

NEW TARIFF BILL APPEARS IN HOUSE

$700,000,000 Expected to Be Raised.

FREE LIST ARTICLES TAXED

Measure Increases Revenues From Many Sources.

LUMBER LEVY ATTACKED

Payne-Aldrich Rates Are Much Higher Than New Schedule in Some Instances.

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—The administration's permanent tariff bill was introduced today in the house of representatives and for the first time was made public.

No explanatory statements accompanied the introduction of the measure, as has been customary, and no official estimate was made of the revenue it is expected to return.

Unofficial estimates by members of the ways and means committee, however, placed the expected return as high as $700,000,000 a year. The Payne-Aldrich law in the normal pre-war years produced a little more than $300,000,000 a year.

Examination of the bill shows that in some cases the rates proposed are higher than corresponding rates of the Payne-Aldrich law, while others are lower.

Many Free Articles Taxed. An estimate of how the whole bill compares with the Payne-Aldrich law is possible only through a detailed study by tariff experts, because the schedules of the new bill are in many cases not framed in parallel with the schedules of the Payne law.

In comparison with the Underwood tariff law of the Wilson administration, the new bill removes many articles from the free list, although it leaves a large list free of duty, including print paper, wood pulp, leather and harness and agricultural implements.

It raises the duties on the great bulk of imports already being taxed. In the items of the new bill are in many cases not framed in parallel with the schedules of the Payne law.

Comparison of the wool schedule with schedule K of the Payne-Aldrich bill, over which a bitter fight was waged in congress, showed material reductions in a number of instances. In the items of the new bill are in many cases not framed in parallel with the schedules of the Payne law.

The same degree of shading was made by the committee in knit fabrics, at 25 cents a pound and 20 per cent ad valorem against the former republican rate of 35 to 40 cents a pound and 50 to 55 per cent ad valorem.

Republican members of the committee declared today that the rates on wool were much below the Payne-Aldrich schedule. Democratic members of the committee did not have access to the bill until late today and tonight they were attempting to find out just how it compared.

In the rush to get the bill to the house, the committee had no time to submit a report, but it is subject to change. It was said by a republican caucus.

The lumber schedule, as originally drawn, was cut by the committee, which finally headed the appeal of republicans to have finished lumber kept on the free list. Shingles, however, were taxed in the lumber schedule, but many other items were not.

The committee provided that if any country imposed a duty on any of the free list lumber exported from the United States, the president might enter into negotiations with it to obtain removal of the tax and, failing, would be empowered to declare equal rates on the product imported from such country.

Shingles Tax Opposed. The leaders in the fight to have lumber remain on the free list indicated that such other differences as might exist on the subject would be adjusted. The tax of 50 cents a thousand on shingles caused some complaints from members who had been urging that no duty be imposed on any products needed at this time in relieving the housing shortage.

The oil tax was unexpected. The duty was not as high, it was said, as that proposed and rejected the other day by a vote of 2 to 1, but American oil producers kept up the fight and the rate was the last important action of the committee before Chairman Fordney took the bill to the house and formally introduced it.

Along with the first part caucus is expected to deal with the chemical schedule and some others.

All manufacturers not specially provided, 25 per cent. Underwood 40 cents.

Agricultural Products. Cattle, less than three years old, 1 cent a pound; two years and over, 1 1/2 cents a pound; Underwood free.

Sheep and goats, less than three years old, 1 cent a pound; two years and over, 1 1/2 cents a pound; Underwood free.

Wild Activity of Stromboli Fills Sicilians With Horror.

MESSINA, Italy, June 28.—(By the Associated Press.)—The volcano Stromboli on Stromboli island, off the north coast of Sicily, burst into wild activity last night and terror fills the island. The molten rocks and sulphurous gases pouring from the crater, it was feared, might spell impending doom to the panic-stricken inhabitants.

The islanders, terrified by the uncanny behavior of the volcano during the last three days, were congregating on the shores preparing for an attempt at flight but waiting in the hope that the volcano would subside.

WELL, ANYHOW, WE'VE GOT HER STARTED.

WASHINGTON, D. C. June 29.—(By the Associated Press.)—Franz J. Feinler, an ex-regular army chaplain, sentenced to 15 years in the federal penitentiary in 1918, on charges of uttering treasonable language, has been pardoned by President Harding on recommendation of Secretary Weeks. He had been at liberty on parole for nearly a year at that time.

Feinler, a native of Germany, entered the army as chaplain from South Dakota in 1909. He was sent overseas early in the war but was returned because of alleged statements showing German sympathy and assigned to Honolulu.

It was charged that he carried on there propaganda favorable to the enemy and his trial by courtmartial followed.

Secretary Weeks recommended a pardon on the ground, it was said, that Feinler already had been punished sufficiently.

Haywood was convicted of sedition and spending the appeal was released on a $30,000 bond. When he did not appear for sentence the bond was forfeited.

Mr. Clyde made public the cablegram, which was as follows: "My Dear Friend Clyde: Will leave here July 12 and will arrive in New York July 26."

Mr. Clyde was an awful lot of nerve calling me "Friend Clyde."

Atlantic City, N. J. June 29.—Newspapers were credited with keeping people well by Dr. Caldwell Morrison of Newark in an address today before the convention of the Allied Medical Association.

"The daily newspaper," he said, "keeps the people well instructed. The masses are growing wise. They are learning not to need the doctor nor his medicine. Soon the great surgeon, the distinguished specialist, the doctor-druggist and the scientists alone will be left."

Dempsey No Gentleman. I have not been greatly stirred by the discovery, already made by upward of 1500 members of the writing profession, that Georges resembles a Greek god. I have never seen a Greek god. Most of the Greeks I know are engaged in the shoe-shining, the fruit-purveying or the quick-lunching business. They are worthy and well-meaning persons, but none of them in the least fulfill my conception of what is godlike. But even as the dependable expert waits for others to scramble about in the turmoil and gather up the sordid details and then, taking their theories over, rejects some, appropriates the rest, and finally launches forth the last word on the subject, backed with the hallmark of his superior judgment, I carefully have considered the statements of those who lately made the pilgrimages to the training camps and have reached the following conclusions, to wit:

Carpenter is a perfect gentleman and a probable loser. Dempsey is neither.

No Reflections Meant. In advancing this double-barreled statement, I do not mean to reflect upon either of these distinguished personages. When you come right down to cases, the chief patrons of heavyweight championship contests—the persons who compose what in the old days in England they called the "fancy"—do not care deeply for fighters who display gentlemanly qualities in the ring or out of it. What they do like is a two-handed mauler with just enough intelligence under his thatch to make him wary, and enough of the cup of a head to make him ferocious and merciless. They do not crave to behold an exhibition of culture and innate refinement; they clamor not for three-quarters of an hour of footwork, head work and false work. The gentry are not putting up $50 a head for the word "head" in its commercial and not in its intellectual sense—in the hope of beholding a dainty exposition of the so-called many art of self-defense over yonder at Jersey City this week end.
