered as long as I remain in sea air and aboard ship, where the necessary diet and treatment cannot be secured. It will be a keen disappointment to me if I am unable to be present at the various functions that have been planned, and unable to great the kind friends on the Pacific Coast who have made such elaborate plans for my comfing, but I must yield to the advice of my physicians, which is now so positive. By doing so at once, I may be able to rejoin my fleet in the festivities that have been so graciously planned. able to rejoin my fleet in the festivities that have been so graciously planned. If I gain the anticipated benefit from the inland air and the waters of the springs, I shall, as soon as the physicians consent, rejoin the officers and men of the fleet in a frolic ashore, but from now on I shall obey the doctors orders, come what will."

Accompanying Admiral Evans to Paso Robies were his son, Lieutenant Frank Taylor Evans, attached to the battleship Louislana: Lieutenant C. R. Train, flag lieutenant, and Passed Assistant Surgeon P. E. McDonnold, Dr. McDonnold has had personal charge of the flagship, under command of Captain Hugo Osterhaus, returned to Magdalena Bay tonight Admiral Evans officially still is in command of the fleet, not having been detached by Departmental order. During his absence, Rear-Admiral Thomas, commanding the second squadron, is the senior officer with the fleet, and will act as commander-in-chief in all matters immediately affecting the ships. He also til bring the fleet to San Diego, where

Evans Still in Command.

The early arrival of the Connecticut this morning was a distinct surprise, as the wireless reports indicated that she would not reach San Diego until late in the day. It was just after sunrise, however, when the white hull and the three buff funnels of the flagship were sighted around Point of Rocks, the promontory which just out into the sea and marks the boundary line between the Field States and Market between the United States and Mexico. Three-quarters of an bour later the Connecticut had let go her ancher in shelter of Point Loma and just off the Hotel Del Coronado.

Blue Flag Hauled Down.

The tender Yankton, which accom-anied the flect from the Atlantic and wrived here yesterday, put out of the arbor to meet the flagship and trans-er Admira) Evans to the shore. The Admiral was late in arriving and it was not until well toward noon that he was carried over the side of the Connecticut ir an easy chair and placed in a launch, which put off to the Yankton, lying close by.

As the little steamer left the after-angway of the haitleship the flag of blue, denoting the presence of the commander-in-chief on board, came fluttering down to the deak. A few Citizens Cheer Admiral.

The private car "Sacramento" had been run out on the Santa Pe wharf and the Yankton ran alongside immediately. A crowd of several hundred persons had gathered nearby and as they caught sight of Admiral Evans they caught sight of Admiral Evans they gave a tasty cheer, which he acknowledged by lifting his hat. The Admiral was attired in citizens' clothes for his trip. Strong armed sallors from the Yankton bore the Admiral, still seated in his casy chair, to the car. He remained on the observation platform for a few minutes and them retired. The transfer was made with the greatest ease and comfort.

Admiral Evans had looked forward to the journey ashore with some trepidation, but he was elated when it was giver with and declared that he was Praise From Roosevelt.

Admiral Evans found waiting him here a lengthy letter and recommendation from President Rosevelt. In the warmest of terms the President re-viewed the achievements of the fleet on its journey from Hampton Roads to Magdalena Bay and was most lib-eral in the share of praise and credit bestowed upon Admiral Evans. The latter immediately sent a telegraphic message of thanks to the President.

Captain Ingersoll Relieved.

Captain Royal R. Ingersoll, who, as chief of staff to Admiral Evans, shared in the work and responsibility of bringing the fleet to the Pacific in such good shape, also came up from Magdalena Bay on the Connecteut and left this afternoon with Admiral Evans on his way to the East. It was not intended that Captain Ingersoll abould be relieved until the fleet reached San Francisco, but the serious liness of his son caused the Captain to apply for release at this time, and to apply for release at this time, and his request was granted by the depart-

It has been decided that the Yank ton will not return to Magdalena Bay, but probably will await the coming of the fleet at this port. The auxiliary cruiser Buffalo is expected in on Friday with mail from the fleet and will return to Magdalena Bay on Saturday.

UNMOVED BY GUN'S MISHAP

Splendid Discipline on Missouri

When Explosion Occurs.

MAGDALENA BAY, Lower California, March 26 (by United States flagship Connecticut to San Diego, Cal., April 1).—The first occurrence approaching a serious accident since the present target practice of the Atlantic fleet began took place on the battleship Missouri at 2:39 o'clock this afternom. The at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon. The muzzle of a 6-inch gun on the starboard side was blown completely off with the first discharge and pieces of it hurled with terrific force over the ship, but fortunately no one was struck and no other damage was done. About 13 feet of the muzzle of the big gun was blown away. The noise of the exposion was deafening, but there was no excitement on board the ship, not also a struck and the ship and the same of the gun which even among the crew of the gun which had exploded.

An instant after it had occurred the gun captain saluted his superior, the division officer.

"Sir, the muzzle of the gun is blown off," he said quietly as he brought his right hand to salute. There was no trace of excitement in his tone. "Slience," shouted Midshipman Howard. It was the simple, usual word of call to the gun umpires to note that an interruption had occurred. "Cease firing."

Every man of the crew remained sliently at his post, but the ship proceeded steadily across the range at the regulation speed without firing another shot. When she have to on the return trip an examination was made.

It was found that the trunnion and breech of the gun were uninjured. Apdivision officer.

preech of the gun were uninjured. Ap-proximately 12 feet of the muzzle of the proximately 12 feet of the muzzle of the long black barrel, weighing a ton, was missing, but the remaining ten feet was unwrecked. The end had been broken off in Irregular, jagged pieces. One heavy section had been hurled upon the bridge and glanced against the mast. A second had sailed over the smokestacks and a third and larger piece had been thrown straight across the quarter deck. If any of the heavy pieces of steel had struck of the heavy pieces of steel had struck anything above the superstructure the consequences would have been serious. The gun which exploded was of the ordinary 5-inch, 50 caliber sort, mounted on the Missouri and sister ships. The piece had been fired in several previous target practices and the accident today is as yet unexplained. "C. B. Bradshaw, first assistant target practice inspector, was standing by the breech of the gun when the explosion oc-curred. He is unable to account for the accident. It was his first thought that left in the muzzle, but this was found not to have been the case the templon or protecting plug had been

Vice-President of Electric Boat Company Testifies.

GRAFT CHARGES

Asserts That Corporation Never Paid Money to or Issued Stock to Nava Officers or Members of Congress.

WASHINGTON, April 1.—Franklin A. Taylor, vice-president of the Randolph-Clows Company, of Waterbury, Com., today teatified before the special House committee, investigating the charges against the Electric Boat Company, that he had heard Representative George Lilley, author of the charges, make the statement in the Waterbury Club last Saturday that it was quite likely he would get an adverse decision from the committee, and in that event he would tell all he knew about the whole matter of submarine boats on the floor of the House.

House.

He said he had told Representative Lilley to vote for submarine boats as there was a possibility of his company, which is in the brass and copper trade, getting some business if the boats were ordered.

"What was Mr. Lilley's reply?"
"He would not commit himself one way or the other."

Mr. Taylor said he had stated to an Associated Press representative in Waterhury that he thought he had influenced Mr. Lilley to vote for submarine boats. The witness said he did not consider that he had done anything improper in asking Mr. Lilley to vote for submarines.

Mr. Taylor said that he had been requested by John P. Kellogg, one of the attorneys for the Electric Boat Company, in January, 1908, "to get busy with Mr. Lilley and again tell him about the possibilities of submarines."

Elihu B. Frost, vice-president of the Electric Boat Company, followed Mr. Electric Boat Company, followed Mr. Taylor. He said he had the general management of the business. He de-nied that he had made contributions in behalf of his company to any campaign fund, nor had any money been paid to influence the Navy Department, Paid for No Publicity.

Referring to the time President Roosevelt made a submerged trip in one of the submarine boats, Mr. Frost denied that the company had any paid newspaper men at the trial, and said he did not know at the trial, and said he did not know who was responsible for the publications concerning that event. The boat was commanded by Lieutenant Nelson. U. S. N., and Mr. Froat testified that the company had purchased from Lieutenant Nelson an invention which is used on the boat. The company paid him $1500 for it. This was the only sum paid any naval officer by him or his company. Mr. Frost said no member of Congress or naval official owned any stock in the company. any stock in the company.

Kahn Makes Statement.

Representative Kahn, of California whose name was mentioned by Mr. Frost as the member of the House aaval affairs committee with whom At-torney McNeir had had an interview. made a statement at the conclusion of Mr. Frost's testimony. He said that at Mr. McNeir's suggestion, he introduced a biil providing for a number of submarines for the Pacific Coast. He said Mr. McNeir had not mentioned the name of the company be was connected with and he (calm) did not know what company it was.

EXPECT CHANGE OF VENUE

BELIEVED ROSS' REQUEST WILL BE GRANTED.

Majority of Circuit Judges Reported as Favoring Motion Made by In-

It is understood that a majority of the four judges of the Multnomah County State Circuit Court will grant the change of venue that has been asked in the case of the state against J. Thorburn Ross, who is charged with improperly using state funds while president of the wrecked Title Guarantee & Trust Company's bank. The judges would not discuss the case judges would not discuss the case yesterday or give any intimation of what their ruling will be, but it is reported that the decision will not be unanimous, the impression being that one of the judges will file a dissenting opinion. It is not known to which judicial district the case will be transferred for trial.

While the pending motion was made.

While the pending motion was made only in the case against Ross, the de only in the case against Ross, the de-cision will apply to the cases against John E. Altchison and T. T. Burk-hart, such an understanding having been reached between District Attor-ncy Manning and counsel for the in-dicted bank officials. In asking for a change of venue, Wallace McCam-ant, attorney for Ross, maintained that it would be impossible for his client to bave a fair and impartial trial in to have a fair and impartial trial in this county, where the general public was strongly prejudiced against the District Attorney Manning and fore Judge Cleiand yesterday for the purpose of disposing of the bill of exceptions that had been presented on the ruling of the presiding Judge in disposing of various motions and demurrers that had been considered in the case.

Instead of marrying his wife for the purpose of robbing his stepson and stepdaughter, as the plainstepson and stepdaughter, as the plaintiff alleged, and trying to induce Colonel Bexter to renounce the rights upon her fortune of $800,000, held in trust. M. Labori declared it was McKee who arranged the trust in order to prevent the dissipation of the fortune. He described the wife as constantly quarreling with members of her family and driving away everybody. He argued that the testimony given by the servants of Mrs. McKee against her hus band was not worthy of credence, and concluded his argument with the state. nent that Mr. McKee made no charges against his wife's honor.
