

SEATTLE TO GET MONEY FOR FAIR

Conference Agrees on Appropriation of $650,000 for Exhibits.

CUTS DOWN THE EXPENSES

Uninteresting Exhibits Omitted and Amount for Government Board Reduced—Washington Delegation Is Highly Elated.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 22.—The conference committee on the sundry bill will today agree to give $650,000 to the Seattle exposition. Fifty thousand dollars will be cut out from the expenses of the Government board, which is reduced to three members, and uninteresting features of the Government exhibit are eliminated. There was no cut in the appropriation for buildings or the Alaska, Philippine or Hawaii exhibits. The conference report will be agreed to tomorrow. The committee is highly satisfactory to the Washington delegation.

WERLICH WILL GO TO SEA

Commander of Local Lighthouse District Awaits Orders. OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 22.—It is understood here that Commander P. J. Werlich, U. S. N., now on duty at Portland as master of the (Thirtieth) Lighthouse district, will shortly be transferred from that post. Commander Werlich is on the list for sea duty.

Commander Werlich was seen at the Portland Hotel last night. In answer to a query regarding the foregoing dispatch he said: "I have expected such an order for some weeks, but have not been notified of any orders beyond those contained in a private message. If orders have been issued I will probably go on sea duty, as I am long overdue for that part of the service. Of naval officers on shore duty there are only two in advance of me, and I presume that I will be sent off shore."

HAWLEY TO SPEAK IN EAST

Speech in House Makes Strong Impression on Sherman.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 22.—Representative Sherman, chairman of the Republican Congressional campaign committee, today extended to Congressman Hawley an urgent invitation to come East in September and October and campaign in Indiana, New Jersey and the New England states. Mr. Sherman said it would be necessary to make a hard fight in those states, and he was very anxious that Mr. Hawley should take the stump there, for he was impressed by his recent speech in the House and believed he would be an effective campaigner.

DIG CHANNEL TO MARSHFIELD

Army Engineers Propose 20 Feet in Coos Bay.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 22.—It is the purpose of the Army engineers, if Congress acts on the report sent in yesterday, to dredge a channel of 20 feet in the entrance of Coos Bay to Marshfield, but there is already a depth of 30 feet on the bar at the entrance of the bay and the report recommends that the engineers should on a special dredge for the purpose of great-ly deepening the channel across the bar. It was incorrectly stated yesterday that a depth of only 20 feet was recommended. The engineers do not fix the maximum depth which can be dredged across the bar, but propose sufficient depth to permit vessels drawing 20 feet to pass in all kinds of weather in entire safety.

WILL PUSH LAND-GRANT SUITS

Townsend Coming to Portland to Complete Preparations.

OREGONIAN NEWS BUREAU, Washington, May 22.—R. D. Townsend, in charge of the Oregon & California land grant suit, will leave Washington early next week for Portland, stopping on the way at his home in North Dakota. Upon arrival at Portland he will confer with Tracy C. Becker and put the finishing touches on the bill and as soon as all the details are agreed upon, the bill will be filed in court. The Attorney-General wishes this suit pressed to an early hearing.

DO NOTHING MORE TO LILLEY

House Satisfied With Calling His Charges False.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—No action looking toward the expulsion of Representative George L. Lilley, of Connecticut, in the House is contemplated. This statement was authoritatively made to the Associated Press today. When the special committee appointed by Speaker Cannon to investigate the charges brought by Mr. Lilley against the Electric Boat Company submitted its report to the House last Tuesday, and more so after the report had been read on the floor next day, there was much speculation as to the probable outcome. The severity with which Mr. Lilley was handled in the committee's sessions gave rise to a report that these reports would be the basis of a resolution of expulsion.

Meat Bill Loses Its Place

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Beveridge today called up in the Senate his resolution requiring meat-packers to place the date of canning upon packages of meat and meat products. Fulton, of Oregon, interposed with a motion to take up the omnibus claims bill, and it was carried. The bill to place the date of canning on meat packages was displaced and can be again considered only by unanimous consent or on motion.

Fisheries Treaty in Last Stage.

WASHINGTON, May 22.—Secretary Root and Ambassador Bryce late this afternoon engaged in the formal comparison of the British and American copies of the Newfoundland fisheries treaty with a view to the exchange of ratifications.

CALLS BROTHER A LIAR

be heard, or if it could, no one paid any attention to it.

"You lied," said Bishop Burt. "I did not," was the reply of Bishop Scott.

Calls Bishop Scott Liar.

"You lied about me, you know you did."

"I tell you I did not lie about you; that is not so," again answered the colored Bishop.

"You did lie about me," reiterated Bishop Burt, "and if you do not correct it I am going to report you to this conference and have the matter straightened out."

Bishop Scott did not make any reply to this statement, because at that moment the two Bishops were approached by one of the delegates of the conference and two or three more persons, who desired to shake hands with them. After greeting those who had joined them, Bishop Burt and Bishop Scott went their separate ways.

Matter Not Yet Ended.

The matter has not yet been brought before the general conference, but will doubtless be considered by this body, just as a general superintendent should supervise the work of a missionary bishop does not clearly appear. Taking their man by man, the general superintendents do not seem to be more intelligent, more devoted or in any way more capable than the missionary bishops. Indeed, the most thoroughly devoted and extensively capable man among all the Bishops, and the man who has the greatest vision and the largest outlook, seems to be the Rev. Bishop J. M. Thoburn, whose residence is Portland, Or., and who, a few days ago, asked to be put on the retired list.

The result of this very unpleasant incident and very disgraceful episode will probably be the order on the part of the general conference for the visits of the general superintendents to mission fields to cease. Bishop Burt is esteemed by his brethren who have met him in church work to be a very domineering and dictatorial man, he is called by many of his brethren "the Johnny Bull" of the college of Bishops. He is an Englishman, with all of the self-assured qualities of that people. It is doubtful if he will have very extensive sympathy in his controversy with Bishop Scott. The latter has been known throughout his ministry as a careful, unobtrusive, capable, devoted servant to the cause. He has never shown any disposition to quarrel or to contend for his own. At the present, the indications are that the sympathy of the general conference is in favor of Bishop Scott.

Leak in Committee.

The committee on Episcopacy is supposed to be absolutely close-mouthed as to its proceedings, and nothing is supposed to be known outside the doors where the sessions are held, but the secret is out and the fact that Bishop Neely is on the carpet, charged with serious offenses in his work, South America, is now public property. The Bishop confessed before the committee that he had appointed a man presiding elder of a district and at the same time editor of a paper whom he knew to be a drinking man. The fact that such a man has recognition at all in the church is exceedingly offensive to many brethren. In addition to this, the further fact that he should be such a prominent position assigned him by a bishop who was aware of his habits creates a situation which is exceedingly distressing and greatly humiliating to the members of the general conference.

What will come of this does not just yet appear. Some members of the committee say Bishop Neely's high standing in the church with the preachers and official members, his disregard for the sentiment of the church in the matter of drinking intoxicating liquors, and his attitude toward the members of the church, may be the end of this unpleasant situation. It is rather singular that the bishop who presided at the conference so much concerned at present are both Englishmen, Bishop Neely as well as Bishop Burt having been born in the British Isles.

Differ on Discipline.

In the committee on the state of the church heated controversy is going on over the proposition to take out of the discipline the paragraph forbidding Methodists to attend theaters, so to discuss, and the controversy became so heated yesterday that Lev. C. J. Howes, of the Southwest Kansas conference, in his effort to defend the place which paragraph 25 now has in the discipline, and to retain it there, said the reason why the bishops were in favor of taking it out was probably the fact that they had had whispered in their ears this suggestion by some wealthy, worldly Methodist, who had taken them riding in Central Park, New York, in a $5000 automobile.

When this assertion was made, it was met with hisses, whereupon Dr. Howe retorted: "Hisss! snakes can hiss; you're snakes." Rev. R. A. Chase, of Pueblo, Colo., in replying to this statement, said that these self-styled holy men were guilty of Phariseism in charging others with being worldly and unworthy, while they themselves were willing to charge their brethren with motives which were unknown to them.

Bedlam in Conference.

In the conference yesterday a great commotion raged throughout the entire session. Bishop Bushford was presiding. He has not had extensive experience as a master of great assemblies, as his field throughout his entire Episcopal career has been in China, where there are no very great gatherings. A committee brought in a report on a memorial which had been presented, asking that the words "district superintendent" take the place of "presiding elder" wherever it occurred in the discipline. The report of the committee was that this memorial should not be adopted. In opposition to the report of the committee, Dr. Chase, of Colorado, spoke eloquently and effectively in favor of the term "district superintendent," but failed to make a motion that the words should be substituted for "presiding elder."

His contention was indorsed by Dr. J. M. Buckley and Dr. Robert Foesbe, but because of the indefiniteness of the question before the house, there was a resignation of confusion. It is doubtful if over a more complete bedlam prevailed in any deliberative body than was witnessed for something like a half hour. The entire matter was left where it was in the beginning. It is more than probable, however, from the apparent strength of the sentiment, that the question will be brought up again, and that in the future the designation of "presiding elder" will be changed to "district superintendent."

Church and organized itself into an independent body between the years 1828 and 1830. The main contention between the leaders of this organization and that of the Methodist Episcopal Church was the rights of laymen to have a voice and a vote in the management and legislation of the church. So bitter did the contention become that some of the ablest men in the church, and some of the most devoted, too, found themselves in such disfavor among their brethren that they could not feel at home in the Methodist Episcopal Church, hence the independent organization, strange to say, as the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church has gradually, and by degrees, come around to the position of the seceding body, the only difference now remaining being that which relates to the position of bishops in the older church.

But the disposition is going on so steadily to curtail the domineering influence of the bishops and to have the exercise of their authority safeguarded that it is apparent that a union of the two great organizations can be easily adjusted. Because of this situation a commission has been appointed by the General Conference to proceed to Pittsburg, where the General Conference of the Protestant Methodist Church is now in session, with overtures looking toward union.

Not a Dissenting Voice. This action was taken this morning with the greatest unanimity and by a rising vote, there being not a single dissenting voice. It will be remembered that there are now propositions for union being considered between the Protestant Methodist, United Brethren and Congregational Churches. It would be a singular thing, and one not dreamed of hitherto, but which now seems possible, if these four churches should through this movement come into one organization.

GOODELL SAYS MUD IS SLUNG. Divorce Spring Against Can. date. Worse Than Political Convention.

BALTIMORE, May 22.—The results of two ballots for bishops, today at the general conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church were unsuccessful. Dr. Goodell, in a statement to the Associated Press, attributed his loss of strength to the fact that it was reported that he was divorced. Dr. Goodell's statement follows: "I am assured by those men who have led this movement against me that there is no reflection in it upon my moral character. The only thing charged against me is that I am a divorced man. That is true, but the divorce was granted on the statutory ground recognized by the Bible and I understood that at the time of my second marriage my wife was dead."

Dr. Goodell dropped from fifth to tenth place. Dr. Goodell who is regarded as one of the finest platform orators in the church and is noted for his pastoral evangelism, said he secured the divorce at Providence in 1886, while in charge of a church there. He asked for and obtained a church trial, the result of which, he said, was a vindication of his course in the matter.

Goodell, New York, 388; David G. Downey, New York, 337; Joseph B. Hengreley, Minneapolis, 211; H. C. Stuntz, Madison, N. J., 280; Henry C. Jennings, Cincinnati, 250; Richard J. Cooke, New York, 240; M. C. B. Mason, Cincinnati, 208; Robert McIntyre, Los Angeles, 206. The sixth ballot resulted as follows: Total effective vote, 759; necessary to a choice, 506. Lewis, 459; Quayle, 433; Smith, 429; Hughes, 403; Stuntz, 361; Downey, 327; Hengreley, 295; McIntyre, 283; Jennings, 235; Goodell, 235; Cooke, 225; Mason, who withdrew just previous to this ballot, 130.

The seventh ballot resulted in no election. The vote follows: Total number of effective ballots, 757; necessary to a choice, 512. Lewis, 459; Quayle, 450; Stuntz, 427; Smith, 419; Hughes, 403; Downey, 245; McIntyre, 310; Hengreley, 277; Jennings, 199; Goodell, 191; Cooke, 184.

Dr. Mason, the negro candidate, in withdrawing, told the delegates that when he was put forward it was with the distinct understanding that if elected his work was to be confined to his own race. He believed that a black man could better understand the problems of the colored people. He said the colored members, appreciating the situation in which the Germans had found themselves, supported the German candidate, and he was glad that they had been successful. The colored members did not charge that he was not given a square deal. He was sorry his own brethren had not found a candidate equally acceptable to this body.

Better Than Medicine. Pills and pepsin are for those who don't know how to eat. A man is all right when his stomach is all right. Stomach comfort and satisfaction come from "food sense." Shredded Wheat contains more muscle-making material than beefsteak and is more easily digested. Better than medicine—cheaper than doctors. For breakfast heat the Biscuit in oven, pour milk over it (hot milk in winter) and a little cream. If you like the Biscuit for breakfast you will like toasted TRISCUIT (the Shredded Wheat wafer) for luncheon or any meal with butter, cheese or marmalade. At your grocers.

Constipation is Caused by Cathartics. Any harsh physic—any physic that grips—irritates the bowels. That is how salts and cathartics get their effect. They act as pepper acts in the nostrils—causing the juices to flow. But the bowel lining—like the skin—grows calloused under constant irritation. The bowels then cease to supply their own laxative. You need physic all the time. As the bowels grow harder you need larger doses. That is chronic constipation. That is how constipation is caused—by the efforts of Nature to resist a harsh physic. The way to cure it is to use a natural laxative—dainty and gentle. That's Cascarets. Cascarets are candy tablets. They are sold by all druggists, but never in bulk. Be sure to get the genuine, with C.C.C. on every tablet. The box is marked like this: THEY WORK WHILE YOU SLEEP. The vest-pocket box is 10 cents. READ IT. "I picked up a copy of THE LAST EGYPTIAN in Chicago and read it on the train coming East. It is a new book, just out, and one of the best yarns I have read in many a year. It rings true, and that is the best thing which can be said about any book. It gets right down to business at the start, and every chapter bristles with exciting situations, intrigue, character study, love complications, fighting, treasure-hunting and all the other elements which go to make a readable story; but they are all brand new. Several of my friends read it, including Mrs. L. They all like it. The only fellow who didn't like it was the porter on the train. He couldn't get me to turn in. The Last Egyptian will be the 1908 big hit, or I'm mistaken. The author's name is withheld for some reason, but whoever he is he knows his Egypt." A well-known Chicago business man sends us the foregoing extract from a letter which he received from a friend in New York. The man who wrote the letter is widely known throughout the United States.
