NEW YORK, Oct. 8 .- Chicago 4, New

in the presence of a record-breaking in the presence of a record-breaking erowd, which swamped the polo grounds and left many thousands outside, today's baseball game was played in deadly sarnest—straight baseball with no frills—to settle as tensely dramatic a situation as the most ardent lover of the sport could imagine. Chi-cago won, and New York lost the National League championship.

The game was played in the cheerful sunshine of an ideal baseball day, before a vast concourse of people, who carried with them the pent-up enthusiasm, hopes and fears accumulated day by day in the closing weeks of a season.

New York in Mourning.

The large black headlines in the newspapers—New York 2, Chicago 4—are like mourning capilons over the newspapers—New York 2, Chicago 4— are like mourning capitlens over the story of some great personage's death. And yet probably Manager McGraw's words after the game, in the unwonted quiet of the training quarters, where the Giants were having their last showers and rub-downs, epitomize the feelings of the year army of New York lapse in the third inning could not be overcome. McGraw's substitution of Wiltee in the box the last two innings may or may not have been wise. The home team needed a long hit; needed the tremendous rallying power which Mathewson has inspired in it at the very finish and has wrung victory from germing defeat more than once.

Immediately after the gates swung open hundreds upon hundreds fairly hurled themselves into the enclosure. The stands rapidly began to fill. By noon the sale of tickets ended, and soon there was not a sent—hardly standing room. And out beyond the enclosure every over-topping structure—chimneys, derricks, roofs-had its precariously hung swarm Fans Fight for Seats.

Outside the grounds for an hour pre-ceding the calling of the game at 2:45 ceding the calling of the game at 2:45 o'cleck there was an almost uncontrollable crials of many thousands. Suddenly the corner gates to the diamond were opened and hundreds rushed madly to the sides of the field, fighting for places, stopping the practice of the nines and causing confusion. But police fought the crowd back and finally a sufficient margin of field was maintained around the

When the word came. Play oal: a silence fell over all. The thousands of cowbells and horns were unused. The game was on, it held the crowd by a spell. The players felt the tension. Chicago plainly showed it, and Sheckard, fading Mathewson, struck out. The deafening greeting of this beginning was in striking contrast with the silence when at the end the home feam, out in one, two, three order, rushed across the diamond to its clubhouse. The two great limings of the game were the third and the seventh. In the former Chicago made all its runs. In the latter, oponing up with enthusiasm, hopes were renewed, but died after one run, which kept company with that made in the first liming on the mammoth butletin board far out afield.

Throw away your soap! GOLD DUST will do your household cleaning in half the time, with half the labor

Count the cracks in your kitchen floor. There's no end to them. There's no end to the dirt either if you clean with greasy soap. Soap and water are all right in their place, but they won't do the work of GOLD DUST.

GOLD DUST pries out dirt-dissolves it. Hot water rinses it away-leaves your woodwork clean and fresh.

Aside from doing better work, GOLD DUST saves about half your time and labor. It is a cleansing powder of magic power, which starts to clean the moment it dissolves.

GOLD DUST is soap with its working clothes
