order book of a star drummer on a fat trip look like the statement of a deficit, Portland's Coast League bail team returns from California today for a three weeks' seeding.

We offer as our daily thought for the uplifting of upright Portland the cogliation and pleasing memory that the Beavers left bome in fifth place and now return in third. On their two weeks' trip they captured 11 games and lost only five. They began by breaking even on an eight-game series with the Seals and eight-game series with the Seals and then took unto themselves seven games in eight from Oakland. The horrid treatment handed the Oaks dropped them from second place to the cellar, and serves to emphasize the fact that there may yet be a strenuous upset among the Coast League leaders.

Los Angeles eased off four games in six to Sacramento and as Venice broke even with the Seals there was a notice-able tightening of the extremes on the

It is a commonly-accepted theory that a good team will do its best work at home, and, if the Portland Beavers live up to theoretical rules, they will have the fans here begging them to

Last year Portland beat Sacramento 25 and lost only 13 games; thus far in 1913 Portland has won seven and lost five in the two series with the Senators. Klawitter, now with the enemy, beat Sacramento nine games in ten pitched last season. Higginbotham won five in six and has taken four straight pitched last season. Higginbotham won five in six and has taken four straight this Summer, giving him an equally remarkable toll.

But Sacramento has won three straight series now, proving that Wolverton has his men keyed up to a winning tension, and the Beavers will have their work cut out for them this woek. On the last trip north Sacramento broke even in six games.

Williams, the Sacramento stat, did not pitch last week against the Angels because of a had nock, so it will be

Against the Seals Portland knocked out 74 hits to 63 for the opponents; against Oakland 87 hits to 51, this terrific fusillade being good for 64 runs

Halli-nan banged out two home runs last week and two two-baggers, all in all,

On the Portland club Bill Rodgers enjoyed a unique distinction last week. Rodgers led the league in number of runs scored—nine. In the 12 weeks up to that time he had registered only 10, so a comparison shows how busy he must have kept the bell-ringers.

Walter Doane, the popular gardener, also copped off a few hunks of laurelbaum. This speed merchant stole no fewer than four bases in the eight games, leading the league for the week's receipts. Rodgers and Johnston tied for second with three aplece.

Bill Lindsay is still the batking of the league. For the first 13 weeks of the campaign his batting compilation is as follows: AB. 195, hits 63, average 2023. His rival slugsmiths seem to have fallen away considerably, for Maggart, McCredie. Pacific Coast— Northwestorn—

No Tennis Play in Recent Years Has so Stirred Two Continents as That Played by Youngster Against Scotch-Irish Champ.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 30. Maurice E. McLoughlin, of San Francisco, the young American lawn tennis champion, today brilliantly cleared another fence barring his way to the title of all-England champion, which is pracaccepted as the world's lawr tennis championship, by beating the formidable J. C. Parke, Irish and Scotlish champion, by three straight sets in the semi-final round. The scores were 6-4, 6-4, 6-4. Americans on the ground were ready before the match to wager the Statue of Liberty on the chances of their champion.

No match in recent years had so stirred the lawn tennis world, and fully 5000 enthusiasts gathered round the center court on the championship center court on the championship ground to witness the great struggle. The American champion, with his fierce hitting and his panther-like ac-tivity, especially during the second set, roars of applause from the excited spectators.

Parke Takes First Game.

Parke took the first game. The next two games were taken by McLoughlin, who, coming close to the net, and using his favorite cross shots, quickly estab-lished a lead of three games to one. Then the Irishman rallied, and with a Then the Irishman railied, and with a series of beautiful passing drives, crept to 4-3 and then to 5-4. As soon, however, as the Californian fell back and adopted his opponent's tactics he won the next game and the set.

The second set opened evenly, each winning his service until the seventh game, when McLoughlin won on the Irishman's service.

Why the wonderful spurt shown by the Portland club? Simple answer, McCredle has an outfield that is hitting the ball when hits mean runs. Until the could determine just where to place the ball when hits mean runs. Until the time that Mac subpenated Lober and Speak, the infield was bearing the ball around the first sack, but his reverse of what it should be.

Take last week as a sample. Three outfielders, Chadbourne. Doane and bearing of McArdle will not be permanent, according to the lineup regularly.

Daore, banged the pellet at a terrific pace, while Speak are ranks as Hogan's second bourne hit .366 in the climbt against the Oaks; Doane plugged the ball for .381 and Lober .352. Do you wonder that the Beavers made 35 runs last week to Oakland's 177.

But the outfield is not entitled to all the glory. Bill Rodgers recovered from his temporary siump last week and what he of the lineup regular position is second from his temporary siump last week and what he week to Oakland's 177.
