Two Face Non-Support Charges.—
Brought back from Albany to face a charge of non-support, the allegation of the state being that he deserted his wife and three children in this city.

A. E. Young was yesterday found guilty by Judge Cleeton and was required to furnish a bond of $500 as a guarantee that hereafter he will pay his wife $40 a month. Valentine Stampf, one of the men on strike from the Harriman shops, faced a similar charge. He pleaded that he could not get work and declared he would not return as long as the strike continues. Judge Cleeton will decide the case later.

Busses Kept From Desot Extrance.
By the terms of a recent order lesued by the management of the Union Depot, all vehicles, with the exception of four taxicabs and one free bus, are now required to take their stand on the opposite side of the street on which the big depot faces. This will aid greatly in relieving the congestion at the depot entrance and at the same time spare the incoming stranger from much of the persistent solicitation of the drivers of hotel busses and other vehicles. Patrolmen will be stationed to see that the orders of the depot management in this regard are respected.

Police Give Silver Set to Woman Who Alded Hewston.

Mrs. Lena P. Graham, the gray-haired motherly woman who bound the wound of Patrolman Hewsten the night of December 20, when Hewston was wounded in a gunfight with Frank Ryan at First and Hall streets was presented a silver set of three pieces Thursday night by the members of the second night relief, of which Hewston was a member. Hewston, two days out of St. Vincent's Hospital, and convalescent, was conveyed to Mrs. Graham's home at 412 First street to be present at the ceremony.

Captain Keller of the relief made the presentation. Engraved on the side of the larger of the pieces was a miniature pelice shield, bearing the number of Hewston's star, 190, and an inscription. The elderly weman almost broke down when she received the present and accepted it with tears.

Mrs. Graham supported Hewston into her home from the street when the builted from Ryan's gun entered his groin, and cared for him until the police automobile arrived from the station to carry him to St. Vincent's Hospital. Mrs. Lena P. Graham, the gray-hafred

Committee Puts Tanks' Zone 1000 Feet Farther Away.

OWNERS PROMPT ACTION

Companies Say Proposed Plan Will Force Them to Establish Plants Beyond City Limits - Fight Over It Expected.

Despite threats of representatives of the Union and Standard Oil Compan-tes that the proposed oil ordinance restricting storage tanks to secluded dis-tricts will occasion a big increase in the price of all classes of oils if passed, the health and police committee of the City Council yesterday affixed still more stringent regulations to the measore and recommended its passage by

The measure, as it was referred to the committee by the Council, prohib-Ited placing of any storage tank or distributing station within 2000 feet of the harbor line, and no nearer than 500 feet to any residence. The com-of the harbor line, and no nearer than 500 feet to any residence. The committee changed the provisions, so that no tank can be built within 2006 feet of the harbor line.

This step was taken at the instigation of residents of the Guilds Lake district, who feared that the ordinance would permit tanks and distribution stations in the heart of their district. If the measure is passed by the Council as it stands, the oil companies in all probability will be required to go beyond the city limits to build their tanks and the city will have to be supplied with all classes of oil from these places instead of from tanks within the fire limits, as at present. It was declared recently by representatives of the oil companies that a tract could not be obtained in the city limits within 2000 feet of the harbor line, and the new provision of 2000 feet adds to the difficulty. It would be necessary, the companies say, to purchase five or six complete blocks of property before a tank could be built.

The oil companies will fight the measure at the next meeting of the Council. It is declared that if the fight is lost and the oil companies have to build outside the city they will have to increase their prices to meet the additional cost of a long haul from the tanks to the consumer.

The committee recommended an amendment to the buildings code yesterday requiring the installation in all buildings erected in the future of an iron box containing a cut-off switch to make possible the shutting off of electricity and gas in buildings in case of fire. The measure as adopted by the committee pertains to residences occupied by two or more families and all buildings over two stories in height. The change was urged by City Electrical Inspector Anderson.

BLOWING OF SAFE IGNITES BLANKETS ON STRONGBOX.

Alarm Reveals Robbery of Front-Street Liquor Store-$250 Taken. Second-Hand Shop Rifled.

Alarm of fire on account of blankets ignited by an explosion of nitro-glyerin revealed to the police yesterday morning the blowing of a safe in the liquor store of H. Varwig & Son, 331 Front street, accomplished by yeggmen earlier in the night. When the amoldering fire in the blankets had been extinguished, it was found that been extinguished, it was found that a large safe had been blown open and about $250 in money had been carried away. It was the first safeblowing of the year in Portland.

The robbers entered the liquor store by forcing their way into a second-hand store next door and sawing through the wall. Then they went to another second-hand store on the farther side from the liquor store and obtained blankets to deaden the sound of the explosion, also carrying away 13 the explosion, also carrying away 12 watches, two revolvers and other ar-watches, two revolvers and other articles.

Blowing of the safe is said by the detectives to be an excellent job by experienced hands. The door was blown away clean, without making unnecessary wreckage. The robbers then extracted the strong box and carried it into the second-hand store, where they sorted the money from checks and other non-negotiable paper, taking only cash.

Patrolman Keegan attended at the Patrolman Keegan attended at the alarm of fire and discovered the burgiary. Detectives were assigned to the case at once and made a careful search of lodging-houses in the neighborhood. As in all such cases, the "job" showed that it had been carefully "located," and reveals the presence of yeggmen in the neighborhood for some time before the act.

In full daylight yesterday morning, two men looted the box office of the Bungalow Theater in a moment's absence of the man in charge, and carried away about $10. Neil McKinnon, who was in charge at the time, had stapped out for a moment and saw two men loitering in the lobby, but did not suspect them at the time. When he returned to the office he discovered the theff, but the men had passed out of sight. He describes them as being both young men. One was dressed in a dark overcoat, black beaver hat and dark suit. The other wore a dark derby and light overcoat. Patrolman Inskeep and Detective Hyde made an
