Craft, Bound From Redondo to San 000, Is Reported Total Wreck. Lifeboats Are Used.

SAN LUIS OBISPO, Cal., June 27 .-Reports received here tonight say that the lumber steamer Casco, Captain Jacobson, went on the rocks off Point San Simeon, between Piedras Blancas and Cayucos, late today and is a total wreck

The crew of 18 men escaped in life boats after a struggle, according to the report.

A hole was torn in the vessel's hull when she struck and when it was found that the pumps could not avail against the inrush of water, Captain Jacobson ordered the steamer beached. The crew took to the boats before the Casco

The Casco was bound from Redondo 1 for San Francisco.

The Casco is of 198 net tons and was built at Marshfield, Or., in 1906. She is 160 feet long. Swayne & Hoyt are owners and the vessel is valued at about $80,000.

JOBHOLDER ASKED TO QUIT Martin Langguth, Capitol Engineer, to Leave Position July 1.

SALEM, Or., June 27 .- (Special.)-Martin Langguth, engineer at the State House for about two years, has resigned at the request of Secretary of State Olcott, custodian of the building. The resignation will become effective Mr. Langguth was a member of a New York company during the Civil War, Sedwick Post, Grand Army of the Republic, at a recent meeting, adopted a resolution commending the Secretary of State for keeping Mr. Langguth in the employment of the state. Mr. Olcott when asked about his action said, in part:

"While I regret, on account of Mr. Langguth's family, that publicity has been given to this matter by Mr. Langguth, as long as it has been done, I desire that the facts be set out correctly, and, which in short are: Mr. Langguth has been employed as fire-man or engineer at the capitol build-ling for about two years. He is under the direct supervision of George Dunsford, supervisor of the building and crounds, a man in whom I have un-limited confidence. Mr. Dunsford re-ported Mr. Lungguth's services as be-

Carelessness in sanitation in the most crowded sections of the city. The contract with the company which collects garbage expires in August and the city authorities have already hinted that householders will be expected to care for their own garbage after that time. This prospect has aroused a great storm of protest, for it is realized that this would mean deaths by the wholesale.

Dispatches tonight from the Pacific Northwest announce that heavy rains have relieved the situation in that country and also have assured record crops of cereals and fruits. APOLLO CLUB SINGS AT OAKS IN BUSINESS SUITS.

Never Have Choristers Shaded More Skillfully in Obeying Marks of Musical Expression.

BY JOSEPH M. QUENTIN. Dignity was cast aside by the Apollo Club last night at the Oaks, in its an-ual Summer concert, and the occasion was one long, joyous feast of mile-voice song. People are accustomed to observe the Apollo Club singers in conventional evening dress and applaud them as they sing carefully-rendered, high-class, male-voice compositions, but last night the clubmen wore their every-day business suits and sang with a freedom and ease that can only be possible under such holiday circumstances.

Was so well sung that the encore was merited. There ought to have been another amusing number, in addition to Rogers' "But They Didn't." The latter was mest laughable, and deservedly popular. There could have been improvement only in one department last night, in a better and more prompt intonation in the beginning of selections. For Joseph P. Mulder, tenor, sang with fine effect, "I Arise From Dreams of Thee" (Bruno-Hahn) and his encore was "Come Into the Garden, Love" (Salter). It was a pleasure to hear once more—and yet again—the veteran Boyer quartet, composed of W. H. once more—and yet again—the veteran Boyer quartet, composed of W. H. Boyer, H. A. Hogue, Dom J. Zan and W. A. Montgomery, and they were loudly encored. Observing the instantaneous success of the Boyer quartet, another male quartet, the "Bee," composed of Frank Branch Riley, H. A. Hogue, C. B. Aitchison and Henry Teal, sang the affecting ditty, "Has Anybody Seen Boyer?" with such eleverness that a rousing encore was given. Mr. Riley's opening speech was bright with repartee and jokes.

William H. Boyer was again a resourceful director and the accompanitments were admirably played by William C. McCulloch. The audience was large and enthusiastic.

Advice to Expectant Mothers

The experience of Motherhood is a trying one to most women and marks distinctly an epoch in their lives. Not one woman in a hundred is prepared or understands how to properly care for herself. Of course nearly every woman nowadays has medical treatment at such times, but many approach the experience with an organism unfitted for the trial of strength, and when it is over her system has received a shock from which it is hard to recover. Following right upon this comes the nervous strain of caring for the child, and a distinct change in the mother results.

There is nothing more charming than a happy and healthy mother of children, and indeed child-birth under the right conditions need be no hazard to health or beauty. The unexplainable thing is that, with all the evidence of shattered nerves and broken health resulting from an unprepared condition, and with ample time in which to prepare, women will persist in going blindly to the trial.

Every woman at this time should rely upon Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism.

In many homes once childless there are now children because of the fact ] that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound makes

Report of the General Manager

OF MOTHERHOOD The Port of Portland Commission

Published by Order of the Commission.

THE PORT OF PORTLAND COMMISSION. Gentlemen: Below is a review of the work performed during 1912, also figures showing the cost of operation of the different departments during that year, and a comparison with the cost of operation for 1911. The earnngs for each department for the two years also are shown below. DRY DOCK.

During the year 1912 several improvements were made at the dry dock. A six-inch water main was covered its entire length from the North property line to both ends of the dry dock wharf with a box covered with galvanized from and filled with sawdust. This is to prevent freezing and also to allow the employes to be able to turn the water on at the dock instead of, as here-tofore, having to go to the north property line beside the O.-W. R. & N. track to turn the water on in cold weather.

A smell track has been laid the full length of the wharf for convenience in handling heavy machinery and castings.

A new lib-volt circuit was installed with two are lights on each pontion and two switches, the latter to be used in running wires to the switchboard on any vessel on the dock with an electric light plant, on which the owners wished to work at night. This has been very much appreciated by ship owners and captains.

Operating Expenses-Dry Deck. 1911......

TOWAGE AND PILOTAGE DEPARTMENT.

TOWAGE AND PILOTAGE DEPARTMENT.

The improvements and renewals in this department are as follows: Electric light plant on the tug Wallula, wireless equipment on the tugs Oncenta and Wallula and the pilot schooner Joseph Pulitzer. All three of these vessels were thoroughly overhauled last Winter, the Oncenta having been given special attention and considerable money having been spent on this tug.

On account of competition by an outside tugboat company, the operating expenses were some higher than in 1911 and the earnings very much decreased, probably 50 per cent.

The operating expenses also were much higher than in 1911 on account of the present manner in which the bar tugs are operated. Up to September, 1911, the tugs did not maintain a regular station off the mouth of the Columibia River; they simply laid at Astoria and went out to the lightship probably once a day, or if no ships were reported and the weather was bad, they would so down to Fort Stevens and return to Astoria later in the day.

During 1912 a continuous service has been maintained off the mouth of the Columbia River and the tugs have been operated up to their limit all of the time except when they were actually laid up for repairs. A great deal more oil and other supplies have been consumed than would have been under former conditions. On account of the competition, the tugs quite often crused off the mouth of the Columbia River to or 70 miles to pick up a vessel, and at one time the Wallula picked up a ship 110 miles off the lightship and towed her to Astoira. Service of this nature is highly satisfactory to the shipowner and captain, but it is very expensive for the Port.

During all of the year 1912 there was no such thing as "slow bell" known on these tugs; it was either "full speed ahead" or "stop."

No serious accident took place during the year with the exception of the Wallula losing a lifeboat when coming into the river during had weather. The operating expenses of the different tugs for the years 1911-12 and the net increase or decre

The apparent increase in operating expenses on the Columbia is caused on account of working two months longer in 1912 than 1911, but actually the expense per month is less, as shown in summary:
