ELLIOTT IS MADE NEW HAVEN'S HEAD

May Be Either J. M. Hannaford or G. T. Slade.

NEW JOB TO BE CREATED

Eastern Road Will Create Position of Chairman of Board of Directors, in Charge of Entire Railway System.

NEW YORK, July 25.—Howard Elliott, president of the Northern Pa-cific, was elected president and director of the New Haven Railroad today. With this announcement, interest in railroad circles shifted to the probable succes-sor to Mr. Elliott as head of the Northern Pacific, and it was said those most prominently mentioned were J. M. Hanprominently mentioned were 3. and naford, second vice-president, and George T. Slade, third vice-president, of the Northern Pacific. Railroad men here were most inclined to predict the selection of Mr. Slade, who is a son-in-law of James J. Hill and a railroad man of wide experience in the oper-ating department; if either of these Dutles to Be Increased. In connection with the election of Mr. Elliott to the New Haven presi-dency, it was announced that he would become chairman of the board of directors, in control of the entire New Haven system, as soon as the bylaws of the company could be amended to create that position. This probably will be at the stockholders' meeting in October. President Mellen will con-tinue in office until September 1. Mr. Elliott was born in New York in 1860. He was educated at Harman

Mr. Elliott was born in New York in 1860. He was educated at Harvard, receiving a C. E. degree in 1881. For a time he served as rodman with an engineering corps on the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, later becoming general freight and passenger agent of the same road, and then vice-president. He was made president of the Northern Pacific October 21, 1903.

Obedience to Law Promised.

Mr. Elliott said tonight:
"I realize full well the burdens and responsibilities that must be carried by any railroad executive in these days of complex relations between the Government—National, state and municipal—the public that ruist be served. ipal—the public, that must be served safely and reasonably, the owners and directors who must receive fair treatment and compensation for their in-vestment and labor in their efforts to produce the service the public demands. the press, that is such a powerful in-fluence in advancing the welfare of the country by creating a sound public opinion. The laws, rules and regulations laid down by proper governmental author-ity will be obeyed. If they are such as te cripple the effectiveness and to hamper the development of the railroad in its efforts to help the public a statement to that effect will be made, and a request to the public, in their own interest as well as in the interest of the railroad, to permit reasonable

SLADE THOUGHT PROBABILITY

Mr. Hannaford Understood Not to Be Ambitious to Be President.

It is regarded in Portland railroad circles as probable that George T. Slade will succeed Howard Elliott as president of the Northern Pacific. While J. M. Hannaford, second vice-president, outranks Mr. Slade, who is third vice-president, it is understood that Mr. Hannaford has no ambilon to be pres-

Mr. Slade now has operating charge of the Northern Pacific. He makes periodical visits to Portland. The last time he was here was about a year ago. Ever since it became apparent that Mr. Elliott would succeed Presi-dent Mellen, of the New Haven road, Mr. Slade has been mentioned persistently as the successor to Mr. Elliott, The fact that Mr. Slade is the son-inof James J. Hill adds strength to this suggestion. Mr. Hill now has a strong voice in Northern Pacific affairs. The elevation of Mr. Slade to the presidency would give him addi-tional power there. Mr. Slade married Charlotte E. Hill, favorite daughter of James J. Hill, on November 9, 1901. She herself is an experienced railroad woman. Both her father and her husband frequently consult her on impor-tant executive affairs. It is related of the Colonel is t that Mr. Hill frequently has accepted her advice on matters of moment, to find that her judgment was good.

Mr. Slade is a native of New York City, 42 years old and a Yale gradu-He began his railroad career as clerk with the Great Northern and advanced through various positions to that of superintendent. At one time he was located at Spokane. From 1899 to 1903 he was superintendent and general superintendent of the Erie & Wyoming Valley road at Scranton, Pa., and following the absorption of that line by the Erie was general superintendent at Jersey City. From 1903 to 1997 he was general superintendent of the Great Northern. He broke with the Hills and Mr. Elliott made him general manager of the Northern Pacific, From that position he was advanced to that of third vice-president.

Mr. Hannaford has been a traffic man all his life. At one time he was head of the traffic department of the Union Pacific. He and Mr. Mellen mar ried sisters. It was Mr. Mellen, when the latter was president of the Northern Pacific, who brought him to that

The election of Mr. Elliott to the presidency of the New Haven brings four former officials of the Burlington into prominence as among the leading railroad executives of the country, Be-sides Mr. Elliott, they are: W. C. Brown, president of the New York Central; Daniel Willard, president of the Baltimore & Ohio, and E. P. Ripley, president of the Santa Fe.

The Australians began to prick up their ears when they heard the Colonel was about to start on a speechmaking trip to Brazil, Argentina and Chile, and Lawrence F. Abbott, president of the Outlook Company, said today that intimations had been received here that speeches by him would be welcome in Australia. Mr. Abbott said he did not know whether the Colonel would go to Australia or not.

"It is true that intimations have been received that the Australians want Mr. Roosevelt," he said, "but thus far he has received no allowed the banana trade of this counffy is absoluely controlled by the United Fruit Company, which also is buying up the banana lands abroad. Senator Bristow finally declared that in the pending bill the Democrats had deliberately and outrageously discriminated against the farmer in favor of the manufacturer.

Senator Smoot's amendments to place amber on the free list and reduce the Senator Bristow wanted to know why, with wool on the free list, the Democrats began to tax the by-products as soon as the wool left the sheep's back.

Burleson Says Government Will Make Money and Can Reduce Rates Still More.

WASHINGTON, July 25. — Despite Senatorial criticism of the proposed reduction in parcel post rates and the increase in the size of the packages, Postmaster-General Burleson today issued the final orders putting the changes in effect August 15. The announcement came after the wisdom of making the changes had been subjected to a re-view before the Senate Postoffice committee in the presence of the Postmas ter-General.

Public hearings will not be held by the Interstate Commerce Commission on the expediency of the changes pro-posed. In a statement issued today the commission says it has no jurisdiction over the compensation paid by the postal service for hauling the mails.

Chairman Clark, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, explaining why the Commission had sanctioned the proposed changes, said he believed the Postmaster-General had ample power under the law to make the changes. "I am convinced that the Postoffice Department ought to, can and will ex-tend the parcel post until it will carry packages up to 190 pounds," he added. At the hearing before the Senate committee Senator Bristow said he be-lieved the Postmaster-General had au-thority to change the rates and zones if the Interstate Commerce Commission approved. General McReynolds declined today to discuss the possibility of criminal action on the Pacific Coast, following the filing of the civil suit of yesterday.
