brought back to this chi settive Inskeep and locked up in the City Jall on charge of larceny. To the girl her flight from Portland was a romance and her return in the custody of a police officer a rude awakening after her elopement with Gago. Gago is now occupying a cell in the Roseburg jall, suspected of larceny and held under a vagrancy charge.

The friends of the young girl and the police are inclined to believe that she is more to be pitled than blamed, and an effort will be made to enlist the sympathics of Judge Van Zante when she is arraigned in the Municipal Court today. She is charged by Miss Lottie Gray, of 449 East Yamhill street, with the theft of a hat, and a coat. She had been living with Miss Gray about four months when she met Gage, an em ploye of an East Side coalyard, and one week later fled with him. She borrowed the hat and coat, telling Miss Gray that the hat and coat, telling Miss Gray that she was going to do some shopping. Gags gave the girl a pretty gold watch and later won her consent to leave the city with him. Not having the money to buy their tickets, they decided to hobo it. He disguised her-with hat, coat antrousers of his own and caught the first train out of town on the blind baggage. She had no time to return to Miss Gray's house, she says, or would otherwise have returned the borrowed clothing.

But Socialist Orators Must Keep Off Park Blocks.

MAYOR STATES POSITION

Says Administration Will Treat All Persons Equally, but Speakers Are Requested Not to Block Main Streets.

The attitude of the city government, as stated by Mayor Lane, in connection with Socialist orators and others, is to treat every one with absolute is to treat every one with absolute fairness and impartiality, and to grant all the right of free speech. However, it is desired that street-speakers should utilize the side streets, and refrain from blockading the principal thoroughfares of the city. They will not be allowed at all on the Plaza blocks or public recreation grounds.

"We do not wish to hamper the Socialists or any other persons who wish to speak on the streets," said Mayor cialists or any other persons who wish to speak on the streets," said Mayor Lane. "We certainly do not want to arrest them. But we have asked that they use the side streets, and as a favor to refrain from crowding the main thoroughfares; to keep these main thoroughtares; to keep these clear and to talk all they please on the less-used streets. We don't want them to use the public parks or grounds, either. There are pienty of places where they and all who wish to hear them may go and hold their meetings. It is not the desire of the administration to hinder, embarrans or prevent Socialists or any one else with any kind of a message from speaking on the streets, but must keep the side walks clear."

In attempting to stop the crowding of main streets, the blockading of the sidewalks and the general confusion resulting from Socialist street meetings, the police have also been obliged to warn the Salvation Army, the Volunteers of America and other religious organizations. The officers of these, however, have cheerfully complied with the police requests thus far, and the police have experienced no trouble with them.

The police are said to be strongly distiked by the Socialists, and for years there has been more or less ill feeling, which has cropped out at various times. It is because of this that Mayor Lane recently instructed the Police Department officials to use the utmost tact in dealing with the Social-ists, and to allow them all possible libin keeping with the rights of

CLAIMS AGAINST TITLE BANK ARE HELD INVALID.

Largest Are Those Presented by J. S. McMillan, and Have to Do With Auxiliary Concern.

Among the claims filed against the Title Guarantee & Trust Company and rejected by Receiver R. S. Howard, Jr., were two presented by J. S. McMillan, of Seattle, and aggregating $52,$70. Both claims arise out of McMillan's relations with the Pertinal Development Company. with the Portland Development Company, one of the auxiliary compa

The larger of the two claims was for $45,120 and resulted from McMillan's or-$45,120 and resulted from McMillan's organization and management of the Portland Development Company. It was in this company that J. Thorburn Ross, president of the Title Guarantee & Trust Company, purchased stock. Through this corporation McMillan purchased considerable real estate in and contiguous to the Lewis and Clark exposition grounds, paying part of the purchase price and giving mortgages for the balance. Other parcels of land were leased but, the company falling to meet the payment of the consideration of the leases and taxes on the property, the owners of the land canceled the leases. This proceeding, together with suits for This proceeding, together with suits for the foreclosure of the mortgages, not only released the Title Guarantee & only released the Title Guarantee & Trust Company, as the parent body, from further responsibility as to this part of the enterprise, but prevented McMillan from presenting and maintaining any claim against the defunct bank.

The other claim, for $8750, covered the consideration agreed by McMillan to be paid the Portland Railway, Light & Power Company. Ine purchase price was deposited in escrow, but before the transfer of the property could be effect-ed, one of the original owners of the property instituted proceedings questioning the legality of the title. This suit is still pending in the courts and Receiver Howard has been advised by his counsel that, since the transfer of the property has not taken place, Mc-Millan has no claim against the bank.

The Lafe Pence properties, acquired and operated through another auxiliary company of the suspended bank and known as the Colonial Investment Com-pany, remain in statu quo. The indebtedness of Pence to this company, which has transferred its properties to the bunk, as additional assets, approximates $200,000. At the beginning of the receivership this asset was considered an ex-tremely doubtful quantity, but Receiver Howard has expectations of converting the enterprise to substantial returns, reports that, in the language of the s mirket, this property has advanced sev-eral points during the last six weeks. The Receiver is unable at this time to say what disposition will be made of this property but he feels confident that he will be able to realize from it satisfactory

TAFT CLUB IS ORGANIZED

Colored Republicans Prepare for Campaign.

Colored Republican voters met in a hall at Ninth and Flanders streets last night and organized a Taft and Sherman Club under the auspices of which a vig-orous campaign for the Republican party is to be made, not only in Multnomah County, but throughout the state.

Republican enthusiasm was manifest. It was urged that the colored population had no intention of abandoning the Republican party. Notwithstanding reports to the contrary there is no opposition on the part of colored citizens to the Republican party of the President. It was not the part of the President in the part of the Republican appringer for President. publican nominee for President. gathering of colored citizens. Temperary officers were elected, an organization perfected, a name adopted, and plans outlined for a real political campaign.

Rev. B. B. Johnson called the meeting to order. He had been urged, he said, by many citizens to arrange the meeting and had done so, but unfortunately conflicting announcements of the time and place had been made. Then he made a brief preliminary address in which he told of his personal experiences with President Roosevelt and of the universal admiration on the part of colored men, not only for him, but for Mr. Taft. COUNTRY CLUB AFTER RECORD-BREAKING RACERS

Owners Invited to Bring Lou Dillon, Dan Patch and Others to Portland Meet.

Negotiations were opened yesterday Negotiations were opened yesterday with the owners of world's record trotters and pacers by the Country Club race-meet committee, with a view of securing exhibition performances here during the week of harness races, September 21-26. Telegrams were sent to the owners of both Dan Patch and Lou Dillon. Dan Patch holds the world's pacing record of 1:55, made at a meet at St. Paul in October, 1906, and he at St. Paul in October, 1906, and he holds several other records, such as the wagon record for pacers, made at Memphis, Tenn., when he negotiated a mile in the unequalled time of 1:571-2. Dan Patch also holds the mile record to high whole sulky in 2:04, 14 to high-wheel sulky in 2:04 1-4. Lou Dillon holds the trotting record at 1:581-2, a mark made at Memphis. Tenn, three years ago, and while little hope is entertained that this wonderful racing mare may be secured for the exhibition series on the circuit, nev-ertheless the local people are endeavoring to make arrangements for her appearance here. Major Delmar, the world's record per former, is also on the list of grand circuit contenders which the local man-agement have in view of bringing here His mark is 1:59 3-4, and a forfeit guarantee has been made to all of these illustrious entries, to the effect that the local track will be equal to or excel any on which they have run off their record-breaking events in the East.

At the next regular meeting of the directors of the Country Club and Livestock Association, to be held Monday afternoon, the matter of adding a number of racing stables will be one of the chief questions considered. Besides this, the question of transportation will be taken up with President Josselyn, of the street railway company, who has been invited to attend the meethas been invited to attend the meeting. The street railway company has guaranteed to handle 3000 people the first ten minutes after the races are over, and the same number per hour thereafter. But this is not regarded as at all adequate, for the reason that from 25,000 to 35,000 people are expected to attend the races daily during the entire week. Arrangements to se-cure permission for the temporary use of the streets necessary for the ex-tension of the Montavilla and Rose City Park lines, which approach the Country Club tract, have already been made and all that will be necessary will be for the streetcar company to run spurs into the racetrack grounds and to supply a sufficient number of cars to handle the throngs that will attend the races.

Amusement, programme, entertain-ment and building committees will file reports at Monday's session and they will cover most of the preliminary problems which have not already been

LARGER MAIN IS NEEDED

Serious Water Shortage in East Side Districts.

Notwithstanding that the 24-inch main leading from the upper reservoir a Mount Tabor and supplying the Peninsula district and much of the high service territory on the East Side, carries 6000 gallons a minute, and the standpipe in Vernon holds $50,000 gallons, the pipe is inadequate and the standpipe was emptied Thursday night. During the first of the week the high service district in Holladay-Irvington was connected up with this main, but the draw was so terrific that there was a general water shortage.

The big main which was laid two years ago to furnish water for the Peninsula and the high service district was then supposed to be ample for many years and would furnish water for 35,000 people.
According to the experience of the past few days, since the Holladay-Irvington territory was connected with it, the pipe has not met the requirements. The re-markable feature is that the standpipe in the Vernon tract, which holds 250,000 gallons of water, should also have been emptled, when the top of the standpipe is 70 feet below the upper Mount Tabor reservoir. The water in the upper reser-voir was lowered nine feet, and in the lower reservoir the water dropped sever feet in consequence.

Edward Gray, who looks after the East Side department of the water system, expresses the opinion that practically every faucet on the outside of houses on the East Side was left open Thursday night and is left open for hours every night. He believes that the only way to check the waste is to install meters everywhere.
