WOMAN MAY LIVE

Mrs. Halloway, Shot by Husband, Fights for Life.

SUSTAINS SEVEN WOUNDS

Physicians Say, If She Escapes Blood Poison, the Chances for Her Recovery Are Excellent. Condition Is Serious.

Her body pierced with seven bullet holes, into which particles of powder and clothing were driven by leaden missiles from a revolver in the hands of her jealous husband, Mrs. C. C. Halloway, who was shot and perhaps fatally wounded Saturday night, is at St. Vincent's Hospital, battling valiantly for her life.

Three bullets penetrated her body in various places, inflicting seven wounds. It is through fear of infection from the particles of clothing and fragments of powder that were driven into her wounds that the surgeons refuse to offer hope of her recovery. The wounds themselves would not cause death, were it not for danger of blood poisoning.

The most serious wound the woman sustained was in her left shoulder, the bullet passing downward and penetrating her lung. Another ball struck her right arm near the shoulder, passed through the arm and penetrated the body.

Still another bullet struck her in the left side, struck a rib and was deflected, emerging from her right side. However, none of these wounds may result fatally, according to Drs. E. Miller and Charles Billington, who are attending her, provided infection does not follow.

"There were many fragments of clothing and powder driven into her body with the bullets," said Dr. Miller yesterday, "which may cause infection. Should that follow her chances of recovery will be slight indeed.

"The bullet wounds of themselves may not prove fatal, though at the present time we are not prepared to say even that positively. But her greatest danger lies in the possibility of infection.

"She is making a brave fight, and has expressed earnest and frequent hopes of recovery. Of course we do not permit her to talk of the affair in which she was wounded, nor do we permit anyone to talk to her about it."

Apparently regretting that his efforts to end the life of his wife Saturday night were unsuccessful as yet, Halloway is confined in the City Jail. He talks freely and, though his wife is hovering between life and death, continues to tell of her alleged acts of infidelity. To all who will listen he tells stories of her alleged wantonness.

Notwithstanding the man's desperate effort to kill his wife, his capture while attempting to escape after the deed had been done, and his confession, the charge of assault with a dangerous weapon is the most serious that has been entered against him at police headquarters. The charge, according to the officers, may be changed at any moment, and will most certainly be altered to one more serious in case of his wife's death.

Halloway will be given a preliminary hearing in Municipal Court this morning. The razor with which he is said to have attempted suicide by cutting his wrist two weeks ago, was presented to him by his brother-in-law, Dawson, whose home was invaded by Halloway when he attempted to kill his wife.

HOLDS SPECIAL SERVICES

DR. W. B. RILEY TALKS TO MEN AT WHITE TEMPLE.

Evangelist Will Conduct Series of Meetings Throughout the Present Week.

Taking the life of Saul as an example of modern wickedness and its results, Rev. W. B. Riley, D. D., delivered a stirring address to a large crowd of men at the White Temple yesterday afternoon. An after service was held in the Sunday school room, at which there was a number of conversions. Following this, 100 of the men had lunch together in the White Temple dining-room, and some remained for the night service. The lunch had been prepared by the women of the church.

A chorus of between 50 and 100 voices, under the leadership of Malcolm C. Martin, Dr. Riley's assistant in his evangelistic meetings, led in the singing. Without announcing the opening song Mr. Martin stopped upon the platform and began singing, "The Old Time Religion," in which he was immediately joined by the chorus, and later by the piano and orchestra. Other songs followed when the members of the chorus had found their places on the platform. Dr. J. Whitcomb Brounger followed the singing with an announcement of the meetings to be held during the week. These will include a morning service at 8 o'clock in the White Temple, the night service at 7:45, and the noonday services on Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday at 12:15 in the Baker Theater. The morning service will not be held tonight or Saturday night, but will occur the other mornings of the week.

Special services for women only will be held Tuesday and Friday afternoons at 3 o'clock. Dr. Riley will speak Tuesday afternoon on "A Wife and Mother; a Model in Both," and on Friday afternoon on "An Ideal Sister and Daughter."

The subjects to be taken up at the noon meetings will be: Tuesday, "The Assininity of Atheism;" Wednesday, "The Theory of Evolution Untenable;" Thursday, "The Scientific Accuracy of the Scriptures;" Friday, "The Religion of the Times to Come."

On Tuesday morning at the White Temple the subject will be "Speaking in Unknown Tongues;" Wednesday morning, "Divine Healing Versus Christian Science;" Thursday, "The Second Coming of Christ;" Friday, "The Sort of Bodies for Risen Saints."

The subjects to be taken up at the night services will be: Monday night, "The Preacher and the Politician;" Tuesday, "The Shamless Scoundrel in the Church;" Wednesday, "The Man Who is Afraid to Make a Start;" Thursday, "The Solution of Your Every Difficulty;" Friday, "The Safe Escape of Right Souls."

Special services for women only will be held Tuesday and Friday afternoons

terday afternoon as the sins of the age. Pointing to Saul's experience, which the speaker said was summed up in his text, 1 Samuel xxviii, where Saul says, "I have yielded the fool, and have erred exceedingly," Dr. Riley said that all who follow in his footsteps will drink of the same bitter cup.

The evangelist said he realized that some employers required dishonesty of their employes, but he said any honest man could find employment without retaining such positions. No man, he said, should hold a position where he is compelled to cheat his fellow.

Dr. Riley characterized the temperance people who advocate temperance as false philosophers. They should advocate prohibition of all things harmful, said he, and temperance in all things which are not harmful. Upon his last point he said that America was never more corrupt than at present.

The deepest hole in the world's has been bored in Siberia. It has reached a depth of about 7000 feet and passes through 82 beds of coal.

"FIGHTING THE BEEF TRUST"

"Once upon a midnight dreary,
Said the Beef Trust, weak and weary,
'Smith, you are a knottier problem
Than we've ever met before.
Will you ever cease this fighting?
Cease our hopes and purses blighting?
With the people cease uniting?'
Quoth Smith, the fighter,
'Nevermore.'"
