Great Works Predicted.

While the college is doing a good work where it is, it is believed by the college board of the General Assembly that it could accomplish greater works by being removed back from the Coast, where there are so many other schools of higher learning. A committee was appointed to look into this matter of having an excursion to Alaska. The meeting of the synod probably could be held on board the vessel while go-ing to and from the Northern ports. An important matter decided today was the return, after several years' trial of another plan, to the home mis-sion plan. Under the plan now abol-ished there was no synodical mission-

Second Memorable Gathering Is Held by Bi-State Presbyterians.

Following their fraternal meeting at Vancouver, Wash., Wednesday, the first dual gathering in 19 years, the Presby-terian synods of Oregon and Washing-ton met together at the First Presby-terian Church last night.

This was only possible because the Washington synod at Vancouver and the Oregon synod at Portland convened at the same time. The Washington synod includes Alaska and the panhandle of Idaho. Mayor Albee presided over last night's gathering, which was opened by a prayer by Rev. E. H. Hare, of Mos-cow, Idaho. Rev. W. S. Holt, of Port-land, associate secretary-elect of the Board of Ministerial Relief, spoke on "A Retrospect of the Two Synods," and Rev. Mark A. Matthes, of the First Presbyterian Church of Seattle, spoke on "The Prospects of the Two Synods."

He came to Oregon in 1862 via the Isthmus of Panama, in company with the late Lawrence W. Coe, one of the owners of the old Oregon Steam Navigation Company. He worked for that concern as purser on steamers ply-ing between Celilo and the head of navigation and was later agent at Uma-tilia and Walla Walla. Mr. Schenck came to The Dalles as agent in 1875. He was married to Mrs. Naomi Mitchell here 36 years ago. In company with H. M. Beall, now of Portland, he went into the banking business in 1885.
