SAN FRANCISCO, April 4.—(Special.)—Poor pitching, when pitching was needed, a failure to take advantage of the wildness of Gene Krapp, who passed eight men, all told, and weak hitting, when compared with the enemy, all had something to do with the victory of the Portland Beavers today and the failure of the Seals to do better than get on the wrong end of a 4-to-3 score.

Although Delhi finished in good style, he had absolutely nothing on the ball in the first two innings, and it was during that period of the game that the northerners did all their scoring. Gene Krapp was wild in all of the eight innings that he pitched, and although he had men on the bases in six out of the eight innings, the Seals seemed powerless to convert into runs.

Johnston Hits in Run. Jimmy Johnston, the new outfielder, was in the lineup for San Francisco, and if his fellows had done as well as he in upholding the honor of the home crowd there might have been a different story. His performance consisted of one single out of four times at bat, but that single scored a runner ahead of him.

With the grounds still slippery and soggy from a night's rain, the Beavers adopted the style of play that was most calculated to recover, and they put over enough runs to land them the victory.

Howard sent in a galaxy of pinch hitters at the close of the ninth inning in a vain effort to pull the fat out of the fire and he came within one run of a tied score. Joe Wagner was the chap who made the hit, but he scored a run kicking in with a hard drive to left, thereby batting 1.000 for the season.

Beavers Score by Bunting. The trouble started when Fitzgerald bunted in front of the pitcher in the first. Lindsay rolled on toward Cartwright and "Carty" with no chance to get his man at first, made an overthrow that sent the ball into the bleachers. Fitzgerald went to third and Lindsay to second, both of them tallying when Rodgers put one over second into the outfield. Fitzgerald tried to short for an out, but Derrick slanted the pill to left and Rodgers was caught at the plate on Johnston's nice throw.

McCormick led off in the second with a home run, after which Berry walked. Krapp sacrificed, Chadbourne singled the catcher along to the plate and Fitzgerald brought him home with a sacrifice fly to left.

A walk for Rodgers and a two-base against the right fielder allowed Krueger made the situation threatening in the third, but there was one down and Derrick grounded to Delhi, who threw Rodgers back to home. The Seals confined their scoring to the first, second and last innings. The score: Portland 4, H.A. 3, O.A.E. 0.

OAKS WIN 13-INNING BATTLE

Stroud Weakens and Senators Let 3 Runs Cross Plate at Finish. SACRAMENTO, Cal., April 4.—Bert Coy's three bagger and Gus Hettling's single were all that were needed by Oakland to defeat Sacramento in the 13th inning here today, for Dolly Stark contributed a wide peg to first and Jack Bliss a wide throw to third in the same inning and three Oakland runs went over the plate, breaking up a three-to-three tie score. Stroud succeeded Arrellanes on the mound for Sacramento in the eighth after two Oakland runs had overcome the local's lead and tied the score. Stroud held the Oaks hitless and a walk and an error accounted for the only two men who got on the bags for Oakland until the thirteenth.

But Malarkey was just about as effective after relieving Pope in the eighth. Two hits were all the Wolves made off him. In the 11th Stark was on third with one out when Shinn was at bat. Stark started to steal home and appeared to have made it in safety when Empire ruled Shinn out for interfering with the catcher. Malarkey had delivered the ball as a fairly pitched ball and Shinn did not step outside of the batter's box. Mittle stepped up to the plate to take the ball and Shinn hit him with his elbow as he drew back to swing his bat. Score: Oakland 4, Sacramento 3, 13 1/2.

Batteries—Parkin, Pope, Malarkey and Mittle; Arrellanes, Stroud and Bliss.

The infield worked out as it is expected to face the Brooklyn Nationals tomorrow in the first big league game of the season in metropolitan territory—Chance playing first, Chase second, Derrick short and Hartzell third, with Volter, Cree and Daniels in the outfield.

8 FIERCE BOUTS PROMISED TONIGHT

Armory Athletic Club to Make Its Debut With Rattling Good Programme.

ARMY SENDS FAST BOYS

Rivalry Between Men From Barracks and Militia Intense — Thrills Probable in Several of Well-Matched Affairs.

With eight high-class boxing bouts, the famous Coast Artillery Corps Band, and uniformed officials, the Armory Athletic Club will make its 1913 debut with a programme tonight in the Armory.

In the eight bouts will appear boxers from eight organizations of Portland and Vancouver. The three or four Vancouver boys come from the United States Army Post, but the mitt-flingers will sport the colors of the St. James Athletic Club.

While the boys who have performed before Portland audiences are the big drawing cards, the mills between the regulars in Kennedy and Battery A, who has been using three men in workouts every afternoon. Thompson, of the Barracks, is confident that he can best Kinsley, of the Battery, but the latter's friends are willing to treat the Vancouverites to a dinner if he loses.

Chester A. Rodgers, an 185-pounder, and Vancouver, who weighs at 170 pounds, will be over from Vancouver to seek matches which may be arranged as added attractions.

Mebus and Madden, from Multnomah Club and Policeman's Club, respectively, will tangle in one of the feature bouts. Madden has been working hard for ten days, ever since he agreed to meet Mibush, and feels sure that he can even up for that doubtful defeat at the hands of Mark O'Donnel last Spring by defeating Mibush, a teammate of the big fellow who turned professional.

The McNell-Maloney affair, the scintillating contest of the night, will bring two decidedly clever men together. Ralph Gruman, the Columbus Club 125-pounder, slightly injured his hand in training Thursday, but announced last night that he would be on hand to meet Allen of Butler's School.

Frankie O'Brien, a militia boxer who is now a professional, will referee the bouts. Handsome gold medals will be awarded to the winners.

The following is the programme, which starts promptly at 8:20 o'clock. Mebus vs. Mebus, Multnomah Club, vs. Madden, Policeman's Club, 125 pounds—Gruman, Columbus Club, vs. Allen, Butler's School.

He worked too hard and too long for the first battle. He is to box with his regular, Fred. Forty-two mitt artists will don the gloves to appear in exhibitions.
