Biff Schaller, the bridegroom, added to the festivities of the occasion, and when the San Francisco squad advanced to the plate as Schaller came to bat for the time, and presented their fellow player with a chest of sliver for "himself and the Missus," as Foghorn Murphy so glibly put it, the stands went wild.

There were homeruns by this self-same Schaller and Southworth, of the Beavers, in the afternoon, with Ed Finney putting the men through their paces in an hour and 19 minutes and plenty of action.

BY ROSCOE FAWCETT. If there is anything in comparative scores, the University of Washington and the Washington State College footand the Col and the Washington State College football teams are as strong as they were last Fall. This surmise is offered in the face of the loss of Hap Miller and Shiel by Washington and the defeat of the Pullmanites by the Oregon Aggies early in the Fall.

Washington's win over Whitman. 37-6, was a crushing defeat to a team that had just walloped Idaho, and Idaho, it must be remembered, held the Oregon Aggies to a 26-0 total. So far as concerns the status and strength of Washington State, this eleven defeated Montana by a trifle bigger margin than last year, and yet Montana gin than last year, and yet Montana is stronger and bigger than ever.

Montana Power Evident.

This deduction can be drawn from the fact that Southern Dakota de-feated Montana last Fail and Montana turned the tables this Fail. Montana, too, defeated Gonzaga something like 26-0 — the same Gonzaga team that triumphed over Idaho by about the same lop-sided integers.

The injury to Halfback Gardner, of Washington, will cripple the Purple to some extent, but the boys down at Eugene need not throw out their shirt fronts. Dobie will bring a team for Saturday's fracas that will be well worthy the uniforms they wear. It is an even wager, and anybody who gives more than that ought to have his cranium sent to an alienist.
