riotous reception here tonight to General Felix Diaz, instigator of the revolution in Mexico City, which culminated in the death of President Madero, his platoon of police, with drawn clubs, gave back the crowd.

Diaz, who arrived from San Diego on a way north to board ship as Mexico's special envoy to Japan, was greeted by a party of Huerta partisans, but their "vivas" were drowned by the shouting, gesticulating Constitutionalist. The police opened a path to safety for the endangered ambassador, in which he was driven to a hotel.

Police Maintain Guard. Chief Sebastian, anticipating a further demonstration by the populous colony of anti-Huerta Mexicans, kept guard over Diaz even after he and his suite of secretaries and attendants had arrived safely at their hotel.

"General Huerta cannot be a candidate for the Presidency in October because of the anti-re-election legislation enacted during the last term of Porfirio Diaz," explained General Diaz in an interview tonight. He added that, while technically in Huerta's case it would not be re-election, as Huerta had not been elected, it would nevertheless be a violation of the spirit of the law.

General Diaz reiterated that he would be a candidate. He has been named as such by the Liberal Democratic party, the only political organization which yet has entered the field with a candidate, he said.

Election Day May Be Changed. "Elections must be held October 26, the time prescribed by Congress," said General Diaz, but added it would be possible for the same Congress to alter the date if national conditions should be such as to make it inadvisable to attempt elections.

General Diaz admitted there was no legal specification as to how long Huerta could serve as provisional President without elections being held. He said that the law required "immediate" elections in such cases as the forcible overthrow of the Madero administration, but he explained that the word "immediate" was interpreted by an act of Congress.

Of his present mission General Diaz said it was merely "to offer the thanks of Mexico for Japan's participation in the Mexican centennial in 1910."

Asked why this was done three years after the centennial celebration, he said he was acting under instruction from his government and could not say. He denied again that his mission was other than one of purely diplomatic relations of a social character.

WILSON GAINS SUPPORT

(Continued From First Page.) downfall of the Huerta government. Ambassador Wilson told the Senate committee that the Huerta government dominated affairs throughout the republic and had driven the constitutionalists out of many of their strongholds, including the states of Coahuila and Nuevo Leon. The President, it is understood, has information considered thoroughly reliable by himself and Secretary Bryan, which shows the constitutional strength to be greatly in excess of the estimates of Ambassador Wilson and indicates that the Huerta government dominates the situation only in a small part of the republic.

The need for immediate recognition of the Huerta government as laid before the committee by the Ambassador was based on the belief that President Huerta could not long retain control of governmental machinery and present conditions. It is asserted the government is running behind monthly financially and that American recognition is necessary to enable Huerta to secure credit for immediate governmental necessities. Should the Huerta government fall, in the opinion of Ambassador Wilson, conditions in the republic would be worse than at present and American lives and property would be in greater danger.

guarantees for the protection of American lives and property; a satisfactory arrangement to insure the payment of all present or future claims for damages to Americans or their property; the settlement of several long-standing disputes between this country and Mexico, principally as to boundary matters, and the selection of a Mexican Cabinet officer to control the elections, whose character would be a promise of fair dealing to the constitutional forces.

Huerta Not Candidate. President Huerta had assured him, Ambassador Wilson told the committee, that he would not again be a candidate for President, but is understood to have asserted he would not accept this as a condition.

The proposal to select a strong Constitutionalist for the post of Minister of Gobernacion in the Cabinet, corresponding somewhat with the Secretaryship of the Interior in this country, also was suggested by Mr. Wilson as a means of guaranteeing constitutional elections.

Ambassador Wilson told the committee he believed intervention highly undesirable. Sharp questioning by members of the committee characterized the recital of the Ambassador's connection with events immediately following the downfall of Madero. He declared he and other foreign representatives repeatedly had told Huerta that no harm must come to Madero and Suarez, the deposed President and Vice-President. He was confident Huerta was innocent of any participation in any plan to kill the two men and that the shooting had occurred without his consent and, in fact, against his desires.

Taft's Attitude Criticized. The attitude of the Taft Administration was criticized frankly in its relation to the enforcement of American claims. Ambassador Wilson insisted he had used every effort at first to enforce the claims of Americans, but that he had received little support from the United States Government. The committee asked him categorically as to the many instances where it has been asserted the American Consular and diplomatic officers could not give fair protection to Americans or their property. The Ambassador denied that any American had to appeal to German or other foreign offices for aid or protection.

MEN IN JAIL FOUR DAYS AGO

Consul's Report on Americans in Chihuahua Is Belated.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—A report from Consul Letcher, at Chihuahua, which was four days in reaching the State Department, brought the news today that Bernard McDonald, Charles Biesel and a chauffeur, the three Americans reported to have been sentenced to death by the Federals in Chihuahua, were safe, but in solitary confinement in that city.

The Americans have been charged with defrauding the Mexican government in paying taxes to the insurrectionists. Mr. Letcher reported that he was doing everything possible for the prisoners.

Dispatches from the City of Mexico yesterday said that General Huerta had ordered the release of the men.

BULGARS GAIN VICTORY

GREEK AND SERBIAN FORCES ARE SEPARATED.

Five-Day Armistice Arranged and Prospects Are Favorable to Continuing Peace.

LONDON, July 30.—A semi-official report emanating from Sofia tonight says the Bulgarians have taken the offensive against the Greeks and made themselves masters of the upper Parnassus River and the plain of the Luchovo, thus separating the Greek and Serbian armies. The report says also that the Bulgarians defeated the Greeks in the Mesta Valley, thereby completely clearing the Raslog Plain of Greeks.

The alacrity with which the Greek and Serbian delegates to the Balkan peace conference at Bucharest consented today to a five-day truce bears out the indications emanating from Greek sources yesterday that transport difficulties were hampering the Greek operations and that the recent fighting had been more favorable to the Bulgars than the Greeks were willing to admit.

It is expected that the conference at Bucharest will last two or three weeks, and the chances are said to favor peace.

HAND HAS ABDOMEN SKIN

Remarkable Operation of Grafting Successfully Completed.

BALTIMORE, July 30.—Wearing the skin of his abdomen on his right hand, Dr. Frederick H. Baetjer, of this city, one of the best-known X-ray experts of the country, is recovering from a remarkable operation at the Johns Hopkins Hospital. To save his hand, the four fingers of which were amputated a year ago, following an infection caused by X-rays, a piece of skin the shape of the maimed hand was turned back from the abdomen, the injured hand bound tightly to the wound and the skin laid over it.

The work of severing the ends of the skin attached to the body is nearly finished and it is believed today that Dr. Baetjer's hand will be sound and whole, save for the missing fingers.

WIDE LATITUDE GIVEN

MULHALL'S CROSS-EXAMINATION TO BE SEARCHING.

Of 200 Questions Submitted, Few Are Stricken Out—Watson Reported Seeking Indictment.

WASHINGTON, July 30.—The Senate lobby investigating committee cleared the way tonight for the cross-examination of Martin M. Mulhall, the alleged lobbyist of the National Association of Manufacturers, by lawyers of the association. In executive session the committee passed on more than 200 questions submitted by the attorneys. Only a few were stricken out. The committee decided that the lawyers could search the witness' mind for any facts bearing on statements he made in letters or in testimony he gave as they were identified. He may be on the stand several days.

There was another report today that ex-representative Watson, of Indiana, mentioned frequently by Mulhall, was seeking to secure an indictment of the lobbyist for perjury by a District of Columbia grand jury. Watson consulted with District Attorney Wilson last week, but after Mulhall voluntarily retracted statements reflecting
