'The Dictator," at Peoples, 1s Clever Comedy-Drama.

Good Bills Attract Big Crowds Majestic, Columbia, National, Orpheum and Sunset. Where Entertaining Plots Feature.

John Barrymore is appearing at the People's Theater until Thursday in an enthralling Famous Players' comedy. The Dictator." Mr. Barrymore imperonated an adventurous American youth, Brooke Travers, who, through series of thrilling and comical incidents, temporarily becomes dictator of a diminutive South American republic, and whose proceedings create a number of puzzling and extremely mirthful situations.

It is a comedy of the best type and is based upon the novel by Richard Harding Davis. The climax is reached after Travers and another distin-guished American have been lined up to be shot and the Untied States Navy comes to the rescue, led by Travers sweetheart. The temporary dictator amid applauding seamen, decides "tha it is better to be a live American than a dead dictator," and quits his throne. The comedy star is well supported by a strong cast, which attracted large crowds yesterday.

Good Story Featured at Sunset.

"The Woman From Warthe Sunset. "The Woman From Warren's," a two-reel Majestic play, is a story of the rescue of an inexperienced girl on the verge of a mock marriage, by an older woman. Winona Ware, from Warrens, N. J., registers at a small town hotel, and another visitor, reading her name, recalls escapades that he wishes to keep from Alice Thompson, the hotelkeeper's daughter.

MIDNIGHT BATTLE IS VIVID 'Fighting Bob" and Singers Lead on Programme at National.

Besides the third and fourth acts of "Rigoletto," by the Lambardi opera singers, at the National, two other at-tractions are offered. "Fighting Bob." in the person of Orrin Johnson, is purported to be a story of some imaginary republic of Central America, but is in reality founded on the troubles with Mexico. In this production is a graphic midnight scene, which was a remark-able bit of photoplay. The play is a prophecy of a vague future war. "When Charlie Was a Child" is a slapstick comedy, featuring two clever juvenile comedians. One of the chil-dren aptly imitates Charlie Chaplin, with all the eccentricities of the elder actor. The other impersonates Ford Sterling. The "kids" furnish as humorous a comedy as the grown-ups in a pleasing manner, and help to make a good varied bill.

The opera singers will remain all week at the National, where they are

Mr. Miller's Resolution Suggests Setting Aside of February 14 for Commemorating of Work.

February 14, which is St. Valentine's day, will have a double significance in Oregon if the proposal of Milton A. Miller to the Oregon ploneers is carried out, as it appears there is an in-clination to do. Mr. Miller has proposed that the day be set aside as a posed that the day be set aside as a state-wide occasion for commemorating the work of the Oregon pioneers in providing provisional government in this state and their part in establishing a stable form of government under a constitution which they framed. Mr. Miller would have the schools and other institutions commemorate the day fittingly. His resolution, which was unanimously adopted, follows:
