A new reduction in westbound intercoastal rates has been effected by the six conference lines, and temporary rates, named several weeks ago on certain commodities, have been made permanent. The reduction in rates was effected by the conference lines in the offices of the steamship companies acting as agents for the lines in question.

The only important new reduction made by the conference was to cut the westbound rate on railings, rail fastenings, bars and nails, from 75 cents a 100 pounds to 60 cents. The temporary rates made permanent are as follows: Linoleum and oil cloth $1 a 100 pounds, petroleum oil and products thereof 75 cents a 100 pounds, and planes $1.45 a 100 pounds.

Number of Lines Increased.

The number of steamship lines participating in the rates of the North Atlantic-Pacific westbound conference has recently been increased to six by the entrance into the agreement of the Crowell & Thurlow intercoastal line. Under the name of the intercoastal Sea Carriers, this line, operating six steamers in the coast-to-coast trade started with, but with a change in management and representation has come with a change in policy, and the company has agreed to maintain the rates quoted by the conference in case of violation.

The only intercoastal line now serving Portland which is not a member of the conference is the Ishikawa, operated by Norton, Lilly & Co., and this line has agreed to abide by the conference rates.

Screen Gossip

John Gilbert, a new star, is the featured player in "Shame," which opens at the Grand. Gilbert has been on the legitimate stage ever since he was a little boy. He won a name for himself in juvenile roles and has risen rapidly to popularity as a screen actor. The plot shows Gilbert as the hero, David Fielding.

Sub-Agent Is Named

The conference of steamship lines regularly to Portland in the intercoastal trade are the Luckenbach, American-Hawaiian, Williams, Hagerman, Marine Dispatch and Crowell & Thurlow.

The Crowell & Thurlow line will be represented by Portland by the Northwest Shipping company, an agent for Sudden & Christensen, a strong and long established San Francisco shipping firm, which has been appointed Pacific coast agent for the line. The line has yet to send its first vessel to Portland, but arrangements have been made for the line to handle the public docks to handle one of the steamers at the municipal terminals early in February. Several of the Crowell & Thurlow steamers have come to this coast, but none has had freight for Portland and all have been loading full returns for the Puget sound. Henceforth, according to the Northwest Shipping company, all of the Crowell & Thurlow steamers will call regularly at this port.

HIGHER PRICES TO PREVAIL BECAUSE OF TARIFF.

Increase in Import Duty Results in Greater Charges to Consumer on New Stocks.

The importation of peanuts from the orient, which stopped abruptly several months ago when the new tariff was enacted, has resumed on a large scale, with prices sufficiently higher to permit the absorption of the increased import duty. The shipment of peanuts from the orient has been received here recently in large quantities, and the price of peanuts to the consumer has been raised. The price of peanuts has been raised from 10 cents a bushel to 12 cents a bushel. The price of peanuts has been raised from 10 cents a bushel to 12 cents a bushel.
