

HOW WILEY AIDED

Tells Story of $10,000 Diamond Robbery.

STOOD OUTSIDE AND WATCHED

Savage, He Says, Went in the Hotel and Came Back With the Booty—True Johnson's Part.

Kelly Wiley told the story of the $10,000 diamond robbery at the trial of Charles and Frankie Savage, before Judge Fraser and a jury yesterday. He refused to admit that he was himself concerned in it, or got any of the plunder, although he pleaded guilty and was sentenced to five years in the penitentiary. Wiley said he pleaded guilty because of other things the police had against him, concluding that the best thing to do was to dispose of everything at once. In answer to questions, Wiley testified as follows:

"I am 21 years old, and was born at Louisville. I know Savage and Frankie Savage. I went to school with Savage. I came to Portland in August, 1919. Savage and I came together. I worked on the O. R. & N. Co.'s dining car between Portland and La Grande. I was in the city on Sunday, November 11. I saw Savage at his home. I went there at 7:30 o'clock and we played cards. Savage and his wife, Mrs. Bertha Glenn and I. We played until 10:30 o'clock, when Savage said he had rheumatism, and he was going to see the head bellman at the Portland Hotel, and find out if he could not get a job in the washroom. He said he did not want to hop bells any more. We started out together for the hotel. Savage went in, and I walked around on the outside, up Morrison street, and on Yamhill street. I waited about 30 to 40 minutes, and then met Savage at 40th and Morrison streets, and went with him to his house. He walked fast, and showed me a couple of plush boxes."

"What did he say?" asked Attorney Spencer.

"When he got to the house, he said: 'That is not all. My partner got the rest of them.' Afterward he told me the detectives were watching him and the bell-boys, and I didn't go to his house any more. I didn't see him again until yesterday."

"State what took place at his house," asked Mr. Spencer.

"He showed me breastpins."

"State how many there were."

"There must have been 25 or 30."

"What did you do after that?"

"I stayed in Savage's house about 20 minutes. We then went to Mrs. True Johnson's, and had some beer, and subsequently I went to a saloon."

"Do you know if Mrs. Savage saw the diamonds?"

"She didn't see them when I was there."

"Were the diamonds paste or what?"

"I don't know. I suppose they were diamonds."

"Did he state the name of the party he had to cut up with?"

"No."

"Being pressed for further particulars concerning what occurred at True Johnson's house, Wiley said: 'Savage spoke of leaving the stuff there.'"

Mr. Spencer asked: "Did you see him hand it over?"

"No," Wiley answered.

Wiley was next asked to give more details of the occurrence at the rooms of Mr. and Mrs. Savage, and said that he remarked, on looking at the diamonds, "Gee! That is a whole lot," and asked Savage who his partner was, and Savage replied: "You don't know him. He don't come around the colored folks much."

The witness further said he did not know where any stuff is now, and that he was a brother-in-law of Savage, also that he did not go out on his run the next morning because he was sick, and also for the reason that he intended going away on account of little mishaps he had here.

The cross-examination further developed that Wiley was arrested for burglary, and that the case was not pressed; also that he had lived in Denver for 12 years, working there constantly. He asserted positively that he never was in any trouble of a criminal nature in Colorado. Wiley said three informations were filed against him charging him with burglary, and that he pleaded guilty to the charge of stealing the diamonds in order to receive leniency and get one sentence for all of the offenses. He told about being placed in the sweat-box, but said he did not help to steal the diamonds, and never got any of them. He simply knew about it. Wiley stated that Savage never told him that the fat boy of the bell gang was his partner in the crime.

Mrs. True Johnson was the next important witness. She proved to be very intelligent, and also showed an apparent willingness to tell all she knew about the case. She said, referring to the night of the robbery: "Savage and Wiley came to my house, and Savage told me he had some diamonds to keep for him. I took some from Mrs. Savage, and hid them under the bed. She gave me some more he had tied up in his handsome shirt. She said: 'Don't let Kelly know about the rings in the handsome shirt, and I put them away, so he could not see them. Wiley said that Kelly had given Savage the most of it. Savage said: 'True, I will give you a valuable present for keeping the diamonds,' and he also remarked, 'You haven't seen me tonight, True.'"

Mrs. Johnson said she asked Savage how he got in Lowenthal's room, and he told her that he took a key out of the janitor's coat pocket, which was hanging in the basement, and opened the door with a hook used to lift trunks. Savage told her Kelly Wiley did not do anything. She only stood outside and watched, and he (Savage) could have done the job himself, and Wiley did not deserve anything."

The witness, continuing, said: "At the time Mrs. Savage turned the package over I did not know what it contained. I looked the next morning in the handsome shirt, and found it contained rings, and the box contained breastpins and brooches, and stick-pins."

Mrs. Johnson explained that she hid the diamonds in a pillow, and afterward in the top of a large lamp, which Mrs. Savage remarked, "was a right good proposition." Mrs. Johnson stated that the Savages visited her frequently for several days. They were alarmed that they were being watched, and were afraid that Kelly Wiley would enter the place at night through the window and steal the diamonds.

Savage finally left for Denver, on the pretense that he was going to visit his sick mother, but did not take any of the stolen property with him. Mrs. Johnson a few days later took the train for Omaha, where she was arrested, taking some of the diamonds with her. She left the rest of them in the lamp. Mrs. Savage followed later, and the supposition is that she obtained the diamonds which were left in the lamp, although there was no evidence to that effect.

Mrs. Bertha Glenn testified regarding the meeting at the house of the Savages and the card game, and other witnesses were examined concerning matters of minor importance. The trial will be continued Monday. The man with whom Savage divided the plunder has not yet been located.

DEATH OF GRAHAM GLASS, SR.

PROMINENT CITIZEN PASSES AWAY.

Graham Glass, Sr., 72 years old, died at 11:30 o'clock last night at the family residence, 522 Fourth street, after a four weeks' illness of anemia. He was born May 29, 1852, of Scotch-Irish parents, and was married in Dublin, July 23, 1874, to Frances Ann Johnson, coming to this country the same year. In 1880 Mr. Glass arrived in Oregon, and has continuously resided in Portland ever since. Sixty years ago, he was confirmed in the Protestant Episcopal Church, his ancestors on both sides being strong adherents of that faith. He was a Mason for 30 years, St. John's Lodge, No. 20, A. F. & A. M., London, Ontario, having made him an honorary member for life. Mr. Glass was vitally interested in the prosperity of this city, and had considerable property interests, the value of his estate being estimated at about $100,000. Associated with Adolph Dekum and C. E. Smith, he was a prime mover in the construction of the First-street railway. Besides his aged widow, Mr. Glass has left four children: Mrs. W. A. Barnore, of Santa Rosa, Cal.; A. W. Glass, of Detroit, Mich.; Oscar Crawford, and Graham Glass, Jr., of Portland.

Francisco, will not get the estate left by Henry Wilson, deceased, valued at about $12,000. The verdict of the jury which heard the case against her claim, and in favor of the State of Oregon. The property belongs to the state under the escheat law, until the right of a lawful heir is established.

and the jury returned a verdict yesterday afternoon, after about two hours' deliberation. Mrs. Enger alleged that she was the only sister of Wilson, and, although she came to San Francisco in 1875, she did not ascertain that he had lived in Oregon for many years, until after his death, which occurred in 1917. She testified that she was born in 1822, in Norway, and that Wilson was born in the same place in 1830. She told many things about him that are known to be true, as also did witnesses in her behalf, but the jury concluded the burden of proof was on the other side of the case. Mrs. Enger did not come here in person, but sent her deposition taken in San Francisco.

SEEK TO DISSOLVE INJUNCTION.

Question of Widening Macadam Road Argued in Court.

A motion to dissolve the injunction issued in the State Circuit Court restraining the widening of the Macadam road was argued yesterday before Judge Sears, and was taken under advisement of the court.

In the petition asking for an injunction, Judge Cake and County Commissioners Showers and Mack were named as the defendants, and the petition was served only on Judge Cake.

Charles H. Carey, attorney for the Portland Driving Association, which has been advocating the improvement of the road, appeared as special counsel for the defendants. Mr. Carey argued that the County Judge is one of three members of the court. If the members of the court are to be served, all three should be served. He said the County Judge does not represent the other two; his action alone in county matters would not bind the court, nor the county. The statute, he asserted, seems to indicate that the Clerk having custody of the records and proceedings of the court is the proper person to be served, and not the members of the court. Mr. Carey also urged that the county is a necessary party to such a proceeding, and has not been made such in the petition, and that the county is served by service on the clerk.

W. L. Brewster, attorney for the petitioners, argued that service upon the County Judge as the head or presiding officer of the County Court is sufficient, and concerning the point that the county must be made a party, contended that the courts have not positively so held, and that the County Judge and Commissioners, in their legal capacity, represented the county. Mr. Brewster read some authorities. In his petition he sets up that the starting point of the road is indefinitely described, and, further, that it is not the intention to relocate part of the road, as it is impossible to do so. These and other points were argued on both sides by counsel.

Wants Executor Removed.

Julia C. Richardson yesterday filed a petition in the County Court, asking for the removal of Bertrand Orth, as executor of the will of Eleanor Richardson, deceased, on the ground that he has removed to Vancouver, B. C., which is outside of the jurisdiction of the court. Orth was bequeathed most of the property under the terms of the will. Miss Richardson avers that she has a claim against the estate for $700 for breach of contract. She asserts that Eleanor Richardson agreed in writing to leave her all of the property, and did not do it. This case, under a different style of proceeding, has already been through the courts.

Sues for Medical Services.

Byron E. Miller has filed suit in the State Circuit Court against Albert Abraham, attorney, to recover $115 for medical services performed at the instance and request of Abraham, between January, 1918, and April, 1917.

High Beef A Benefit

if it teaches you that Better health Greater strength Keener Brain come from Grape-Nuts

Try the change and "cut out" meat for breakfast. Our word for it you will feel "Fit as a Lord" in a week's time by breakfasting on Grape-Nuts and cream, a little fruit and perhaps one or two soft eggs. If you ever try this experiment, you will always bless the day of high beef that waked you up. There's a reason why Grape-Nuts furnishes power to the body and brain. The food contains selected parts of the field grains that furnish phosphate of potash in a natural state that can be assimilated by the human body, this joins with the albumen of food and forms the soft filling of the brain and nerve centers. Feed skilfully and you can "do things. The greatest brain workers in America eat Grape-Nuts. Ask one or two, they'll tell you. You meat eaters who are ailing in any sort of way might take a valuable hint from the following statement of Chief Chemist Wiley, of the Agricultural Department, in the Daily Press from which we give the following extracts:—

"There is no doubt of the fact that meat-eating is not essential to human life, and that men can be well nourished without resorting to a flesh diet. I think the statement may be accepted without question that, as a rule, we eat too much, not only of meat, but of all forms of food. The question of limiting the diet is based primarily not on the principle of economy, but on the requirements of hygiene. At the early breakfasts which Americans are wont to indulge in, that is, a hearty meal before going to their daily work, the omission of meat is to be earnestly advised. It is well known that men who are nourished very extensively on certain cereals are capable of the hardest and most enduring labor. Nuts are quickly digested, furnish an abundance of energy soon after consumption, but are not retained in the digestive organism long enough to sustain permanent muscular exertion."

You will feel the Energy of Grape-Nuts longer than any meal of meat Remember Grape-Nuts food costs about one cent per meal for each person and all grocers sell it: Made at pure food factories of Postum Cereal Co., Ltd., Battle Creek, Mich.
