STREET EXTENSION PLANNED.—Extension of East Thirty-third street is proposed from Fremont street to Columbia Slough. A survey has been made and the report has been completed. It will go through if there is no opposition by November 11. This extension is considered important. No damages are awarded in this case, as the proceedings simply make what is now a county road a city street. When this change has been made it is likely that the entire street will be paved from Sandy boulevard to Columbia Slough. It is a central street and it is proposed to have a streetcar line built on it as soon as possible.

Total Attendance Almost Double That of Last Year—Board Accepts Resignations of Two. Advisers to Be Named.

Three new night schools, one at Arleta, one at Lents and one at Jefferson High School in the Piedmont district, were authorized by the Board of Education yesterday. This action will almost double the facilities of the Portland night schools, which are greatly crowded.

In recommending the immediate opening of the new schools, L. R. Alderman, City Superintendent of Schools, told the School Board of the remarkable increase this year in attendance at the three night schools. He said there were 1214 pupils in attendance on Wednesday night. This is almost double the total attendance at any time last year. With the opening of two additional schools Mr. Alderman expects an enrollment of at least 2000.

The three new night schools probably will open next Monday night. The number of instructors and the subjects to be taught will be determined after the opening of classes. Many of the pupils attend the schools to learn the English language.

At a meeting next Tuesday night, beginning at 7:30 o'clock, members of the Board will take up the budget for 1914 where they left it Wednesday night. At yesterday's session of the Board, a plan by Superintendent Alderman to create an advisory council, composed of three principals, three high school teachers, and two grade school teachers, the members of the council to be elected by the teachers' organizations, was approved.

Resignations of two teachers, Inette Norden, of Vernon School, and Franklin Sweet, of the School of Trades, were accepted. A request by J. E. Werlein, representing the Oregon Higher Education League, that the last Friday of this month be set aside by the Board as "University day," on which speakers could address the children in the 54 city schools on the merits of higher education, with particular reference to the referendum on the University of Oregon appropriation, was not granted by the Board, although it was not definitely turned down.

Eugene Brookings, president of the Oregon Higher Education League, Colonel E. Hofer, president of the People's Power League; Mrs. Sarah A. Evans, president of the Oregon Federation of Women; and L. M. Langer, I. B. Garriot, as a representative of the labor unions; T. J. Geisler, representing German-speaking citizens, and George Roseman talked on the university appropriation. Miss Grace Fields, vice-president, presided in the absence of President A. G. Rowman.

Members of the Board took the stand that there was a grave question whether they would be justified in permitting the question to be discussed in the schools during regular school hours. After much argument the Board declined to give an immediate answer and Chairman Sabin referred the question to the judiciary committee.

DUMPING IS REGULATED. Contractors May Not Place Dirt on Vacant Property Without Consent.

Contractors will hereafter be prohibited from dumping dirt on vacant property if the owner of the property objects. This is in effect the substance of an opinion handed down yesterday by City Attorney La Roche.

The opinion was occasioned by numerous complaints that street improvement contractors were placing excavated dirt on property where it is not wanted. The City Attorney rules that the dirt in the street belongs to the property owner up to the time the time and manner ordinance for the improvement is passed by the City Council. It then belongs to the contractor. He can be prevented from placing it on property where it is not desired.
