IN SHUSHANNA DISTRICT PROVIS-IONS SELL AT $1 A POUND.

Old-Time Alaskan on Long Trip of Two Weeks Out of Goldfields Tells of Conditions There.

SEATTLE, Wash., Dec. 4 .- (Special.) -That wild game has been the salvation of the hundreds of prospectors, including several women, who are shut in in the Shushanna since Winter began, and that a fairly ample and constant supply of fresh meat has pre-vented actual suffering in the new Alaska gold camp, although ordinary crovisions of all kinds are scarce and ell at $1 a pound to those who have mobey, is the report brought out by t. F. McLellan, who left the diggings on November 16 and has just arrived in Scattle, after a little more than two weeks of actual travel.

"About 500 prospectors were in the mp and vicinity when I left," said

Most of them were remaining in the ntry to do locating work necessar; hold their claims, despite the exorbitant prices asked for provisions but as soon as the Winter trail becomes ble an exodus will begin

"Rabbits, ptarmigan and other game have been fairly plentiful and fresh meat has been procurable by the fool hardy prospectors who went in 'on a shoestring' last Fall. Provisions were scarce, even at $1 a pound."

Mr. McLellan is an old-time Alaskan, having been North much of the time for 15 years. He will pass the Winter at his home in Los Angeles, where he has large business interests.

FINE BAKER STOCK COMING

George Chandler and Ed Coles to Ship Exhibit to Portland.

BAKER, Or., Dec. 4.—(Special)— Among the fine Baker County cattle that will be shown at the Pacific Live-stock Show at Portland, December 8-13, are included the fine herd of Hereford thoroughbreds owned by George Chandler, of this city, which took ten out of 12 first prizes at the California State Fair this Fall. He will ship one carload, including 16 head, and the stock show visitors will see some of the best cattle ever shown in the state or the Northwest, as the records show. Ed Coles, prominent Haines stock-man, also will ship some top-notch Herefords to the show, including one bull, a prizewinner, weighing 140 pounds, which will not be a two-year old until next March. Mr. Coles als will ship 20 head of yearling Herefords and the same number of 3-year-olds. He has sold a fine Hereford bull weighing 1600 pounds to William Pollman, of this city.

Prince Anderson, of Haines, will ship a carload to the show, and several other stockmen will do likewise, so show visitors will see plenty of Baker County cattle.

CORPORATION RENTS HOME

Washington-Oregon Concern to Have Headquarters at Vancouver.

VANCOUVER, Wash., Dec. 4 .- (Spe cial.)—The main place of husiness of the Washington-Oregon Corporation will be Vancouver in a short time, a lease having been signed with J. P. Kiggins for office rooms in the The-ater building, at Ninth and Main streets. The local offices of the company will be removed to the headquar-ters offices in the Spring. This com-pany controls the traction and water franchises of this city, in addition to owning power plants and other utili-ties in 20 cities in the Pacific North-

It is expected by some persons that this company will in time have an electric line connecting Portland Seattle and Tacoma, running through Vancouver, and crossing the Columbia River on the Pacific Highway bridge, construction of which will start as soon after December 10 as is possible for the engineer chosen at that time to advertise for sealed bids, and let

FISH TAX IS QUESTIONED

Governor Lister Appoints Special Prosecutor, Then Official Rules.

OLYMPIA, Wash., Dec. 4 .- (Special) -On the question of whether the State of Washington has the right to collect a special tax on practically all the salmon catch of the state, there is sharp division between Governor Lister and Fish Commissioner Darwin, on one side, and Attorney-General Tanner on the Commissioner Darwin believes practically all the catch of the fishtraps this year is liable for this tax, and on his request for speedy action toward collection, Governor Lister Monday designated Prosecutor Bixby, of Whatcom County, as special counsel for the state, to bring suits to collect the tax,

Yesterday, after Bixby's appointment in the case had been announced. Attorney-General Tanner rendered an of-ficial opinion holding that the tax was not collectible in the case of the fish-trap men. This opinion had been requested some weeks ago.
