KRAPP WILL PLAY OUTLAW LEAGUE

Diminutive Spit-Ball Artist Is Member of Buffalo Club of Federals.

JUMP IS NOT REGRETTED

President McCredie Says Pitcher Has Outgrown Usefulness to Beavers.

Predictions that Eugene Krapp would be in Beaver uniform before the opening games were rudely shattered yesterday when dispatches from Buffalo announced that the new league had made the third successful raid on the Beaver lineup.

While W. W. McCredie and Walter McCredie have held to the opinion that Krapp's salary would be paid by the Federals, not a word has been heard from the diminutive spitball artist since his demand for a substantial increase in salary was turned down by the McCredies.

When Judge McCredie was told of Gene's jump he expressed no surprise. Portland fans were not always comfortable when Krapp was in the box. He never was considered a tower of strength as a pitcher, although he fielded the position better than any rival moundman in the Coast League.

That leaves the Beavers with Higginbotham, Krause and West as remnants of the 1913 pitching staff.

Jimmy Richardson, Beaver scout, is of the opinion that Krapp has not treated the McCredies right.

"He has not treated his employers nor Portland fans right," said Richardson. "He was one of the greatest fielding pitchers I have ever seen, but outside of that he had nothing. If he thinks he has anything against the Portland club it is a good thing he is going to leave."

It is said that Krapp received $300 a month from Portland and demanded $400.

Ray Kramer, the Sacramento phenom, might have been a Beaver. Last year when Richardson was at San Francisco, he saw Kramer work with Schroder's team, of the City League.

It was as at the time Hellmann was signed for the Colts, Richardson recommended Kramer to McCredie. A salary of $200 a month was offered Kramer, but he turned it down on the grounds that he was not of age and wanted to go to school.

He was pitching for the Oakland High School at the same time.

Chester Morden, signed by the Baker team, of the Western Tri-State League, was formerly the star of the Timms-Cress and Honeyman teams of the local circuit.

He batted more than .300 while playing second base. He was going to business college when he answered the call to go to Baker.

CHICAGO, March 7.—Miss Beatrice Alight, who has been dating the Argentine tango with her dancing partner, Charles Sebastian, at a restaurant here for the last six weeks, reported to the central police the loss of a diamond pin valued at $700.

Miss Allen said that while seated at a table in the restaurant several hours after midnight with a Mr. Hoagland, she carelessly threw diamond rings, brooches, a bracelet and the lost pin at the incandescent lights and that all were recovered, except the pin.

"I had a glass or two of champagne," she said. "I threw them all for me," she said. "He is the president, or the vice-president of a baking powder company, and we were engaged," she said.

J. A. Hoagland, who is at the Congress Hotel, said he was not the man.

"We had a glass or two of champagne," she said. "I threw them all for me," she said. "He is the president, or the vice-president of a baking powder company, and we were engaged," she said.

Representative Russell had indorsed Crenshaw and Mr. Roper suggested that he come to Washington and submit to a personal examination. Roper expressed regret that he could not recommend Crenshaw's appointment. He said he would not appoint any man without the indorsement of Representative Russell. The office pays about $1500 per annum.

Three Prominent Physical Instructors Say Oregonian Boycycle Is "Ideal"

The Boycycle is a safe, healthful sport and a great benefit to the children. It's an exercise enjoyed in the fresh air and one that brings into play all muscles of the body.

Professor Robert Krohn, physical director of the public schools of Portland, is a booster of The Oregonian Boycycle. "The Boycycle furnishes just the right kind of outdoor exercise for every young boy and girl."

A. M. Grille, physical director of the Y. M. C. A., says The Oregonian Boycycle is safe. "The Oregonian Boycycle gives healthful physical exercise and is so constructed as to be absolutely safe; it is an ideal outdoor machine for active young Americans."

Professor J. Lee Thompson, of the Multnomah Club, says about the Boycycle: "The Boycycle machine is ideal; it furnishes a healthful form of outdoor sport and exercise."

Every boy and girl in Portland can have a Boycycle if they will do a few hours' work.

Ask your aunts, uncles and cousins to subscribe. Ask all your friends and neighbors and the people in your block who do not take The Oregonian. They will give you their subscription to help you win the Boycycle.

WILL REVEALS ROMANCE

IRISH AVIATOR LEAVES FORTUNE TO GIRL OF 14 YEARS.

LONDON, March 7.—(Special.)—A romantic attachment to a girl of fourteen is disclosed by the will of the late Lieutenant Desmond Arthur, the Irish Army aviator, which was proved in the Dublin courts and which leaves the whole of his fortune of $82,500 to the child—Winsome Constance Roper, of Ambleside, West Hartlepool, Durham.

On the dead body of the aviator when it was found near Montrose last May, after a fall from his biplane of 2000 feet, was a miniature portrait of the girl, which he was in the habit of wearing on his breast.

Miss Roper, a pretty child, is the daughter of William Roper shipowner and granddaughter of Sir Robert Roper, Bart., the well-known North Country ship-builder. The aviator was living at Seaton Carew, West Hartlepool, when he was killed.

The case came before the courts in the form of an action to establish the will by T. G. Studdert, of County Clare, and William Roper against the lieutenant's brother, Charles Arthur, of County Clare. The defence was that the will was not duly executed. It was stated that the lieutenant in the will requested that his fortune be given to his brother if Miss Roper so wished, and Mr. Roper said he intended to carry out that request. After evidence that the will was entirely in the lieutenant's handwriting and the testimony of the two witnesses of the will, counsel for the defendant said he did not wish to contest the matter further. Justice Kenny said it was plain that the governing wish in Lieutenant Arthur's mind was to provide for this little child.

SNOW MELTED BY MACHINE

New York Edison Company's Device Shows High Efficiency.

NEW YORK, March 7.—The newest method of disposing of snow was in operation recently in Twenty-first street at Fourth avenue. It was a machine built by the New York Edison Electric Company which melts the snow and allows the water to flow into the sewers.

The machine was a large metal box, at the bottom of which was a grate, heated by electricity. Although it was rudely constructed and only intended as an experiment, the machine showed a surprisingly high efficiency, there being little difference in temperature of the water and the snow from which it came.

Another experiment was made in East Sixty-seventh street, where a fire engine was used to flush the snow into the sewer. The sewer proved to be too small and became clogged, putting a stop to the plan.
