JUVENILE ORCHESTRA TO PLAY.—The Webber Juvenile orchestra of 16 youngsters, who have gained renown in tours in recent years, will feature the programme at the regular after-noon concert at the public auditorium noon concert at the public auditorium next Sunday. The programme will include also a string quintet, several solo numbers and solos on the auditorium pipe organ. A big attendance is expected. The Webber orchestra has been rehearsing for the event for several months as has also the string quintet, which has made a pronounced hit on several occasions during the present season. Among the features of the programma will be special scenic and lighting effects in connection with some of the music. Special interest conters about two juvenile soloists, Morris Rosencrantz and Marlo Henrickson.

Fred Helder, the acrobatic comedian who is the featured member of John Cort's "Listen Lester," which opens at the Heilig tonight, used to be a circus performer: hence his surprising ability to throw himself around without suffering physical injury. Helder is a great believer in walking, and tramps five miles every day, rain or shine, just to keep in condition. In evening clothes he resembles a rather slight individual and his strength and ability would not be suspected by a casual observer.

June Roberts, who has danced her way into popular favor in "Listen Lester," is only 17 years of age, but has already attained a position of importance on the musical-comedy stage. She attributes her success thus far and her expectations of the future to a rigorous schedule, which is adhered to as rigidly as the routine of any business house. On non-matinee afternoons singing and dancing lessons occupy all of the little lady's time. Whatever spare hours remain in the day are crowded with lessons in physical culture and fencing. Stardom in four years is her goal. Her career began officially three seasons ago in Raymond Hitchcock's company in "Hitchy Koo."
