ods of putting up pimentos and green peppers when people are likely to be interested in the matter and there is less danger of your clipping the recipe and losing it before it is needed.

I am sorry not to be able to grant your second request, either, but Amalons pudding as a name has no particular culinary significance, since it has been given to many different mixtures by different gastronomists. If you will describe as closely as possible what you have in mind, I shall be glad to try to find you the nearest possible recipe, or some reader may make a suggestion.

PORTLAND, March 7.—Dear Miss Tingle—Please give me a good recipe for a pudding that would be good to serve at a St. Patrick's day party. I would like it to be green in color. Thanking you. MRS. M. L. N.

I cannot guarantee that this will appear in time for your issue, but I am replying to your letter on the day it has reached me.

Any light-colored punch may be made with tea, that is easy to make and is generally refreshing and acceptable.

Fruit Punch (green)—One pint pineapple juice, 1 pint strong, clear tea (infused 5 minutes and poured at once from the leaves), 1 pint rice sugar syrup, 1 cup lemon juice (strained); mix and tint pale green with fruit coloring. Dilute to taste with cooler water or ginger ale. This may, of course, be made more or less tart and sweet by the use of more or less syrup or lemon juice.

Little white grape juice may be used if desired.

Some persons like the flavor given by adding a tablespoonful of two of "hot-water extract of lemon," made by infusing in ½ cup hot water the very thin cut or grate rind of 4 or 5 lemons. A few cloves may also be infused with the lemon rind if liked, but care must be taken that their flavor is not recognized in the mixture. Merely a hint of aroma is required.

When fresh mint is available a little spearmint infusion, or a few leaves of spearmint floating in the punch is usually liked. A few drops of peppermint extract, of course, may be used when no fresh mint is available, but it must be used with great discretion, as it is easy to spoil the brew by adding too much.

Orange juice is a very good addition to the above mixture, but would, I suppose, be distinctly out of place in St. Patrick's day punch.

If the punch is served in a bowl with ice, it is sometimes a good plan to keep a little of the mixture in a foundation to add to the bowl in case the melting ice makes the mixture too insipid.

Make the sugar syrup by boiling 3 cups sugar with 2 cups water for 3 to 5 minutes, depending upon the evaporation of water in the kettle.

For summer, when cool drinks are often wanted in a hurry, it is a good plan to keep a bottle of sugar syrup on hand. It gives a richer texture than plain sugar and combined with lemon juice can be made a foundation for all kinds of fruit punch.

Problems of Dressmaking by Madam Richef

Dear Madam Richef: I have five yards of 36-inch wide silk like sample which I wish to make into a dress. It would be suitable to wear either afternoons or evenings. It is 36 inches in length, 32 inches in width, 99 pounds, gray eyes, dark brown hair, not much hair on my head. I would be willing to have it made in a style which I rather liked style No. 3601 in the Designer sheet for March, page 9, but did not have time to order it. I would like to have it made in a style which I rather liked style No. 3601 in the Designer sheet for March, page 9, but did not have time to order it. I would like to have it made in a style which I rather liked style No. 3601 in the Designer sheet for March, page 9, but did not have time to order it.

F. B. Newberg, Or.: I believe you will like the dress I have selected for you rather than the one of which you speak, which is good for the heavier materials but not as well chosen for the material you have. Please see the March Elite, page 27 and model 1227 D. The sleeve should be cut in the kimono type, but have the full in rather than the open space, which is rather extreme for any dress to be worn on the street. If you are not blessed with much color, why not do a little trimming in the fuchsia shade of taffeta? I assure you that your dress will be well met at 1 o'clock today for luncheon in the home of Mrs. P. J. Mendenhall, 1249 East Davis street.

Portland, Or.—Dear Madam Richef: I do like to read your answers to others and am sure you can help me. I have a suit like sample. Have worn it several years, but it has not faded. I wish to make it into a one-piece dress. The jacket is 34 inches in length and quite full around the waist and it is 42 inches around the waist line. The skirt is 37 inches in length and 70 inches around the bottom. The lining should be used. I am aged 46, weight 125 pounds, 5 feet 11 inches tall, light brown hair, some gray, dark blue eyes. I am enclosing sample of a skirt I have just made and what I would like to have made. I will send you with it. Thanking you. MRS. M. L. N.

Mrs. M. L. N.: A style which will very nicely remodel will be found in the Butterick Quarterly on page 18, No. 3259. You will readily see how perfectly in line your skirt is. The seams in your jacket will not protrude this five years old, 3 feet 7 inches tall, weight 170 pounds, have very dark brown eyes, good color.

spring suit made of handwoven having the Copenhagen blue as the contrasting element. Cut the sleeve to a shorter line and if you feel that you wish the long type make a cape of the present and add the rather wide and banded at the wrist style, using the silk crash as used in the vestee, etc. The crash comes in many colors and the straw or the brick is effective with the blue material which you have.

A pongee or a Canton crepe will go well with your skirt and I would suggest in the brown matching the shade found in the skirt. See the model in the same issue, page 29, No. 3547.

Walla Walla, Wash.—Dear Madam Richef: I have a 36-inch wide silk (tall), weight 170 pounds, have very dark brown eyes, good color.

I have a dark brown satin skirt with three cords about three inches apart around the bottom. I would like a long overdress of some sort to wear with it. I had thought of having the February Fictorial Review, trimmed with wooden beads. The skirt is two yards suited to me. I draw up these cords to make the skirt narrower or what? What do you think of a figured georgette? Would be pretty to wear with this skirt? I neglected to say I am 42 waist, 44 hips.

I am having a dark brown Canton crepe made and the only color it has is a little touch of gold. What would you suggest for a hat? Which is preferable, brown or black shoes? I have brown shoes not recognized in the picture. I want a spring wrap of some sort. Most of my clothing is brown. Will have to make it myself. What would you suggest? Respectfully,

MRS. ELIZABETH W. WALLA WALLA, Wash.: The waist of crepe de chine embroidered in either the rope silk or the worsteds will be popular this season as it was last, and if you will kindly see the Butterick Quarterly for spring, on page 38, blouse 3532 will be most attractive. The same shade of tan as your suit with the embroidery done in the colors best suited to you, such as a French blue, fuchsia, black, jade, green and the gold thread would be most attractive.

The foulards are combined so much this season and with the brown satin would be very pretty if you can obtain a small figure in the pattern. Would not advise drawing the cords but rather take out a strip of the skirt if it seems too wide. With your proportion you can wear the wide skirt. The Jersey knit will also combine to advantage with your brown.

Wear a giraffe of the material selected for the overdress. The wooden bead trimming will not be good with this type of dress as the figured georgette, such as a French blue, a trim in itself. The model you mention is good style.

Wear a giraffe of the brown with a flower trimming having the fuchsia and the gold colorings, and not overly trimmed. The brown hose and the matching pumps will be the better thing to wear with your Canton.

The Designer for March shows a stunning cape which you can wear well. Make of the kitten's crepe satin, using your brown or a black or the now very popular and beautiful crepe de chine. See page 74, 2238. Line with crepe de chine. The long line of dress shown with cape would be good and the dress No. 2864, page 74, better than the one you mention. The embroidery will add color.

Banks, Or.—Dear Madam Richef: I have goods for dress like the enclosed sample. I want to make the straight one-piece dress with round neck. Would the enclosed sample of taffeta be suitable to face the bell-shaped sleeves and narrow skirt? Would like a beaded design on dress, not too elaborate. What color of beads should I use? I use sea beads should I use the taffeta facing?

Have brown eyes and light brown hair and have plenty of color. Am quite tall, but 40 inches. See page 74, 2238. Very truly yours, MARY JANE.

Mary Jane, Banks, Or.: Your combination of the orchid and plum is "delicious" and the model for your frock awaits you on page 28, No. 2599 in the March Delineator. Use your feelings of the taffeta and do a design similar to the figure shown in the material of the dress, using the steel, fuchsia and the orchid beads for the oval-like design. Of course, you need not embroider as many figures as shown in the material. You will have as charming a frock as has been suggested through this column.

Did you ever try Grape-Nuts with stewed prunes or peaches?

THERE isn't anything better for breakfast or lunch than a dish of Grape-Nuts, with cream or milk, and stewed prunes or peaches.

This delicious combination gives you the elements of a well-balanced food. For it contains not only the material needed to build tissue and furnish energy, but it also supplies fruit acids, that help keep the system in good order.

Go to your grocer today and order a package of delicious Grape-Nuts. You will find that it will digest more readily than most other cereals, and it will "stay by" you longer—because it's so richly nourishing.
