

MRS. LOVELAND IS GREIFLESS IN CELL

Woman Held in Connection With Killing of Mate Considered Martyr by Neighbors.

CALLERS BARRED AT JAIL

District Attorney Mentions Possible Freedom of Prisoner With Hearing of Case by Coroner's Jury During Today.

While three convicted murderers, Lew Torbett, Lloyd Wilkins and John A. Pender, sat at table with the other prisoners in the County Jail yesterday afternoon and enjoyed a plentiful Thanksgiving dinner, Mrs. Josephine Loveland, arrested in connection with the death of her husband Wednesday, took her dinner on her cot at the jail. All efforts of the jailers and prisoners to cheer her were to no avail. Her neighbors look on her as a martyr rather than a murderer.

Mrs. Loveland expected to be allowed to go out of jail at noon, after Deputy District Attorney Collier had investigated the circumstances of the shooting at the Loveland home Wednesday night which ended the life of her husband, W. A. Loveland, a wealthy citizen. After consultation with her attorney, W. A. Burke, Mr. Collier decided to hold Mrs. Loveland in jail until after the responsibility of Loveland's death is considered this afternoon or tomorrow by a coroner's jury.

In the box at the Loveland home, a cottage at 593 Commonwealth avenue, Portland Heights, rests a turkey which was to have been the main item of their Thanksgiving dinner. A faithful dog was about the place. The body of the slain husband was prepared for interment at a downtown undertaking establishment, and another while Mrs. Loveland languished in jail. Little Willard Strickler, her son, has former marriage, is in the care of neighbors.

Under orders from District Attorney Evans and Mr. Burke, Mrs. Loveland was not allowed to talk to interviewers yesterday. Even solicitous friends, who called to see her, were turned away by the jailers at the County Jail.

Her only visitors were Mr. Collier and Mr. Burke, who was retained by Ray Hankins, a lawyer, and Mrs. Loveland's neighbors, to look after the interests of Mrs. Loveland. Mr. Collier said that the stories told by Mrs. Loveland while she was in jail touching on the immediate circumstances of the shooting, her first story, said Mr. Collier, was that her husband taunted her while she held the gun and dared her to shoot him. Other stories were that the gun was discharged while she and he were struggling for possession, and another story was that the gun accidentally went off in her husband's hands. Mr. Collier said that on Wednesday night, when she aroused neighbors with her cries, was not materially changed. Necessity of going through the regular forms and of having a clear exposition of the tragedy is responsible for Mrs. Loveland's present incarceration, said Mr. Collier. He said that as soon as the coroner's jury presented its report, he would be in a position either to free Mrs. Loveland or to proceed against her.

SLAYER TO GET NEW TRIAL

Boy Convicted of Murdering Mrs. Bellairs is Returned.

To await a second trial for the murder of Mrs. Margaret Bellairs, the mother of his sweetheart, Lou Whitlock, alias Torbett, 17 years old, was returned to the County Jail yesterday. Whitlock was convicted last December of second degree murder. The Supreme Court recently reversed the verdict on a technicality and remanded the case for another trial. Whitlock was sentenced to life imprisonment by Judge Morrow a few days after sentencing was passed. Whitlock has been confined in the State penitentiary at Salem.

Whitlock shot Mrs. Bellairs at her home April 27, 1912, following her refusal to allow him to visit her daughter, Whitlock, it is said, had purchased the gun only a few hours before he went to the Bellairs home. The defense contended that the shooting was in self-defense. Mr. Bellairs attacking Whitlock with a knife.

SEVEN PIGS SOLD FOR $134

Second Litter of Clarke County Sow May Sell for $201.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—In raising pork for market, J. E. Du Bois, at Proebstel, this county, has made a record that eclipses any one made by a man in Oregon not long ago. A Poland-China sow raised seven pigs, which, at the age of six months, weighed 181 pounds each, and brought $19.23 each, or $134.61.

This same sow, a few weeks ago, gave birth to 13 pigs, 11 of which are weighing, in six months, as much as these do as well as the last litter. The value of the litter will be $201.53. The weight, 160 pounds, was the highest. The record of the Oregon man was a little more than $15 each for seven pigs.

ARTHUR LAIRD INJURED

Hasty Messenger Boy Collides With Taxi on Gilsan Street.

Arthur Laird, employed by the Hasty Messenger Company, received a slight scalp wound when he collided with one of the Portland Taxicab Company's cabs at the corner of Ninth and Gilsan streets yesterday.

W. L. Thorsdike, the driver, says that he was going west on Gilsan street, when the boy came up Ninth street on the left side of the street. He says he turned the car to the right and ran into the curb to avoid the collision, but that the boy ran into him. The lad was taken to the Good Samaritan hospital in a taxicab.

Portland Gets Carlot Hogs.

CARLTON, Or., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—George Merchant brought in and sold to August Ford for the Portland market seven hogs yesterday that weighed 1990 pounds, or an average of 270 pounds each. There is nothing remarkable about this, only that they were only 11 months old, and were all from one litter. Mr. Merchant says that he weaned them when they were a month old and since that time they have lived and grown big on clover and the stubble after harvest. They were put in the pens and fed since October 28.

MOVE FOR IDLE ON

Mayor Favors Governor's Plan to Fill Jobs on Farms.

MANY MEN EAGER TO WORK

Municipal Free Employment Bureau Attaches Beliefs Proposed Campaign in State Would Result in Great Good.

Portland, through the office of Mayor Albee, the Municipal Free Employment Bureau and other city departments, will co-operate in every way possible with Governor West and state officials in a state-wide campaign to secure work for idle laborers of Portland and other cities of the state on farms. This was the announcement yesterday of Mayor Albee. He declared that he is heartily in sympathy with the plan and will do all he can to make it a success.

Rabbi Wise delivered the sermon. He said that the liberal church, represented at the services, recognized the dangers of religion in the hands of the unscrupulous, but recognized the power and influence of the true religious spirit, the spirit which actuated the early fathers who laid the foundation of this country surrounded by perils, inclement weather and the hostile men. Rabbi Wise pointed out that the real foundation of the Republic rested in the "fear of God, not the fear of harm and revolution and punishment, but the recognition of the dominance of God in the affairs of men. He declared such conception of God lay at the foundation of the home and the state, charity and humanitarianism. He declared such conception of the truth of religion and the brotherhood of man.

Rifle Parents Meet With Teachers.

CENTRALIA, Wash., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—About 300 people turned out at the initial meeting of the Parents' Teachers' Association of School District No. 26, which was held in the new I. O. O. F. hall at Rifle. An excellent program was carried out, after which a chicken dinner was served. Every one of the 19 teachers of the district was present and took part in the programme. Principal H. N. Cooper spoke at length on the rapid growth and importance of the Mossyrock High School. S. H. Senter, one of the directors who recently resigned and who will soon leave for the East, made the district farewell.

ASHLAND, Or., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—Although practically rebuilt less than four years ago, the Methodist Episcopal Church has been compelled to further expand. Work has started on a substantial addition to the edifice, 24x35 feet in dimensions and two stories in height.

Patriotic Songs Enjoyed.

In the evening the boys and girls gathered round the piano while Miss Stenberg played and the sweet childish voices blended in patriotic songs. Thanksgiving recitations and songs by the youngsters were roundly applauded by their little friends. The customary donations made by the school children of Portland were appreciated greatly by the various homes and institutions, among which they were distributed. The fact that they had made little orphans and friendless men and women happier was probably not even thought of by the boys and girls who gave the big red apples, the cans of corn, or glasses of jelly.

SICK ARE WELL PROVIDED FOR

Supplied and Children Get Toys.

Much good cheer was provided for the patients at the two large hospitals yesterday. They were not allowed to forget that the day was Thanksgiving. At the Good Samaritan everyone who was able to eat had turkey with cranberry sauce, sweet potatoes, celery, rice and plum pudding. The children had a fine time. Presents for them began to pour in Wednesday. They got jellies, bottles, toys, canned apples and oranges. To prevent them from gorging themselves on Thanksgiving day, Superintendent Lovelidge ordered that they be allowed to eat their apples and oranges, or as many of them as were good for them, on the celebration that followed.

Men Declared Willing.

There are, of course, men in the crowd who do not want to work and would not work if they were offered a position unless it would be at big wages with nothing to do. But on the other hand there are many men who are anxious to work and would go to the farms in a minute if they knew where to go.

CHRISTIAN SCIENTISTS UNITE

Approximately 1500 Persons Participate in Thanksgiving Service.

Approximately 1500 persons participated in the Union Thanksgiving service at the First Church of Christ, Scientist, at Eighteenth and Everett streets yesterday, in which the four Christian Science Churches of Portland were united. The regular Thanksgiving service prescribed in the Christian Science ritual was followed, comprising the reading of the President's Thanksgiving proclamation, verses from the Christian Science textbook and cordiality passages from the Bible. The expression of Thanksgiving testimonials by members of the congregation was a feature of the service.

Goldendale Puts Up Ticket.

GOLDENDALE, Wash., Nov. 27.—(Special.)—A meeting was held at the courthouse Tuesday at which candidates were nominated on the Citizens' ticket for county and city offices to be voted on at the annual municipal election December 2. The meeting was well attended, a goodly percentage of the voters being present. There was no opposition to the ticket put up for the Council, but the office of Treasurer developed a lively contest between Fredrick H. Henshaw, who withdrew from the fight and Fredrick Wilson, who is the present City Treasurer, secured the nomination by three votes. Councilmen elected this year will serve two-year terms, and Merle W. Chapman, E. M. Frost and W. C. Moore were nominated. Mayor Ward was chairman of the meeting and E. O. Spoon acted as secretary. The office of City Treasurer paid $4000 in commissions this year on account of the street improvement bonds, but it is understood that the Council will put the office on a salary basis hereafter.

PRISON IS MIRTHFUL

After Fine Dinner Wards of County Sing and Dance.

THREE AVOID PLEASURES

Lloyd H. Wilkins and J. A. Pender. Convicted of Murder, and Mrs. W. A. Loveland, Held for Slaying Husband, Exceptions.

Inmates of the county jail and Kelly Butte prison enjoyed a special Thanksgiving dinner yesterday and last night. Impromptu minstrels furnished entertainment for Sheriff Word's wards confined on the seventh and eighth floors of the Courthouse. Several of the prisoners in the county jail are near artists on the piano, some carrying on a same car dance. Almost every night the boys gather around the piano, but last night all the prisoners joined in the spirit of the holiday and gave out their charms because sung behind prison bars. Few there were who did not join in the festivities. It was into the hearts of almost all their companions in the jail. Lloyd H. Wilkins, convicted Wednesday of the murder of Lou Winters, and to receive his death sentence in less than a month, ate heartily, but was nervous and has not recovered from the strain of his trial. He was visited by his father, F. L. Wilkins, who has been with him for more than a month. Mrs. W. A. Loveland, who was brought to the jail late Wednesday night as the result of the shooting of her husband, had expected to be released at noon, that she might have her Thanksgiving dinner with friends, but Deputy District Attorney Collier said he did not feel warranted in allowing her to go free. J. A. Pender, convicted last week at St. Helens of the murder of Mrs. Wehrman and her baby, is confined in the Multnomah jail.

Others Less Talented as Entertainers.

Others less talented as entertainers, but none the less sincere in their desire to radiate cheerfulness to all present, gathered around the piano and joined in singing the old songs that were none of their charms because sung behind prison bars. Few there were who did not join in the festivities. It was into the hearts of almost all their companions in the jail. Lloyd H. Wilkins, convicted Wednesday of the murder of Lou Winters, and to receive his death sentence in less than a month, ate heartily, but was nervous and has not recovered from the strain of his trial. With These Few Exceptions the Thanksgiving Spirit Prevailed.

The Thanksgiving menu was: Turkey, dressing, cranberry sauce, celery, sweet potatoes, tea, coffee, bread, butter and mince pie. The prisoners were called to the dining-room at 4 o'clock and it was nearly four hours later when they went back to their corridors to enjoy their musical entertainment. Ashland Church to Expand.

Your Kidneys Are to Blame

Thousands of men and women are unwell as the result of the kidneys failing to filter the blood properly. The dangerous feature of kidney disease consists in its subtle and deceptive character, and so insidious are its ravages that many victims do not suspect its existence until the advanced stages have been reached. This is not strange when we consider that the complicated and delicate structure of the kidneys is poorly supplied with sensitive nerves. As a result, the activity of the kidneys is to remove impurities, they are very susceptible to disease, and any disease of the kidneys is dangerous, as it causes impure matter to be retained in the blood and affects the whole system. By restoring the kidneys and caring for the biliary and urinary systems, you will find that a standard remedy for kidney and liver troubles. Putting Backbone Into Business

Advertising in newspapers is the great Business Doctor. It turns old business into new. It makes merchants "perk up" and take notice, dust off their counters, "sweeten up" their merchandise, and improve their service. It turns forms dull and uninteresting stores into bright and pleasant shopping places.

Newspaper advertising develops business muscle, strengthens the sinews, and puts vibrant health into organizations that haven't been behaving properly. It stiffens a weak and limp backbone, and puts new life and inspiration in the place of ennui and out-of-date-ness. The readers of The Oregonian know all about good Doctor Advertising and his inspiring cures. They shop where strength and health and vigor are. Businesses that are weak and spineless don't appeal to the imagination of the pocketbook. And so the advertising that newspaper advertising has placed in front on the firing line.—Adv.
