POLICE SEEK CLEW

Search Made of River Bank Where Bonds Were Found.

ALL-DAY HUNT FRUITLESS :

No Evidence Found That Would Bring About Apprehension of Centerville Yegg.

Detectives Leonard and Gordon yesterday failed to produce any additional evidence which would bring about the apprehension of the bank robber who threw $7700 in liberty bonds in the Willamette river.

The bonds, which were found Monday afternoon by John R. Frank, 845 North Edison street, were a part of the loot procured by yeggs who tun-neled their way into the vault of the been fashloned by a magician's wand. day night.

The bonds were found on a level beach about a mile below the St. Johns terminal. The current is such ow, Gordon said, as to make it easily essible for the bonds to have floated

The water-soaked bends were all registered, and this leads detectives to believe they were thrown away because of the fact they would be difficult to sell. A representative of the Centerville bank was in Portland yesterday to arrange for the trans-fer of the bonds to their owners.

MUNICIPAL POLICE DECLARED TO HAVE FALLEN DOWN.

County Court Hands Down Lecture to Towns as Result of Report by Grand Jury.

ROSEBURG, Or., March 14 .- (Spe cial.)—In a lengthy report filed this morning by the Douglas county court. the municipal police officers of the county were reprimanded for failing to enforce the laws in their communities. Many municipalities depend entirely upon the sheriff and his depu-ties to enforce the law in the county and petty misdomeanors have been referred to the sheriff with no attempt on the part of the officials of the municipalities to capture the of-fenders, the report declared. In sev-eral of the smaller towns of the county no marshals are employed, and the city government has seessed to function in regard to law enforcement, the grand jury asserted. The grand jury insisted upon better law enforcement by municipalities and a oser co-operation with the sheriff's

Mrs. George Worden, in "Pot Pourri" at Pantages. Portland children are to be given a trip around the world at the Pantages Saturday mat-ince, when they will see acts from every clime included on the present interesting pro-gramme. -"Pot Pourri" shows Australian cockatoos and oriental birds in gay attire doing a routine of difficult feats. The act is brilliantly staged. "A Japanese Romance" will give them a glimpse of the land of the cherry blossoms, with its teahouses and geisha girls, It is a colorful offering, beautifully staged and handsomely costumed. The "Bison City Four," a men's quartet, who prove themselves able funmakers, will entertain the children with a rollicking programme. Klass and Brilant are European musi-cians, and Norman Telma is an English contortionist, who uses
