Democrat Hosts Begin to Pick Out Jobs—Doubt Held as High Reason.

OLD FOES BURY HATCHET

Hearst-Murphy-Bryan Compact May Dictate—Perhaps All Set for Victory—Taggart Delays His "Crimp" for Commoner.

SAMUEL G. BLITHE. (Copyright 1912 Samuel G. Blithe.) BALTIMORE, June 24.—(Special).— "Please sir, buy a ticket to the aviation meet for the benefit of the Fresh Air fund," pleaded a fair young thing in the lobby of the Belvedere. "Really, my dear young lady," replied the Democratic National committee man, to whom she made her plea, "really, I would like to oblige but we do not need the tickets. We are all up in the air as it is."

Now that, of his kind, was a possible joke for a politician, also it contained a germ of truth. The leaders, the led, the delegates, the alternates, the managers, the managed, the insiders, the outsiders, and the spectators of the convention, which was held here for the last time, which was reasonably late in the evening.

Peace Fight Pending. The proposition seems to be that harmony in the Democrat ranks is the most desirable commodity at this juncture, and that nobody present is averse to wading through seas of blood to get it.

Inasmuch as the Democrats are firmly convinced they are starting something here that will be enthusiastically ratified at the polls next November, even the most acrimonious of them are opposed to doing anything that will interfere with the predicted and desired result. They do not want to fight, these Democrats, except to obtain the inevitable blessing of a peace that shall be continuous enough to tide them over until March 4, next, when it may be shattered in the rush for places on the national ticket.

Democrats Picking Jobs. They have begun to pick out their jobs. It is all over except the mere detail of registering here at the convention, the will of the people by the selection after due deliberation of the person who shall inhabit the White House after Mr. Taft gets through with it, and the mere further detail of passing that man along to the people, who will do the triumphant feat at the polls.

Any Democrat who breathes the fear that the nominee of this convention will not be elected, immediately has his license taken away and is fined for smoking in the street. Any doubt is regarded as treason and high treason at that when you consider the Democrats have not had a President since Cleveland went out in 1877.

Perches Set for Victory. Victory, they will tell you, is preparing to perch on their banners and in order that they may easily find the correct perching place, they have erected banners on ever rampart Baltimore boasts and have provided a few fine additional ramparts besides.

Hearst-Murphy Pact Reminded. It was stated that Mr. Hearst and Mr. Murphy, at the verge of an amalgamation that must result in the early selection of Champ Clark as the convention's candidate. This was the most interesting feature of the day, inasmuch as what Mr. Hearst said of Mr. Murphy and what Mr. Murphy said of Mr. Hearst has been the same for some time past.

FOUR PARTICIPANTS IN YESTERDAY'S FRUITLESS EFFORT TO SETTLE DEMOCRATIC CHAIRMANSHIP CONTROVERSY.

are close to an agreement, if, indeed, one has not been reached, and, with two factions, radical and conservative, a good many other leaders might just as well have remained at home.

Taggart Delays "Crimp." Thomas Taggart, of Indiana, the well-known advocate of universal peace, seems to have delayed the putting of that crimp into Mr. Bryan. After A. B. Parker had been named in committee meeting for temporary chairman, and Committee Chairman, of Nebraska, speaking more in sorrow than in anger, had told the committee that much as he regretted it, Mr. Bryan would become a candidate for temporary chairman of the convention himself.

Progressive Nominee Demanded. The day developed nothing of great importance, save the emphasis of the fact that the nominee of the convention must be a progressive. It was a day filled with the blare of bands, the arrival of delegates, the cheering of Democrats who see themselves already victorious, and there was much color and enthusiasm about it all.

So far as results are concerned the day was a lively day, with a lot of action, a lot of enthusiasm and a lot of manipulating, and it closed with every Democrat in the city steadily maintaining that whomsoever is named by the convention, that man will be the next President.

PROGRAMME IS READY

CONVENTION SCHEDULE GIVEN OUT BY DEMOCRATS.

National Chairman Mack Will Call Delegates to Order and Cardinal Will Pray.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 24.—This is the scheduled programme of the Democratic convention:

Tuesday—12 o'clock, noon, convention called to order by National Chairman Norman E. Mack; call for the convention read by Secretary Urey Woodson; opening prayer by Cardinal Gibbons; National committee's selection for temporary chairman announced by Chairman Mack; introduction of temporary chairman and his address; roll call of states for representatives on committee on credentials, permanent organization, rules and order of business, platform and resolutions.

PARKER IS NAMED; EFFORT TO SETTLE CHAIRMANSHIP CONTROVERSY.

Efforts to Placate Nebraskan Fail—Hope of Harmony Suddenly Fades.

BRYAN LOOMS AS NOMINEE

Commoner Insists He Will Carry Contest Against Sage of Esopus to Floor of Convention—Make Race Himself, if Necessary.

(Continued From First Page.) a minority of the Democrats to override the majority in this convention. "There is not a great exploiting interest that is represented in the lobby of the hotel; there is not a corrupting influence in American politics that is not being used, and the delegates to this convention underestimate the intelligence of the men who sent them here if they think they can go back and deceive them into believing that they supported Mr. Parker from any worthy motive."

Harmony Abandoned, Says Bryan. "The talk of harmony is too absurd to deserve consideration. I tried to secure harmony by urging several weeks ago that the committee instructing delegates to the convention to agree upon a candidate for the purpose of avoiding a tie, but they refused to take the choice of either candidate, and at Mr. Murphy's dictation forced Mr. Parker's nomination."

Defeat Not Unexpected. "I have no way of knowing how the convention stands, but the Democrats of the Nation have done enough for me to justify me in suffering myself to be defeated in their hands. One Republican party is enough in this country, for whatever we may call ourselves, if we cannot distinguish ourselves from the Democrats, we are not worth anything."

There was a cheer from the delegates and visitors who were in Mr. Bryan's rooms when the Nebraskan concluded his statement. Mr. Bryan was in conference late tonight with his associates, mapping out tomorrow's contest before the convention. "That the National committee felt the potency of Mr. Bryan's influence became apparent today when a recess was taken to permit a "peace committee" to call on him. The first move of this committee, composed of National Chairman Mack, Chairman of Nebraska, Mr. Bryan together at a conference."

Parker Shows Bryan's Speech. It was said that Judge Parker went over many of the points of his "key-note" speech to the committee. The effort was unavailing. Mr. Bryan soon left the conference, asserting that the committee would not change his attitude on the temporary chairmanship. When Chairman Mack called Judge Parker to the fore, Mr. Parker came out and announced that the committee would go ahead and approve the selection of Judge Parker as temporary chairman.

The convention will get under way tomorrow with seven avowed Presidential candidates in the field, no one of whom has nearly enough delegates instructed or pledged to carry them near the two-thirds vote required to nominate.

Many "Boomers" Nervous. It has been expected by most political observers that in the two weeks preceding the convention some of the candidates might form a coalition, but no such thing had resulted and this now, Mr. Bryan's friends say, augurs well for him. Mr. Bryan will have his report to speak before the convention tomorrow and some of the Presidential hopefuls here are plainly nervous to the effect he might have.

Condition With Republicans Possible. Mr. Bryan frequently in the last few months had said he was not a candidate, but it is difficult to find a state delegation in which he is not discussed as a possibility. One contingency put forward by Mr. Bryan's supporters is that with him in the field there might ensue a coalition with defeated Republicans interested in a third-party movement.

the first ballot, but no other immediate strength is visible for him. Mayor Gaynor's boom is wrapped up in the activity of several "Gaynor Clubs" which have opened headquarters, but it depends upon New York's attitude on the temporary chairmanship and the outcome of the fight tomorrow whether New York's 90 votes will go to Gaynor, Dix or some other New York favorite, or will be thrown to one of the recognized candidates.

DELAWARE SOLID FOR WILSON. Delegation Enforces Unit Rule Despite Protest of Two.

BALTIMORE, June 24.—The Delaware delegation will vote solidly for Governor Wilson until otherwise instructed. They not only failed to do this, but they refused to take the choice of either candidate, and at Mr. Murphy's dictation forced Mr. Parker's nomination.

Y. M. C. A. DELEGATES HERE

Conference Members Stop in City en Route to Gearhart.

Many delegates for the Northwest conference of the Y. M. C. A., to be held at Gearhart June 25 to July 2, arrived in Portland last night, and today will leave by the special train at 1:15 P. M. Among the arrivals was Miss Catherine Reynolds, the office secretary from Seattle, the territorial headquarters.

About 150 have already registered to go by the morning train, not knowing that there is to be a later one, which will get us in there in time for an evening session," said Miss L. B. James. Miss Reynolds will be down early to stop things which would be going through, for we want them all to take a trip around Portland first."

Miss Helen Stafford, of the University of Washington, who will converse duct normal classes in bible study, and Miss Elizabeth Fox, student secretary of the Northwest left last night for Gearhart Park. Altogether 300 delegates will be present, of which number about 60 will go from Portland.

OFFICERS RECOVER LOOT

Powis Silverware Found at Station When Yeggman Confesses.

Through a confession made by Frank Edwards, yeggman, to Detective Coleman at the police station yesterday morning, silverware valued at $500, stolen a week ago from the home of G. W. Powis, 643 East Couch street, was recovered. The loot was found intact in a suitcase at the Union Depot, where it was to have been shipped. Edwards was caught by Patrolman McCarthy, early one morning last week, in a saloon at First and Madison streets, where, it is charged, he had stolen $50. He was indicted by the grand jury for this offense. Suspecting that Edwards knew of the Powis burglary, the officers questioned him yesterday and he consented to show them where the loot was hidden. Three others were involved in the burglary, he said.

Freight Tariff on Coal Reduced.

Freight officials of the O-W. R. & N. yesterday announced a reduction in its tariff on coal from Tono, Wash., to Portland from $1.60 to $1.40 per gross ton of 2240 pounds. A similar reduction has been made on the same product from Mendota on the Centralia Eastern Railroad to this city. The purpose of these reductions, according to W. D. Skinner, general freight agent, is to encourage the development of the coal lands of the Centralia district.

MRS. HUTTON SAVING

She Does Laundry and Shocks Baltimore Bluebloods.

"TOO FINICAL," SHE SAYS

Spokane Suffragist Declares She Saw Nothing Objectionable on Her Washline, as Stockings Were Not Washed.

BALTIMORE, June 24.—(Special).—In opinion of May Arkwright Hutton, of Spokane, Wash., the oldest families of Baltimore are all together too finical to be agreeable.

When Mrs. Hutton arrived in the convention city, she was unable to find hotel accommodations, and was assigned a room with one of the oldest families of this old commonwealth to stay.

In looking over her wardrobe, Mrs. Hutton found she was running short of clean clothes and washed her own laundry in the bathroom. She had found Baltimore prices abnormally high and did not propose to bow to the two-day time, Mrs. Hutton hung her clothes in the front window to dry and almost immediately the daughter of her landlady rushed up to her room and informed her that "mother could not have clothing displayed in her front windows."

The clothes came down but when they did Mrs. Hutton remarked that she could not see anything objectionable on her wash line, as she had not washed her stockings.

BALTIMORE, Md., June 24.—(Special).—May Arkwright Hutton, of Spokane, is the only member of the Washington delegation having one whole vote, all others have half a vote each.
