

The crowd that has flocked the beach for the past two or three weeks is slowly turning homeward. Another week will find the beach almost deserted. Yet some of the cottagers will remain until the second week in Seutember, and even later. It is to be regretted that so few will remain at the benches to enjoy the beautiful Indian Summer that invariably comes during the month of September. It is during the latter part of the season that most of the wild berries and fruits indigenous to the seacoast ripen. Even now numerous parties go hunting the fine flavored blackberry, huckleberry, salalberry, and salmon-berry. The girls of the beach have developed a new craze of adorning their hats with fishhooks, nipe-wings, and wishbones of that bird, whereas the boys have a craze of getting canes of redwood and crabapple. The present season has been somewhat better for the hotel-keeper than last season, still there is no comparison between stel trade of sixtyears ago and the pres-

One of the main reasons for the early return of pleasure-seekers is the attraction of the Elks' Carnival, and many hotel-keepers rejoice that the present carnival will be the last of which the Elks will have the management.

GOOD TIMES AT FLAVEL.

Guests Have Good Time in Riding and Other Amusements.

It is now glorious weather down at Flavel, and the very meridian of the sca-son. Flavel is most attractive to those who follow the horses and who perhaps the evening like a little additional ausement at the "clubs," bowling, playing billiards, ping-pong, or a social game of cards. Professor Brown is at Flavel with his entire string of riding horses, and the last few weeks many merry partes have made the delightful trip through Primrose Path, down by the Lifesaving Station, on through the fort, past the bthouse, down to the beach, and on ound to the hotel, via Warrenton. Behtho Baturday night another enjoyable "guests' hop" was given, and it proved to be a decided social success. Good sig and cool sea air inspired everybody, and the merry waltzes were en thusinstically danced.

Flavel is especially inviting just now as there are many beautiful marine sights to behold daily. Full-rigged sailing verbels are, faily entering the mighty Co-lumbia, and pass within a stone's throw: of the hotel veranda, like ghostly, white-winged sentinels on dress parado. The sight of two and three "four-masters," with all sail sot, swinging lightly into their fresh-water, boths is worth soins their fresh-water berths, is worth going miles to behold.

For the past two weeks Finvel has entertained the largest crowds ever known in the history of the place. The bath-ing grounds have been especially popular at Flavel; not an accident has occurred, and the beach has been especially firm the whole season. There is no undertow at Playel beach.

Mrs. Mitchell, the manager of Flavel, has proven a charming hostess, and has made Flavel a large, jolly, good-natured family, even with its many guests. The season at Flavel promises to continue for some time, and several social events are yet to come off. The event of the week was the birthday party given by Miss Minnie Fleischner. The young folks are quite as fash-ionable this season as their older brothers and sisters, and their fathers and mothers. The birthday party given Tues-day evening, August 19, by Miss Minnie Fielschner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. N. Fleischner, of Portland, was one most interesting features of

Musical Entertainment and Dances

Are Order of the Week.

An entertainment was held at Long Beach Hall Wednesday evening for the benefit of the Catholic Church. The entertalament, which was principally a mu-sicale, was followed by a dance. The programme of the musicale was as follows: Opening overture, Everest's Or-chestra; song, Miss Katherine Lawler; instrumental solo, Ed Sheridan; vocal duct, the Misses Shaw; song, Mr. Fitzsimmons. Johnnie Everest's Orchestra still continues to play at the Long Beach dances Everest's Orchestra carries its Portland popularity to the beach as is evidenced by the good attendance at his dances. The dances here are most informal, and accordingly have a characteristic attrac-tion land, are registered at Seaside House. E. M. Williams, of Dallas, visited his family Sunday at Seaside House. W. Many Excursionists Go to Thompson Falls.

A favorite place with excutaionists at this beach is Thompson's Falls. The falls are Inland two miles, and occupy a mid-dle position between Gearbart and Sen-side. The water which is that of a clean mountain stream, falls come 100 feet and furnishes the water supply for Gearhard Park

Another spot of interest to Easterners is the quaint little Indian vidiage on a bliff overlooking the Necanicam River. Here the relic-hunter finds remains of implements and arms used by the early Clatsops.

Still another spot of interest is the salt cairs, where it is said Lewis and Clark bpiled sea water for salt. These are a few of the spots of historical interest on this coast. At Genrhart.

GOVERNMENT JETTY AT MOUTH OF COLUMBIA RIVER-SHOWING SPIT FORMED BY DRIFTING SANDS.

This view was taken midway between the land end of the jetty at Fort Stevens and the extrems point that the jetty reaches seaward. The point of interest is the "epur" that ex-tends out from the main line of the jetty itself. Drifting sands have not only filled in under this "spur" far above extreme high-water mark, but it will be noticed that at one point the sunds reach to the level of the up of the false work.
