CONVENTIONS THIS WEEK.—With the Evangelical Association and United Evangelical Church, of the two Oregon conferences in session, convention week will begin at Jennings Lodge, on the Oregon City Electric Railway, tomorrow night with a rally at 8 P. M., in charge of Rev. M. J. Ballentine and Rev. Theodore Schauer. Wednesday morning the Sunday School League will open its convention, closing Thursday morning. Benjamin F. Heinrich, the president of the Country Club, Thursday afternoon at 1:30 o'clock the convention of the Keystone League of Christian Endeavor and Young People's Alliance will open and continue until Friday night. H. Albright, conference branch president, will preside. The union camp-meeting will begin Saturday morning, with a lecture by Dr. C. L. Mook, president Dallas College. The campmeeting will continue to Thursday night, August 6.

WANTS WIDER STREET.—Joseph Buchel, who owns 800 feet fronting on Hancock street, is a strong advocate for making the street 80 feet wide from the Willamette River to the grounds of the Country Club. He says that the bridge for the Albina district is practically sure to be built from the foot of Hancock street, and it will be a wide bridge. He points out the great advantage of making Hancock an 80-foot street, thus providing a fine thoroughfare direct over the proposed high bridge. He suggests that a committee take the matter in hand at once before the movement to improve it with hard-surface pavement should take definite form. He says that he will donate a ten-foot strip off of his property without charge.

WORK ON EAST SIDE FILLS.—The Pacific Bridge Company, preparing to start on the filling of East Morrison street, between East Seventh and East Ninth. Unless there should be another slide in the embankment on East Stark street, the work will be completed this week, which will release the dump cars for other fills. The company has completed a trestle on East Taylor street from East Water to Union avenue and on East Third to East Washington for temporary track, and is now laying the rails. Gravel trains will haul material from East Taylor to East Third and on East Third to East Washington, and thence to East Seventh and on to East Morrison. The filling of the street will be completed this week, which will release the dump cars for other fills. BENNETT CHAPEL DEDICATED.—The Bennett Chapel, of the Methodist Episcopal Church, at Gates' Station in the Greendale Electric Railway, was dedicated yesterday forenoon, followed by general services in the afternoon. Dr. Elmer Homan, president of Willamette University, delivered the dedicatory sermon in the morning. A basket dinner was served on the grounds between 12 and 1:30 o'clock, when an afternoon service was held. Rev. D. L. Rader, editor of the Pacific Christian Advocate, spoke in the afternoon. The church is located a short distance from the electric railway about one and one-half miles east of Lent.

EAST SIDE CLUBS TO MEET.—The regular meeting of the United East Side Club will be held tomorrow night in the rooms of the Sargent Hotel, Grand and Hawthorne avenues. At this meeting the proposed new Madison street bridge will be considered. The special bridge committee was instructed to ascertain if a higher and wider bridge could be built than is provided for by the $250,000 bond issue. If the provisions of this bond issue are followed, the new bridge will be a reproduction of the present structure, only a trifle higher and wider. The matter of parks will also be discussed at this meeting, besides some of the proposed amendments to the city charter.

LOWA PASTOR TO PREACH.—Rev. Charles S. Medbury, pastor of the University Place Church of Christ, of Des Moines, Ia., will preach in the First Christian Church, Columbia and West Park streets tomorrow night at 8 o'clock. Mr. Medbury is regarded as a speaker of power and eloquence. He is at the head of the largest congregation in the Christian Church in America.

A SELENIUM OPPORTUNITY.—To secure first selection of PALMS, ROSES, RUIES, ORNAMENTAL SHRUBS. Being ready to place orders for our annual importation. Parties interested should phone 401, once for particulars. Main 400, A 605.

MISS DOUTHITT A PIONEER

WOMAN KILLED BY CAR CAME TO OREGON IN 1853.

Was a Teacher in Portland Schools and Took Part in Suffrage Movement.

Miss Mary O. Douthitt, who died Saturday afternoon as the result of injuries received by being struck by a streetcar, came to Oregon in 1853, settling in Linn County, near Lebanon, where Mr. Douthitt engaged in farming. They were originally from South Carolina, but removed to Indiana, where the late Miss Douthitt was born but a short time before her parents crossed the plains to Oregon.

The family afterwards removed to Eastern Oregon, where Mr. Douthitt died in 1876. His daughter, Miss Mary O. Douthitt, came to Portland about 15 years ago and was for a time a teacher in the public schools. Later she went to the Dalles, where she held a similar position. For a time she maintained a kindergarten in Irvington. During her residence in Portland she had contributed to the newspapers and had an active part in the woman's suffrage movement. Two years ago she made a tour of Eastern Oregon, lecturing on woman's suffrage and other political questions. She was the author of a book of reminiscences and biographical sketches of pioneers, entitled: "A Souvenir of Western Women," which was published about the time of the Lewis and Clark Fair.

Miss Douthitt was a member of the Unitarian Church. For the past year she had made her home with her friend, Mrs. M. O. Moore, of 1208 East Tenth street in Sellwood. She is survived by a brother, John Alexander Douthitt, of The Dalles, formerly editor of The Dalles Times-Mountain. A sister, Miss Minnie Swank, of 1085 Belmont street, was the only relative in Portland at the time of Miss Douthitt's death.

While the funeral arrangements have not yet been completed, the services will be held tomorrow from Holy Trinity church.

An inquest will be held this morning by Coroner Elliott to fix the responsibility for the accident.

SMALL BOY DROPS DEAD

Excitement of Play Too Much for Weak Heart.

ALBANY, Or., July 26.—(Special.)—The 11-year-old son of John W. Young, a farmer living near Crabtree, Linn County, dropped dead last evening while playing in the orchard on his father's farm. Accompanied by some other children, the young boy threw a rock into a hornet's nest in one of the trees, and as he started to run he fell to the ground.

When the others went back to where he lay they found him dead. The boy had been subject to heart trouble.

VICTORIES HELP OREGON

Governor Chamberlain, Mayor Lane and Others Join in Movement to Honor Smithson, Gilbert and Kelly.

OREGON WINNERS AT LONDON.

Forrest C. Smithson—Son of A. J. Smithson, of 1338 Madison street, Portland. Ran under the colors of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club and broke world's record for 110-meter hurdles, establishing new mark of 15 seconds flat. Former record was 15 2-5 seconds.

Alfred C. Gilbert—Son of F. N. Gilbert, of 321 West Park street, Portland. Tied with a teammate for first place in the pole vault. Height, 12 feet 2 inches. Gilbert competed under the colors of Yale University.

Dan J. Kelly—A native of Baker City, Or., where his parents now reside. Entered under the colors of the Irish-American Athletic Club, of New York City. He took second place in the running broad jump.

The suggestion in The Oregonian yesterday for the entertainment of Oregon's three participants in the Olympic games has met with instantaneous favor and approval of Portland's commercial organizations and the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club. Within a few days a definite plan will be adopted and the work of preparing for the home-coming of the winning athletes under way. It is expected that all of the business, social, educational and athletic institutions in the state will participate in the welcome, but more particularly those of the City of Portland.

Governor Chamberlain and Mayor Lane have signified their willingness to join in honoring the youths who signally upheld the standard of Oregon athletics in competition with the gladiators of the entire world, and each has pledged himself to assist the movement.

In addition to the foremost public officials of the state and city, a number of business men have come forward, seconding the proposed reception to Smithson, Gilbert and Kelly, and have vouched for the support of the movement by each of Portland's leading commercial bodies.

The athletic feats of the Oregon trio have done much to win favorable attention to this state and the metropolis. Portland's business men were not slow to recognize this, and as a result, their hearty personal and financial support has been pledged.

Great Record for Oregon.

The success of Smithson, Gilbert and Kelly, in gaining honor in the three events in which they were entered, is something that has never before been equaled on an athletic field where there were so many opponents. Only three athletes from this state were in the Olympic games, and each of the trio brought honors to Oregon. No other state in the Union made such a showing, and only one Pacific Coast state besides Oregon was represented by a victory. California was represented by Ralph Rose, the greatest shotputter of the world, but the victory he won was a consolation prize.

A committee of Portland business men and representatives of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club will soon meet and define action plan of action in preparing for the welcome. As soon as the preliminary arrangements are perfected, Secretary James E. Sullivan will be notified by cablegram for his arrival in Portland and Smithson to come to Portland together, for it is desired to honor all three Oregon boys at the same time.

The Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club has announced that it would be pleased to have the general public share in honoring the athletes. Multnomah would have taken entire charge of the reception but believed that the public should join in the movement.

According to present plans it is proposed to have the University of Oregon Oregon Agricultural College, Pacific University, Columbia University and the Baker City High School, each of which institutions was represented by one of the athletes in charge of the reception plans. In addition the Commercial Club, Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade, University Club, Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club and the Portland and Baker City lodges of Elks will be represented in honoring the champions. Plans for the general reception will be definitely decided upon as soon as the commercial organizations can perfect an organization. A few of the comments made yesterday on the proposed plan were as follows:

Many Indorse the Plan.

Governor Chamberlain—By all means have a grand reception and testimonial in honor of our boys. If anyone is deserving of fitting commendation Kelly, Smithson and Gilbert certainly are, and I shall take the greatest pleasure in doing all in my power to assist the movement.

Mayor Harry Lane—The victories scored by our Oregon boys were a source of considerable satisfaction to me, and if my humble efforts can in any way assure them of a pleasing and memorable reception on their return home, you may certainly count on me.

Chester A. Whitmore, president of the Rose Festival Association—I am indeed in favor of a splendid testimonial to the athletes who so proudly upheld the honor of our state in a foreign land, and that they be shown signal honor is the duty of our citizens. Nothing is too good for these boys, and I shall be pleased to render all the assistance in my power toward helping the good work along.

George W. McLaren, president of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club—I do not know of anything that has pleased me more than the proposal to have a public demonstration of this kind. All three of the athletes are members of the Multnomah Amateur Athletic Club, but we do not desire to monopolize all the entertainment in their honor, and will gladly welcome and assist the coming of each of Portland and other institutions in the state in showing our athletes our appreciation of their performances. The boys are deserving of the greatest respect and a reception in their honor will do more toward stimulating other young men to emulate their example than any other method that could be devised.

Others Who Will Help.

C. F. Swigert, president of the Chamber of Commerce—I shall be delighted to assist such a movement, for I believe the boys have earned a welcome home that will long be remembered. Oregon is a great state, and we have demonstrated that we can produce athletes on a par, and even better, than those of other sections of the globe.

Tom Richardson, manager of Commercial Club—The suggestion to entertain Oregon's victorious athletes is a good one, for the performances of these young men is of itself one of the greatest booms this state could have received. A climate that will produce such able athletes is assured of widespread advertising. The honoring of these young men should be a general one, and not controlled by any individual organization. I am sincerely in favor of taking steps toward the immediate organization of a committee to be selected from the various commercial, educational, social and athletic institutions of the state, and arrange for the reception of the victorious athletes. If my services can be of any assistance, I pledge myself to do all I can in aiding this movement.

CONCERT PLEASES CROWDS

MUSIC OF DE CAPRIO'S BAND FILLS CITY PARK.

Superintendent Mische Outlines Plans for Improvements of Park Grounds and Buildings.

The City Park, was crowded again yesterday. The magnet that drew the crowd being the concert by Signor De Caprio's band. People began to gather shortly after noon, and at 2:30 every available foot of space within hearing distance of the bandstand had been occupied. Signor De Caprio had an exceptional programme from first to last.

The first number rendered was the grand march from Tannhauser, which was applauded to the echo. Signor Biancone's clarinet solo, "A Masque Ball," by Verdi, was very beautifully rendered, and received a round of applause.

One of De Caprio's own compositions, a waltz, styled "Dante in Paradise," impressed all with its sweetness and rhythmic charm, reflecting much credit on the composer.

The crowd seemed loath to have the concert end even after the last number had been played. The concert was continued their applause long after the artists had ceased their instruments.

The Zoo drew the attention of the crowd and the concert was over. Many new features have been added in the way of birds and animals. Emil S. Mische, the new superintendent, has some extensive additions and alterations in view as soon as the city's bond issue, which was recently declared by the courts to be valid, is taken care of.

One of the contemplated additions is the acquisition of an 80-acre tract adjoining the park proper. This ground, according to Mr. Mische, is necessary for pasturing for the larger animals, such as the elk, buffalo, etc. The acquisition of this tract would increase the present acreage of the park from 120 to 200 acres.

Mr. Mische has outlined a plan for central heating for the buildings at the park so there will be but one. The buildings which now house all of the less hardy animals—the ones requiring artificial heat—will be heated by a central heating plant. The new system, would bring all the buildings under one roof on the ground now occupied by the greenhouses.

It is also part of his plan to ornament a large portion of the higher and around the water works with flowers of various kinds, so far above it however as to prevent any possibility of contaminating the water.

Mr. Mische is also very desirous of increasing the number of elk now in the park. There are but nine of them all told, and although he has tried to obtain some from Seattle, Spokane, Tacoma, and other cities close by, he has not met with success. All of the elk now at the park are imported, and either buck or cow elk will be exchanged, wherever possible.

Parks now owned by the city aggregate about 350 acres and it is proposed by Mr. Mische to increase them to between 1800 and 2000 acres. There will, in addition to this, be parkways leading to the various parks which are not included in this estimate.

W. H. TAFT VISITS CITY

Although He Bears the Name, He Is Not Republican Nominee.

William H. Taft was in Portland yesterday, registering at the Perkins Hotel. The visit, however, was not William Howard Taft, ex-Secretary of War and Republican presidential nominee. On the contrary it was William Henry Taft, a retired merchant of Tonah, Wis. The ex-merchant is a distant relative of the Ohioan and a strong Republican.

"I have not been in Wisconsin since April," said Mr. Taft, "and, although from the information I have, that state may be depended upon to report the usual Republican majority in the November election, of course my visit is not an instructed La Follette delegation to the Republican National convention but there is no good reason to suspect that either La Follette or his friends will do other than give the ticket their support. They recognize that the aspirations of La Follette never can be promoted by knifing the ticket and they will not do it in any great extent."

STREET ORATORS ARRESTED

SOCIALISTS REFUSE TO MOVE ON WHEN ORDERED.

James Jackson and James Lloyd Are Later Released by Chief of Police Gritmacher.

Because they refused to move on when so ordered by a police sergeant, James Jackson and James Lloyd, Socialist orators, who were industriously exploiting their ideas of government near the Plaza blocks yesterday afternoon, were taken into custody and booked at police headquarters. Their comrade, John Armand, was also taken into custody, though he was not confined in the jail.

Chief Gritmacher, on learning of the arrest of the men and their alleged offenses, ordered their release on their own recognizance. Their arrest involves a question, he says, which is of great importance.

The men were talking in the streets. They had attracted a large crowd—a crowd that was so large that traffic on the street and sidewalk was temporarily impeded. The officer ordered them to move on and vacate the public highway. They refused, or ignored his order, and the arrest followed.

"We were merely explaining our ideas of government," said one of the men after the arrest, "and, so far as we knew, we were violating no laws at all. We knew that the street was obstructed, but the Salvation Army obstructs the streets in the same way every day. They arrested us because there is such an antagonism and hostility against Socialism. You never heard of any arrests in the ranks of the Salvation Army for the offense with which we are charged."

Police officers insist that the Salvation Army does not impede traffic in its street meetings. The Socialists, they insist, apparently are indifferent in seeing crowds block the highways.
