CENTRAL EAST PORTLAND AFTER PLAYGROUND.—Efforts to secure two small parks for Central East Portland which were started several years ago have been renewed. Superintendent Mische, in his talk at a recent meeting of the Greater Portland Plans' Association in East Portland Library, said playgrounds are needed in Central East Portland and Albina. There will be a meeting of all interested in securing these parks in Central East Portland in the auditorium of the East Portland Library at the conclusion of the Ellis' grand lodge when the campaign for these playgrounds will be started. A tract is wanted in the vicinity of Hawthorne Park or the Washington High School and also north of the Buckman building. From two to four blocks in each playground will be urged.

OREGON EXHIBITS GIVE PROMISE.—Co-operation of commercial organizations all over the state is assured by the Portland Commercial Club in the campaign it has inaugurated for collecting exhibits of Oregon products to be displayed at the exposition to be held throughout the states of the Middle West next winter. These assurances are being received by the Portland Commercial Club in the form of letters which were sent out some time ago soliciting the assistance of each commercial body in an effort to make the exhibit not only thoroughly representative but entirely creditable to the state. Because of this very lack of co-operation last year, the exhibit from this state at these annual shows was not what it should have been.

GROUND BROKEN FOR LIBRARY.—Work was started this week on the foundation of the North Albina Branch Library building at the corner of Killingsworth avenue and Commercial street. The building will be two stories and will be of brick with stone trimmings. The estimated cost is $35,000. An auditorium will be placed on the second floor. It is expected that it will be completed about September 1st and opened in the fall. Miss Mary F. Isom, librarian, expects that the Albina Library building, on Knott street, also will be completed about September 1st and opened in the fall.

EXTENSION OF GRAND AVENUE SETTLED.—Extension of Grand avenue south from Woodway street to the edge of the bluff above the Willamette River to a connection with Millwaukie street is assured. This extension will be about 1,000 feet long and will be through the Reel College grounds. It was through the efforts of W. J. Clemens that the proceedings for this extension were started and carried to the present point in the proceedings. There is also agitation for the opening of Grand avenue North from Hancock street to the Columbia boulevard and finally extending it from the Willamette to the Columbia rivers.

EAST STARK SEWER COMPLETED.—The first section of the East Stark street sewer from the Willamette River to East Twenty-first street has been completed, and the work is progressing on the second section between East Twenty-first and East Forty-third streets. The big sewer, which is 6 feet in diameter, was laid in the middle of the street. The first section cost $44,000 and the second $110,000. The two sections are the big tube which will drain Center Addition, North Mount Tabor and Montavilla.

MINERS' ASSOCIATION TO MEET.—The State Miners' Association will hold a meeting in room 608 Eilers building, this evening at 8 o'clock. There will be numbers of vocal and instrumental music interspersed with short speeches on the future outlook of mine development in Oregon, and needed laws for the protection of the mine owners and investors from the promoters. All who are interested in the development of the state are invited.

CAMP NO. 77 WINS $300 MEMBERSHIP PRIZE.—Multnomah Camp No. 77, Woodmen of the World, has won a $300 prize for securing 150 new members by July 1. The prize was offered by the head managers, and Multnomah won. The camp will have 3200 members after the meeting tonight when 50 new members will be initiated. This places the camp next to San Francisco in point of numbers.

REV. WINDFORD DIES.—Mrs. Windford died at her home in Montavilla Wednesday at 43 years of age. She is survived by a widower, James Ward. The funeral will be held today from St. Francis church, East Twelfth and East Pine streets, and the interment will be in Mount Calvary cemetery.

REVERSE PROPERTY OWNERS TO MEET.—Property owners interested in the north extension of the Riverside sewer will meet tonight in the fire hall on Albina avenue, near Killingsworth avenue.

HOLLADAY GETS BAND TONIGHT.—The Portland Park Band will give a concert at 8 o'clock tonight in Holladay Park.

AD CLUB TO PICNIC.—Members of the Portland Ad Club will hold their first annual picnic at Estacada next Sunday. Aside from enjoying the matchless natural scenery that is to be viewed from that point, the picnicers will be entertained with every conceivable sort of race and other novel athletic stunts that the resourceful committee on entertainment can devise. The principal event of the day will be a game of baseball between the admen embraced by the West extension of the Umatilla irrigation project, impatient because of the lack of action on the part of the department, have appealed by telegram to Secretary of the Interior Fisher for greater expedition. Since the extension of the Umatilla project was approved last Fall after a delay of two years and all water rights have been determined, there should exist no further excuse for postponement of action on the part of the department.

UMATILLA SETTLERS IMPATIENT.—Owners of land included in the district embraced by the West extension of the Umatilla irrigation project, impatient because of the lack of action on the part of the department, have appealed by telegram to Secretary of the Interior Fisher for greater expedition. Since the extension of the Umatilla project was approved last Fall after a delay of two years and all water rights have been determined, there should exist no further excuse for postponement of action on the part of the department.

STAGE LURES HUNDREDS

WOULD-BE ACTORS WANT TO "GO ON" WITHOUT PAY.

"The Bridge of the Gods" Managers Besieged by Those Who Ask for Jobs in Cast.

At least 200 persons have offered to participate in the forthcoming production of "The Bridge of the Gods" next Monday and Wednesday without a salary of any description. One hundred more are so anxious to go on the road with the show that they have offered to travel without salary and to pay all their own expenses.

W. B. Armstrong, superintendent of construction, and Carl Stockdale, stage director, have been deluged with requests of this nature. "One more day of this and I will cut my telephone wire and barricade Multnomah Club grounds," said Mr. Armstrong, after you have told about 200 'distinguished amateurs' that we are using actors and not rubbish, the thing becomes monotonous. Judging by the heavy demand for seats at Rowe & Martin's and the many inquiries from Elks and others, Portland people seem to have taken "The Bridge of the Gods" to themselves. As no word has been received for two days from A. du Gas, the Indian scout, who is engaging redmen for the show, it is supposed that the former Indian fighter is marching or riding his captives from Eastern Oregon to Portland.

"The Bridge of the Gods" company did not find July 4 a day of rest. Twenty-five scene-shifters toiled erecting the scenery, while 200 members of the company rehearsed on the field under Director Stockdale.

in Becker's "Evening Bells" formed a quiet treat, while the rousing reception awarded to Sullivan's "Lost Chord" showed that this number hasn't lost any of its old-time popularity. Krenser's "Starland," with its sudden yell at the finale, provoked lots of laughter. Buck's "Dixie Song" was finely sung. In "Bugle," as usual, this Northern song and adopted by Southerners as their own, won a generous encore. In place of Joseph P. Muller, tenor, who is suffering from laryngitis, Don J. Zan sang in fine style, two songs, and was gladly welcomed. Mr. Zan was in his best voice. The piano accompanist was William C. McCulloch.

Excursion to Ohio Proposed.

The Ohio Society held its regular

It was decided to hold a basket picnic at Estacada, Sunday, August 4. Judge J. C. Bell spoke and he did O. P. Hoff, state labor commissioner, the guest of honor.
