STEADY GAIN IN FOREIGN EXPORTS

BIG INCREASE IN LUMBER

Cargoes Dispatched to Foreign Ports During July Exceed 14,000,000 Feet-Coastwise Lumber Business Shows Increase.

Experts foreign, for the first month of the cereal year of 1908-9 amounted to 109.948 bushels of wheat, 45,296 barrels of flour and 14,237.115 feet of lumber. The 109.948 bushels of wheat, 45,296 barrels of flour and 14,217,115 feet of lumber. The last of the fleet to get away was the schooner James A. Garfield, which cleared for Payta, Peru, with 322,292 feet of lumber. The valuation placed on the cargo was $25,776, with two exceptions the largest valuation placed on a lumber cargo for the month. It is proportionately ten times greater than that placed on any other cargo leaving Portland. Reducing the flour shipments to a wheat basis the exports to foreign ports for the month of July amount to 313,845 bushels as compared with 233,550 bushels for the corresponding month of 1907. During the month just closed the exports amounted to 100,948 hushels of wheat and 45,296 barrels of flour. During the first month of the cereal year ending July 31, 1908, the shipments did not include a cargo of wheat but the regular Oriental liners carried out 51,900 barrels of flour. Reducing both months to a wheat basis July, 1908, is 80,006 bushels in advance of the corresponding month of the previous year.

Lumber exports foreign have broken all records for July and are in advance of any month for the year past. The total shipments comprise eight cargoes with a total of 14,217,115 feet. The value placed on the foreign exports of lumber is $188,-809. The same month last year exported only 4.882,764 feet. The next largest month to the present was October with upwards of 12,000,000 feet.

Coastwise shipments have held up fairly well, owing to the fact that the steam schooners in commission have been carrying large deck loads and the general cargo secured in addition makes it profitable to operate the craft, whereas a year ago there were no cargo offerings and those vessels which could not secure a full lumber cargo were forced to the up. The coastwise shipments for July, 1908, amount to 5,775,000 feet as compared with only 2,856,000 feet for July, 1907. A peculiar feature of the past month is that all coastwise lumber was cleared for San coastwise lumber was cleared for San coastwise lumber was cleared for San

ACCIDENT NARROWLY AVERTED

Prompt Action of Pilot Bailey Saves Man and Woman in Skiff.

In spite of the orders issued by the local Inspectors of Steam Vessels and many warnings of Customs Inspectors, regarding the display of lights on all craft operating on the river after dark. failure to comply nearly cost a young man and a woman their lives near St. John Thursday night.

The night was dark and a heavy cloud of smoke made navigation difficult. Captain Balley, pilot, was bound up the river with the steamship Eureka. A small boat containing a man and a woman shot across the bows of the Eureka and it was all but a miracle that the boat was not run down. The skiff dis-played no lights and the smoke and dark ness of the night made it difficult for the pilot to make out the small boat. Only prompt action on the part of Cap-tain Balley prevented a serious accident.

Sloop Condor Beats Up Const.

The gasoline schooner Condor, Captain Tyler, arrived up at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon from Alsea and Yaquina Bays. The trip north was a severe one and the Condor was 28 hours coming from the Yaquina bar to the Columbia River lightship. There was a strong north-west wind blowing and the engines of the mendor were unable to drive the craft through the heavy seas and the head wind. Captain Tyler then made sail and beat up to the bar. By doing so he beat several of the steam schooners up to the lightship. A full cargo of freight awaits the Condor for the southward trip and she will leave down late tomorrow morn-

the preacher five days after he met his bride to be, the pair being married September 9, last year, at Dallas. Five months later troubles began. On April I last, she went to Council Crest, he said, with a lady friend, and came home at midnight accompanied by a male acquaintance. Then she put her child in the baby home that she might go out nights with the sailors from the warships. Skibbe said she sometimes staved anips. Skinbe said she sometimes stayed out all night. He said he at first forgave her this unseemly conduct upon her promise to do better. He refused to put up with it, however, when it was continued. The divorce was granted. That her husband "wilfully, and against all regulations" left her and sued for a divorce "on fabulous grounds" was the statement made by Verna B. Kolle on the witness stand yesterday in testifying against her husband, Dalton W. Kolle. They were married at Vancouver, B. C. 3, 1904, and lived together three s. Mrs. Kolle said her husband's divorce suit was unsuccessful, the "fabllous" charges falling to the ground.

Beaten over the back and shoulders with a chair rung, and over the head with her husband's fist, Margaretha Weidmann secured a divorce from Rudolph W. Weidmann yesterday. She said that at another time he threw her to the ground, beat her severely, and brandishground, beat her severely, and brandish ing a knife threatened to stab her. These cruelties were heaped upon her in No-vember, 1906, she said, her husband leaving home about six months later. They were married at Salem, April 3, 1894, and have three children ranging in ages from 15 to 9 years.

She Liked to Dance.

Ray H. Woodworth was told by his wife, Leona D. Woodworth, to go to the nether regions when he asked her where she had been. He said she came home from a dance at half past four in the morning Further testimony was to the effect that Mrs. Woodworth went to dances three times a week, and told her friends she wanted her husband to find it out so he would get a divorce. A "gentleman friend" named Fred, a gambles from Montana, is said to have given her a ring. Her husband asserts that she refused to return it when he requested her to do so. Last October she went to Spokane. The couple married August 26, 1907. The divorce was granted. George Rouch bought his wife nothing but a pair of shoes in two years, accordling to the testimony of Mamie Rouch, Besides this purchase Rouch gave his wife $25 during the year with which to supply the table. he wants a truce, for the time being, as to election of United States Senator, Statement No. 1 and organization of the Legislature.

This means also that Fulton's sup-porters will not push him forward as a candidate for re-election in the Legin the Republican ranks to Chamberlain in the Legislature is no longer any doubt. The drift of circumstances is all toward that end. Fulton's prominence in the Senate and in National politics affords his friends abundance of talking material.

The anti-statement Republicans in the Legislature, to the number of 39—

seven less than a majority-see no other candidate just now. This is not to say that they have all accepted Fulton as their candidate. But in casting about for a man to receive their votes they behold nobody else yet worth men-tioning. Some of them doubtless will find another man when they come to voting, but it is altogether likely that Fulton will be pressed upon them as the foremost candidate. Bearing on Cake Squabble.

What bearing has this now on the Cake squabble and Taft? Considerable, It inflames the Cake folks and their Bourne ailles to think Fulton is not botttled up as it was supposed, and that he seeks to overturn Statement No. 1. Besides, it makes a rather peculiar situation in that Cake, pledged to support a Democrat for United States Senator, is chairman of the Re-publican State Central Committee, which is expected to conduct the Oregon camfor election of a Republican ent. This makes rather incongruous politics. In order to give Taft united Republican support it will be necessary for the factions to forget temporarily the election of United States Senator, as to which one faction is bound to support a Democrat and the other is resolved to elect a Republican. But the topic is hard to forget, especially since each faction is striving to control the next organization of the Legislature. The Bourne - Cake - Chamberlain element wants Tom Kay, of Salem, for President of the Senate, and Arthur Orton of Portland, for Speaker of the House, The Fulton element wants Jay Bower-man, of Condon, for President, and C. McArthur, of Portland, for Speaker. This fight is now in progress.

The important question is: Can the two factions unite for election of Taft? It is well known that Bourne dislikes Taft and long ago predicted that Bryan would defeat him. It is just as well known that Fulton has been one of Taft's close counsellors and

Just eleven months ago Senator Ful-ton opened his campaign for re-elec-tion in Corvaliis with a speech, in which he declared that in case he should be defeated in the June election, "I promise you now that I will retire from the field and will not permit my name to be presented to the Legislature for this (Senatorship) or any other office.

Foes of Fulton supposed that he barred himself completely from being a candidate next Winter, in his Corvallis speech. But not so. His words at Corvallis, August 30, 1907, were as

It may be thought by some that my position on this subject (Statement No. 1) is the result of a desire on my part to pave the way to an appeal to the Legislature, should I fail to secure approval of my candidacy by the voters. I assure you that I have no such thought or purpose. If it shall happen that some other candidate receives a larger vote for United States Senator than I do at the election to be held next June, I
