buyers are in the field, and more activity is promised in the near future.

Elsowhers in the West, buying of wooden the sheep's back is progressing rapidity. A total of about 15,600,000 pounds are believed to have been contracted for, mostly in Utah, Neveds and the Triangle. The prices are about those of the preceding two weeks, which range for the most part from 13 to 15 cents in Utah, 12 to 13½ cents in Nevada, and 15 to 16 cents in the Triangle, with eccasional instances of a fraction better being paid. Growers naturally are very being paid. Growers naturally are very firm in their ideas of what their clips are worth, and in some sections refuse to consider contracting, being disposed to consign at a later date in view of possible higher prices being obtained. This is perticularly the case with Arizona growproached by buyers, but, like Oregon grow-ers, they are not inclined to sell ahead of tanks, 61c.

shearing time. firmness of the Eastern spot woo markets is the feature of the situation, Because of the limited supply, sales have been confined within certain bounds. Design say that no instance can be cited where the wool supply has narrowed down as at present, and up to date over half the wools reported as being on hand the first of the year have been soid, thus showing about the extent to which buyers can operate. Manufacturers are receiving duplicate or ders for goods and herein, perhaps, lies the key to the strength of the situation. In commenting on the position of the market

Wool contracting is still alow in getting a start in Oregon, probably for the reason that this is not generally a contracting state. The Oregon growers, as a rule, prefer to take their chances on the market after shearing.

It is estimated by wool men that not over 150,000 pounds have been secured on contract in Rastern Oregon so far this season. A 30,000-pound clip was bought at Reppner at last year's prices and there was a report of three clips taken at Arlington, which, however, was later denied. Saveral buyers are in the field, and more activity is promised in the near future.

TRADERS ARE CONFUSED

President Said to Favor Speedy Decision, and This Wall Street at First Takes to Mean Increase. No Opinion Expressed.

Cay was done speculators were badly confused.

Uncertainty as to the disposition by the Interstate Commerce Commission of the Eastern railroads' application for a 5 per cent increase in freight rates has exerted a repressive influence on the market for so long that speculators were greatly relieved when news came from Washington that President Wilson favored a speedy decision.
The street, however, did not stop at that,
but jumped to the conclusion that the President favored an increase in rates. A Wall street news agoncy published the statement that information from "a source close to the Interstate Commerce Commission" indicated that a "favorable decision" would be rendered at an early date.

cated that a "favorable decision" would be rendered at an early date.

On the strength of these assumptions, the market, which had been dull and irregular carrier in the day, advanced strongly. Half an hour before the clone the street learned that it had assumed too much. Chairman Clark, of the Interstate Commerce Commission, was quoted in a Washington dispatch as saying that President Wilson had expressed no opinion regarding the merits of the rate case.

The weekly steel trade reviews reported a further increase in new orders. Pressed Steel Car was strengthened by its annual report, showing a gain of $1.494.000 in net. Otherwise, there was little to influence the course of the market, aside from the course of the market, aside from the freight rate case. London did little here today.

CHICAGO, Feb. 18.—Fiattening out of export business today took the edge off the market for wheat. Prices at the close were steady, but 16 % to 16 % ouder last night. Corn finished % to 16 % own, cate off 16 % c. and provisions varied from unchanged figtures to a decline of 24 65c. Discouragement for the wheat bulls came early. Liverpool quotations being unresponsive to yesterday's advance on this side. Beginning of the corn harvest in Argentins, implying shipments of the new crop soon from that country, had a bestish influence on the price of the cereal here.

Covering by shorts gave oats at first an appearance of independent strength. In the end, however, the market suffered a setback with other grain.

Buyers backed away from provisions because of the weakness of cereals. Confidence of holders was somewhat unsettled, too, by the increase shown in hog-packing since November 1, as compared with a year age.
