Gifted and Black program is aimed at promoting student success and creating a vehicle for inspiring other students.

More than 130 student nominations from kindergarten through 12th grade were submitted and 28 finalists were selected.

The effort was put together by the district's Office of School-Family Partnerships. The honored students were photographed by professional photographer Marquis Johnson-Bey and interviewed by retired Portland Public Schools administrator Dr. Carolyn Leonard. Their photographs and inspiring stories will be shared with students, families and community members throughout Portland, including a Young, Gifted and Black booklet and web page.

In addition, the community is invited to attend the seventh annual Young Gifted and Black Tribute at the Blanchard Education Service Center, 501 N. Dixon St., on Wednesday, April 20 from 5:30 p.m. to 8 p.m.
