Senate Committee Favors the Abolition of C. O. D. Business on Liquor.

PROHIBITION STATES

Congress Can't Enlarge the Police Powers of States, but Can Restrict Interstate Commerce in the Exhilarating Beverages.

amittee on judiciary spent some ended to relieve prohibition states from Federal interference in dealing with liquor traffic within the borders of such states, but no agreement was reached. It was determined, however, to vote on the measures on Monday.

From the discussion today there appeared to be a chance for the reporting of some measure dealing with a part of the questions, at least that have been avisated in a number of Southern agitated in a number of Southern States, which have been prevented by Supreme Court rulings from exercising their police powers for the control of

Abolish C. O. D. Business.

There is a substantial agreement among members of the committee that all bills that attempt to define what are the police powers of a state will be laid aside as unconstitutional. Sena-laid aside as unconstitutional. Senator Knox declared that the police powers of a state are something the Federal Government has no subtority to add to or take from.

If he believed a majority of the committee, however, will support a measure which will require that packages containing liquors to be shipped from one state or territory to another must have marks to indicate the contents, which will abolish the "collect on delivery" feature connected with inferestate commerce and will provide that the consignee must be definite.

Remove Chief Grievance.

Remove Chief Grievance,

The purpose is to put an end to "col-lect on delivery" shipments of liquors to fletitious parties and the delivery of liquors by railroads or express comof liquors by railroads or express com-panies to any person who will pay the charges. This system has been one of the causes of much complaint by the states and it was asserted before the committee that it has permitted the transportation companies to act as the agents of liquor dealers or to make the companies actual dealers them-selves in intoxicants.

INTERESTING POINT IS RAISED

Suit to Force Express Companies to Accept Beer Shipments.

WASHINGTON, April L.—Refusal of express companies to accept shipments of beer and other liquors destined to points in prohibition states has resulted in a complaint to the Interstate Commerce Commission. The Triple Frewing Company of Kansas City has instituted a complaint against the Adams, American, Pacific, United States and Wells Fargo Express Com-panies, alleging that they refuse to accept shipments of beer at Kansas City to points in Kansas, Iowa and Oklahoma.

"he complaint says that it has been sending for 30 years consignments of mall liquors into these stated marked "C. O. It" Now, the complainant alleges, the express companies refuse to carry all so-called "intexicating liquors" with the understanding that the purchase price is to be paid on delivery. The complainant maintains that this action of the companies is in

Stout Women Wear W. B. Reduso Corsets

to Secure the Correct Form

If there is any inclination toward undue stoutness the W. B. Reduso corset is the one to wear. The Reduso corset makes the clothes fit properly-giving the long tapering effect to the hips which fashion has decreed for the new gown. The requirements of fashion are much more of a problem to a woman inclined to embonpoint than to her sister of slender physique, but the Reduso corset puts her on the same level.

The Reduso is a hygienic corset, holding the abdomen in and keeping the chest up, so that the function of breathing is exercised naturally.

The surprising result of wearing Reduso corsets is that all excess of flesh on the abdomen rapidly

The waist line lessens several inches through wearing this corset. It works with nature, not against it; consequently is perfectly comfortable and a help to good health as well as a boon to the modiste. Another good point is that these corsets are made of strong materials and give good service.

What is demanded now is that that postal hap be extended so that your commerce and your passengers will not be compelled to go to the markets on this continent by the way of Europe, and by twice crossing the Atlantic Ocean. that this was a party question.

After a few words on the National ablished, he said a good word for the numigrants, thus:

in bilished, he said a good word for the immigrants, thus:

It is rather the vegue now to speak against the immigrant and immigration, forgetting what we are and what we owe to the 25,000,000 workers that have come to its in the past 100 years to develop the great possibilities of this country and make us the great Nation that we are. All honor to the descendants of the Puritan and Pilgrim fathers but in honoring them let us not withhold our high appreciation and meed of palse for the humigrants who have come to us in the succeeding decades, to them and to their children, who in peace and in war have proved no less true and neble Americans than those who preceded them in time, but did not surpass them in the love of our common country. Yes, we welcome the immigrant to our country, the self-respecting and honest-minded allen, no matter from what country he comes, who is willing to share with us not only the blessings but also the duties and responsibilities of our great country; but they as well as all of our people, must understand that in this land of liberty, equality and justice there is no room for socialism, communicant collectivism or any other form of "ism" than Americanism, which rests upon the Ten Commandments, the Declaration of Independence and the Constitution of the United States.

Representative George Lilley, of Con-necticut, author of the resolution under which the special committee of the House is investigating the charges against the Electric Boat Company, placed in evi-dence an affidavit dated March 12 and signed by Samuel Fernson, residing in Bridgeport, Conn., who swore that during the Fall and Winter of 1902 he had served in the Navy in the capacity of chief electhe Fall and Winter of 1992 he had served in the Navy in the capacity of chief electrician and that during that time he served upon several submarine torpedo boats owned by either the Holland Torpedo Boat Company or its successor, the Electric Boat Company, and none of which were owned by the United States Government, and that many of the crew of these submarine torredo boats were Government, and that many of the crew of these submarine torpede boats were sallors in the United States Navy, re-ceiving pay from the United States Gov-ernment and in addition thereto received wages from the Heiland company. This statement was offered in substan-tiation of Mr. Lilley's charges that the Electric Boat Company had paid money to enlisted men.

Mr. Lilley also presented an affidavit from John C. Lake, vice-president of the Lake Torpedo Boat Company, dated Bridgeport, Conn., March 16, to the effect that about two years ago he had an interview with Charles Perry, a representative of the Bridgeport Brass Company, in which Ferry told him that President Bowles, of the Fore River Shipbuilding and Engine Company, had asked him (Ferry) to use all influence possible upon a Connecticut Congressman to inhim (Ferry) to use all influence possible upon a Connecticut Congressman to Induce him not to use his influence in favor of the Lake Company and to use it in favor of the Electric Boat Company. If he was successful in this, the Fore River Company would make contracts with the Bridgeport Brass Company for goods to the value of about $190,000.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

Is Peculiar to Itself

IN MERIT AND IN CURES, WHY?

The ingredients actually used in successful medicines are, in general, well-known.

But the exact proportions, and methods of combining them, are important secrets discovered only by the wisdom of experienced physicians and the fine discriminating skill of educated pharmacists. Physicians Generally Know, for instance, what the ingredients are which give Hood's Sarsaparilla the peculiar merit by which it effects so many remarkable cures, and they prescribe similar remedies in practice, but they do not know the exact combination nor the proportions which make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar to itself. In Scrofulous. Cases and for other diseases of the blood, the physician's prescription is likely to call for one or more of the very articles used to give Hood's Sarsaparilla its curative power. To Restore Lost Appetite and as strength-builders, he will prescribe some of the tonic remedies combined in this medicine. But, the Proprietors of Hood's Sarsaparilla claim, and they think very properly, that this medicine, originating in the prescription of an eminent physician, and being tested and perfected during its long use by physicians and druggists, embodies a peculiar combination of vegetable remedies, which, together with the peculiar process by which it is prepared, gives it far greater merit than can possibly be found in the occasional prescription. That It Does Possess this peculiar merit is shown by its extraordinary cures, 40,366 testimonials in two years-while no other prescription or formula has achieved anything like similar success.

Under the Pure Food and Drugs Law, no change was necessary Hood's Sarsaparilla to conform to the law or to public sentiment. It is perfectly safe, pure, genuine and reliable.

Another point which appeals to many in these troublous times, when every penny of expense must carefully be watched, is the fact that dose for dose it is the most economical medicine—the only one of which can truly be said "100 Doses One Dollar."

In the usual liquid form or in the new form of chocolate coated tablets called Sa by draggists, or mailed on receipt of price by C. I. HOOD CO., Lowell, Mass.
