'DUMMIES' IN OFFICE

Hawthorne Mine President Has No Money Invested.

OFFICE VISITED SELDOM

Salesman "Believes" He Is Secretary-Treasurer of One of Companies—Engineer Repudiates Letter Used.

NEW YORK, Dec. 6.—The Government introduced testimony today to discredit portions of letters and circulars describing favorably the various Hawthorne mines, in the trial of Julian Hawthorne, Josiah Quincy, Albert Freeman and Dr. William J. Morton, accused of making fraudulent use of the mails in promoting Canadian mining claims.

Federal attorneys sought to show, also, that "dummy" officers were elected in several companies.

William F. Wilkinson, mining engineer, examined a Hawthorne letter in which he was purported to have offered "anything in reason" for a majority interest. He denied ever having offered to buy a majority of Temagami stock.

Use of Name Objected To. He had written to Mr. Morton about such representations, he said. One of his letters was introduced, showing he had objected to the use of his name "in such an impudent fashion."

Woodford Brooks, formerly of Atlanta, Ga., and Fort Worth, president of the Temagami-Cobalt Mining Company, testified regarding a report he was purported to have made to Hawthorne regarding the property. He said he did not make the report and that the only time he visited a mine was when he was a boy.

"I forget whether it was an asbestos mine or a coal mine," he added.

President's Duties Nominal. Mr. Brooks said Freeman in 1907 asked him to become president and he did so, holding the position three months. He said he put up no money, visited the office "for a short time once a week" and that his duties were "signing checks, principally."

William F. Melhus, salesman, testified he "believed he was secretary-

100 LIVES AT STAKE IN MORNING BLAZE

Old Rookery at Third and Burnside Streets Burns Like So Much Tinder.

MANY ROOMERS BESOTTED

Property Loss Not Great but Police Have Hard Time Routing Lodgers Accustomed to Raids and Rude Awakenings.

Starting suddenly from undetermined causes a fire which broke out early yesterday morning in the back end of the pawn shop of Sam Masourosky, at Third and Burnside streets, spread with great rapidity through the intricate passages of the rookery in which the shop is established, doing extensive damage to numerous places of business and ending when the lives of 100 or more lodgers in the upper stories. So rapidly did the flames reach out from the moment when they were discovered that a large squad of policemen had to use rough and ready tactics in emptying the various lodgings of their tenants.

Most of the persons sleeping overhead were typical North End transients and many of them were stupid with drink. Accustomed to molestation by the police, they were not easily made to realize their danger and many responded only to strong-arm methods. Thanks to police efficiency the buildings were cleared ahead of the flames and no lives were lost or personal injuries sustained.

Flames Spread Fast. When first observed by Patrolmen Niles and Hutchings the fire seemed to be just starting at the rear of the Masourosky place. Scarcely had the officers turned in an alarm when there appeared to be an explosion and a great sheet of flame burst out. Directly overhead is the Eagle rooming-house, while the pawnshop occupies an enclosed corner of the big Erickson saloon, now under the management of Fritz & Russell. These establishments were directly in the line of the fire and were totally destroyed.

The eastern half of the big saloon was not injured and continued doing business yesterday making a harvest from the curious who, by entering the saloon could almost at the limits of the havoc made in the other wing of the building. On account of the huddled character of the ancient buildings the firemen were greatly handicapped, the fire finding new drafts as often as former ones were discovered and attacked. Nevertheless a "good stop" was made, and the flames were checked almost at the limits of the building in which they started. Beyond this point, damage was done by water and smoke. The principal losses are:

Traffic Is Suspended. Erickson's saloon, $30,000, with $1300 insurance; Chicago Clothing House, $2000; Dewey Annex, $2000; F. A. Nobe, barber, $500; National Pawnshop, $1000; Eagle rooming-house, $2000; M. Hickman, second-hand store, $250; Elite barber shop, $200; Dewey rooming-house, $500.

The fire caused entire suspension of traffic over the Burnside bridge and on Second and Third streets, and delayed all residents of the northeast section of the city traveling toward the business district before 8 o'clock.

REDUCED FARES EXPECTED

Advices From Chicago Indicate Coast Will Get Summer Rates.

Efforts of the Northwestern and California cities to obtain round-trip rates for the several conventions and special events to be held on the Coast next summer probably will be successful, according to advices yesterday from Chicago, where the Transcontinental Passenger Association is in session.

The association already has agreed to grant the usual summer tourist rates of $72.50 from Chicago, $42 from St. Louis and $49 from St. Paul, Minneapolis and Missouri River points, and earlier in the week expressed an intention to ignore the request of the Coast cities for the customary reduction to the conventions and special occasions on the ground that travel is not heavy enough to justify it.

However, the World's Christian Citizenship Congress in Portland and the National convention of the Association of Charities and Corrections in Seattle are expected to cause the passenger men to grant a round-trip fare for these events about $5 below the tourist rate. If this is done the Rose Festival in Portland and the Fetich in Seattle will be similarly accommodated, although the railroads point out that no noticeable travel to those events ever has originated from points east of the immediate Northwest.

The railroads are concentrating their efforts now on the summer tourist travel and promise to arrange the dates when tourist tickets will be sold so that persons in the East desiring to attend any of the special attractions can come here on tourist tickets.

Typhoid in Oregon City Water. OREGON CITY, Or., Dec. 6.—(Special.)—The report of Dr. Calvin S. White, secretary of the State Board of Health, that the Oregon City drinking water contains typhoid germs, it is believed, will result in the cleaning of the reservoir and the filtration plant. There are about 50 cases of fever in the city, and the residents are urged to use no water for drinking that has not been boiled. It has also been suggested that all the drinking fountains be closed until analysis show that the water has become pure.
