

RUSHLIGHT WEARS THE "RED" LABEL

Mayorality Candidate Creature of the Big Liquor Interests.

HIS RECORD LAID BARE

Attitude on Measures Before City Council Shows How He Has Befriended Brewers and Saloons—On "Red Ticket."

Fearful lest revelations of Mr. Rushlight's close connection with liquor interests may damage his candidacy for the Republican nomination for Mayor in today's primary, friends are trying to pacify anti-saloon voters by denying that he is allied with saloon men. All the while, however, they neglected to explain why his election as Councilman was opposed by reform forces in 1906; why he steadfastly resisted ordinances that would diminish the box evil in saloons and restaurants; why he opposed the ordinance enacted last September which forbids women in saloons; why he tried to secure the passage of an amending ordinance admitting women into "eating places,"—a trick to open saloons again to women; why in private business he is a saloon landlord and a brewer plumber, and why in his candidacy for Assessor last year most of his support came from North End and Albin saloon precincts. Brewers Have Made Him.

Mr. Rushlight was lifted from obscurity in 1907 by the association of brewers and wholesale liquor dealers that then was taking active part in politics. Liquor "reformers" tried to nominate Dan Sherrett, who was then running for re-election in the Seventh Ward. Mr. Rushlight's primary petitions were boosted largely by liquor men, but their interest in him they tried to keep secret. In the June election, the reform forces knew Rushlight's political alliance with liquor men and endorsed Sam Morrow, Prohibition candidate, and printed his name on their election cards. Mr. Rushlight was a member of the notorious "red ticket" in that election, which was supported by saloons and fought by the reform element. In the primary election, Rushlight had not been printed on the red ticket, because liquor men feared Sherrett might be nominated. But they sent out the secret word to their supporters that Rushlight was their candidate. After the election, on the day that Rushlight, together with 11 other members of the Council, passed over the Mayor's veto the notorious anti-reform box ordinance, the Portland Journal printed the "red ticket" in full on its first page. Rushlight's name included, declaring that by their vote on the box ordinance the 12 "liquor" Councilmen were carrying out their pre-election pledges to the liquor interests. That was August 17, 1905.

Supports Saloon Measures.

Most recent of Mr. Rushlight's stands for his liquor friends was his opposition to the Collins ordinance, passed last September, barring women from saloons. Immediately afterward Mr. Rushlight came forward with an ordinance to amend the Collins law so as to admit women into saloons eating and into wholesale liquor establishments. This measure failed to pass over the Mayor's veto. Mr. Rushlight's favors in the Council toward the Weinhard brewery are reciprocated by the brewery, whose plumbing is done by him. Mr. Rushlight was instrumental in securing for Weinhard's three year ago a franchise for an overhead bridge across Twelfth street, and for a street tunnel connecting separate buildings of the Council. Why Mr. Evans was in the zenith of his career in Portland as the head of the United Railways, Mr. Rushlight secured a large amount of plumbing for the Chamber of Commerce building, which the United Railways then controlled. This business followed Mr. Rushlight's support in the Council of the franchise of the United Railways. Friends of Mr. Rushlight know that recital of his dealings with liquor interests is a damaging thing to his candidacy for Mayor. But they have poor success in denying facts of the city records.

SIMON IS WELL IN LEAD

(Continued From First Page.) dates on the primary nominating ballot. If any contest develops among the Democrats it will be over the nomination of a candidate for Mayor. For this nomination Judge M. C. Mundy has been endorsed by the Kentucky Kikex and recommended to the Democratic voters of the city.

For some time it has been suspected that friends of Mayor Lane, despite his repeated declarations that he would no longer be a candidate for Mayor, would go to the polls and write his name on the ballot in preference to that of Judge Mundy.

QUALIFICATIONS OF VOTERS.

Every registered male citizen 21 years of age who has resided in the state for six months and in a precinct for 30 days and every foreigner, possessing the same qualifications, who has declared his intention of becoming a citizen one year prior to this date, is entitled to vote in today's primary election. Unregistered electors possessing the necessary qualifications so far as residence is concerned, may qualify by swearing in their votes with the assistance of six freeholders, who, in an affidavit, must certify as to the residence qualifications of the elector.

Mundy. This suspicion, however, has been dispelled materially during the last few days and Democrats regard it as reasonably certain that Judge Mundy will receive his party's nomination. There is a feeling in some Democratic quarters, however, that Lane may be forced into the fight after the primaries as an independent candidate, even if Judge Mundy gets the Democratic nomination.

Candidates Make Statements.

Three of the four Republican candidates for Mayor last night made the following statements concerning their candidacy.

E. E. McDonald.—I feel that I have fought a good, square, clean fight, I am before the people of the City of Portland squarely as an advocate of the direct primary law. I have made no promises and have no political debts to pay. I expect to be nominated, and, if nominated, will be elected Mayor of Portland. I have had the most loyal

HANDS AND FEET ITCHED 12 YEARS

Suffered Terribly from Eczema which Made Hands and Feet Swell, Peel and Get Raw—Arms Affected, Too—Gave Up Hope of Cure.

USED CUTICURA AND WAS QUICKLY CURED

"I suffered from eczema on my hands, arms and feet for about twelve years, my hands and feet would swell, sweat and itch, then would become callous and get very dry, then peel and raw, and raw. I tried most every kind of salve and ointment without success, only got temporary relief. As soon as I would leave off using them I would be as bad as ever. I tried several doctors, took arsenic for two years and at last gave up thinking there was a cure for eczema. A friend of mine insisted on my trying the Cuticura Remedies but, supposing they were the same as other 'cures' I had tried, I did not give them a trial until I got so bad that I had to do something. I secured a cake of Cuticura Soap, a box of Cuticura Ointment and a bottle of Cuticura Resolvent and by the time they were used I could see a vast improvement and my hands and feet were healed up in no time. I used several bottles of Cuticura Resolvent. This was over a year ago and have had no trouble since. I think I am entirely cured. Charles T. Bauer, R.F.D. 65, Volant, Pa., Mar. 11, 1908."

BABIES CURED OF Torturing, Disfiguring Humors by Cuticura.

The suffering which Cuticura Soap and Cuticura Ointment have alleviated among skin-tortured, disfigured infants and children and the comfort they have afforded worn-out and worried parents have led to their adoption in countless homes as a priceless treatment for the skin and blood. Eczema, eruptions, rashes, and every form of itching, scaly humor are speedily cured, in the majority of cases, when all else fails. Complete External and Internal Treatment for Every Humor of Infants, Children and Adults consists of Cuticura Soap, Cuticura Ointment (50c.) to heal the skin and Cuticura Resolvent (50c.) for the blood. support of a host of friends, and I shall repay them, if nominated and elected, by giving to the people of the City of Portland the best that is in me. I would urge every man that is in favor of a clean and honest administration of municipal affairs to express that sentiment at the polls tomorrow.

A. G. Rushlight—I think I shall receive the Republican nomination for Mayor. From the reports I have received from all sections of the city, the outlook appears very favorable to my nomination. I expect to carry every ward on the East Side, and believe I shall break even on the West Side. I stand for the preservation of the direct primary law against those who are calling it and would advise that all of my friends go to the polls tomorrow in the defense of popular legislation, as well as in the support of my candidacy for Mayor.

Simon Certain of Victory.

Joseph Simon—I became a candidate for the Republican Mayorality nomination only at the urgent and unsolicited request of a gathering of representatives of the party. I did not seek the endorsement, but, having received it, I am confident I shall win. I have not taken an active part in the ESTIMATES OF PARTY CHAIRMEN.

A. B. Mantley, chairman Republican city central committee—Of a total registration of probably 28,000 Republican voters in the city, I do not expect that the total vote in tomorrow's primary election will exceed 12,000. Two years ago when the rival candidates for this nomination conducted a much more active campaign than has been witnessed in the campaign which is about to close, only 5500 votes were cast. In view of the listless campaign which has been conducted I do not believe that Republican votes will exceed 12,000.

George H. Thomas, chairman Democratic city central committee—It is altogether idle for us to make an estimate of the probable Democratic vote which will be cast in tomorrow's primary election. While probably 5000 Democrats are registered in this city, the vote that will be cast by the minority party will be purely a voluntary one, which is difficult to estimate. This is particularly true from the fact that members of the party have not qualified as candidates under the direct primary law. Democrats will nominate their candidates by writing the names on the ballot, and in the absence of contests a large vote cannot be expected.

campaign, but, from information I have received from my friends, I am satisfied that I shall receive the party's nomination in tomorrow's contest. So sanguine am I of the nomination and election that I already have ordered my desk removed to the City Hall. It was impossible yesterday to reach State Senator Bailey, the fourth candidate for Mayor on the Republican ticket. For that reason, a preliminary statement from him is lacking.

ASSAILANT MAKES ESCAPE

Mystery Veils Early Morning Gun Play at Swift Packing Plant. Victim Still Alive, Shooter Is Fugitive.

Had Trouble Before.

Enwright and his father, as well as Iverson, were camped at the Union Meat Company's yards on the peninsula, where about 100 men are working. Both the men are teamsters, it being Iverson's special duty to haul provisions from town. Night before last trouble is said to have arisen over two horse collars which were in Iverson's possession, but which Enwright claimed. The controversy was renewed at the mess table between 5 and 6 o'clock yesterday morning. It is said, but the men were pacified and Iverson went out. After hitching up his team he mounted the wagon. In the meantime, Enwright had followed him out and demanded the horse collars. "Well, do you think you can take them?" Iverson is said to have retorted. "Come down here and I'll show you about that," and with that Iverson started to climb off his wagon. He is a large man, and as he started to alight he saw a revolver flash in Enwright's hand. At that he turned and started to climb back on the wagon, when there was a flash, a report, and he staggered to the ground. Enwright is said to have walked away after a few minutes, with the revolver still in his hand. Many men saw the shooting.

Affair Is a Mystery.

Iverson is about 35 years old, while Enwright is about 23. His mother and sister live at 288 Sacramento street. The mother told Deputy Sheriff Bulger, with whom she is well acquainted, that she could not understand how the shooting came to occur, as she said Iverson and "Con" were on the best of terms. Iverson, she said, was in the habit of calling for "Con's" laundry when he passed the Enwright home, and she said she did not know had blood existed between the two. The men at the packing plant declare, however, that they hated each other.

Enwright was at one time a deckhand on the steamer Hagalo, while his father formerly worked in the O. R. & N. shops in Lower Albina.

The entire Sheriff's office was out on the "man hunt" within a half hour after the shooting occurred, with the exception of one or two men left to answer telephone calls. The Sheriff himself went to Troutdale, thinking that the gun-wielder might seek to escape in that direction. The fugitive is five feet eight inches tall, weighs about 145 pounds, of very dark complexion, wore heavy corduroy pants, a blue shirt and a black slouch hat.

HOPKIN JENKINS NAMED

ELECTED PRINCIPAL OF NEW JEFFERSON HIGH.

Educator Who Has Spent Most of Life in Portland Is Honored by City Directors.

Hopkin Jenkins, principal of the Holladay School, was last night unanimously elected principal of the new Jefferson High School by the Board of Education. Professor Jenkins is one of the most thorough scholars in the service of the Board, besides being considered one of the most popular principals in Portland.

A Yale classmate of 1906, Professor Jenkins graduated with honors in all subjects, taking in addition special honors in history and economics. In 1902 he received his LL.B. at Oregon and, in 1908, was awarded an absent M. A. degree by Yale University for special research work in history.

Although born in California, Professor Jenkins has spent practically all his life in Portland. He passed through the public schools and Bishop Scott Academy before entering Yale. Leaving Yale he was appointed a master in Hill Military Academy and two years later began his public-school career by taking charge of the Latin and history classes at Portland High School, now known as the Lincoln High School.

After spending three years at the Portland High School he was elected principal of the Holman School, a year later being transferred to the Atkinson School. For the past two years he has been principal of the Holladay School and it is said that his work made him eligible for the first high school vacancy that occurred.

The athletic reputation Mr. Jenkins acquired at Yale, no less than his personal conduct of athletics at Lincoln High School, has made him very popular with boys of the schools with which he has been connected.

Not Guilty of Assault.

VANCOUVER, Wash., May 7.—(Special)—In the case of the State of Washington against L. J. Real and Thomas Gregory, tried jointly for assault with intent to kill H. M. Black, the jury returned a verdict of not guilty, after having been out but a short time. The men had an altercation, but the defendants pleaded self-defense.
