CREST OF GRIDIRON SEASON IS PASSED

Famous Harvard Machine Is Scrapped by Rejuvenated Yale Eleven.

Crimson Apparently Lacks Former Dash, While the Eli Coaching System Seems to Have Proved Its Worth.

NEW YORK, Nov. 26 .- The crest of NEW YORK, Nov. 26.—The crest of the Eastern football season passed with the playing of the spectacular gridiron classics Saturday, leaving in its wake shattered idols and newly crowned heroes. The famous Harvard machine was scrapped by a rejuvenated Yale eleven at the same hour that the Army was wrecking the hopes of the Navy for an eleventh-hour victory. There remains only the contests of Thanksgiving day before the curtain is lowered on the great collegiate sport for ered on the great collegiate sport for another year. In defeating Harvard the Yale team achieved far more than the triumph apparent upon the surface. Coach Tad Jones, with the ald of Captain Black and the band of fighters which the latter gathered about him, laid the groundwork for a new system and a more impressive grade of play and players for the years that are to come.

Yale Play Is Alert.

The play of the Yale team was more alert, aggressive and sustained than that of the Crimson combination, and this, taken in connection with better physical condition and the breaks of the game, was the deciding factor in the triumph. Yale played football with a dash and power that swept the Crimson off its feet after the first period. Considered as a whole, the Crimson

Considered as a whole, the Crimson play was far slower and uncertain than of that a year ago, and backs seldom were able to get into their stride, due to the vicious manner in which the Yale forwards ripped up the first line and plunged into the backfield almost with the hall with the ball.

Evidence of the uncertainty and strain under which Harvard worked is shown in the number of penalties imposed, one of which nullified Casey's long run for a touchdown. Next year Harvard should return with a stronger claven, but it will also meet a more claven, but it will also meet a more eleven, but it will also meet a more powerful Yale, for the Blue tasted victory and apparently established a successful coaching system, all of which will make for better and winning football at New Haven

Oliphant Too Powerful.

The Army-Navy contest developed a case of too much Oliphant for the Middles.

case of too much Oliphant for the Middies.

Excluding the former Purdue star and his running mate, Vidal, the sailors compared favorably with the West Pointers. The brilliancy and allaround playing ability of this pair, however, was a handicap too great for the Navy to overcome. The plack and power with which the Navy attacked in the final half of the game demonstrated that the Middies have a formidable eleven in the making.

The other games of the day developed nothing in the way of upsets or extraordinary play. Fennsylvania, using many substitutes, defeated West Virginia Wesleyan. Syracuse brought the full force of its weight and power to bear upon Tufts, and the conquerer of Harvard was obliged to bow to defeat, but not until after a desperate and spectacular battle. Washington and Jefferson found Chattanooga easy, and the same was true of Buttare.

Although the wonderful Minnesota ever. eleven may not have a claim to a thamplonship title, close followers of the gridiron sport are agreed that the team is one of the greatest football machines developed in the West in WHITMAN TEAM DRIVEN HARD machines developed in the West in years.

The line attack of the eleven in its game with Chicago was an attack of li men in every piay, each doing the exact thing expected of him. The 49-to-0 defeat of Chicago was the worst the Maroons have ever suffered.

Two of Saturday's conference games resulted in scoreless ties. Neither Indiana nor Purdue was able to put over a score in their annual game at Lafay-ette, and Wisconsin and Illinois fought through four periods without a tally. Honors for the first half of the Wisconsin-Illinois game swung heavily in side on the Illini, but the Badgers put up a beillinal defense in the second half and kept their goal from danger. Furdue men faced the Indiana goal three times and were credited with out-playing the Hoosiers but lacked the playing the properties of the playing the Hoosiers but lacked the playing th

HUSKER COMEBACK COMPLETE

The men are all in pretty good shape and will be able to put up their best game of the season when they tangle with the Northerners. Two men, Captain Hoover and Traut, will be seen in Whitman uniforms for the last time. Hoover, playing with a second-class team, has showed himself the class of the conference ever since he broke into college football, four years ago. Traut is playing his third season.
