

VIEW THE DAKOTA

Thousands of Visitors Board Great Vessel at Bay City.

MANY WOMEN IN THROG

Guests Are Permitted to Roam Over the Steamer at Will, and Refreshments Are Provided in Great Abundance.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 24.—(Special.)—A reception was given yesterday to the public aboard the great steamer Dakota, on the way to Seattle, for which port the vessel sailed this afternoon.

Refreshments were served in the grand dining saloon, and wine and other liquors and sandwiches and boxes of fine cigars stood on the tables, from which smokers stood themselves. The crowd was so great that anything like personally conducted groups was out of the question, and the visitors were allowed to roam about the big vessel at will, asking questions of officers and men alike, who strove to satisfy their curiosity.

At one time it was estimated that there were over 400 people on the wharf, and the pressure was so great that Mr. Blair ordered that the crowd be pressed back from the edge and the gangway raised until some of those on the steamer should make room by passing out the after cabin passageway. Captain John Martin, of the harbor police station, was on the wharf with a squad of his men handling the enormous crowd without accident, amid the hundreds of trucks and automobiles, keeping it clear of the thousands of tons of cargo being discharged from the steamer.

The Dakota cleared at the Customhouse today for Seattle. A big gang of stevedores was hard at work this morning getting out the freight she brought for this port.

MAN KILLS BEARDESS YOUTH

James Howlett Found Guilty of Manslaughter in California.

WOODLAND, Cal., June 24.—(Special.)—The jury in the case of James Howlett, accused of the murder of William Gamble, returned a verdict of manslaughter this morning. Howlett will receive sentence Monday.

Howlett shot and mortally wounded William Gamble, a lad 18 years old, in the course of a fight which took place about eight miles from Capay, on the night of April 21. Gamble died at the home of his parents, in San Francisco, where he was taken from a hospital in Woodland several days after the shooting.

According to the dying statement of the victim and the testimony of Welch, the only eyewitness, Howlett was drinking wine in the latter was sending over arranging a bed for Howlett upon the floor, apparently without provocation. Howlett had been drinking, and was aroused from a drunken sleep when he got to bed when the tragedy occurred.

Howlett, who is 30 years old, testified in his defense that Welch and Gamble were drunk and that he shot Gamble to protect himself.

LODZ IS CHAMBERLAIN

Divorced to Marry Wife's Guest.

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—(Special.)—The secret of the divorce of W. S. Stowell, a millionaire of this city, is out. His marriage Tuesday to a girl 22 years old, explains his desire to be free from the wife with whom he had lived 29 years in apparent happiness. His latest bride is Miss Evelyn Williams, of Chicago. Even Mrs. Stowell had no idea her husband contemplated another marriage when he brought his singular suit for divorce. A telegram received today announced the wedding. Mrs. Stowell entertained the girl in her own house; in fact, it was while the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Stowell, in this city, that the millionaire became smitten with his new wife. The Stowells have lived here many years. The Stowell block figured in the divorce settlement. Stowell apparently tried to keep the divorce secret. He went to El Paso, Tex., to get it. Mrs. Stowell bringing a counter-suit here. Nearly $100,000 was settled upon Mrs. Stowell.

Worked Two Days in Ten Years.

LOS ANGELES, June 24.—(Special.)—Ten years ago Samuel Montgomery took a solemn vow never to do another stroke of work, and he kept it, with the exception of two days. He admitted this in court today when his wife was suing him for a divorce, which was granted. "And if the Lord will forgive me for that two days, I'll never do it again, sir," said Samuel to the judge. It developed in the trial that Montgomery never gave his wife a cent during the five years of their married life, and no clothing, except one hat, although he claims he will be worth $100,000 within a few years. He is a Socialist speaker.

SCANDAL AMONG VETERANS

Director of Home Often Seen Drunk by Inmates.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 24.—There is a scandal in the Veterans' Home Association, which has charge of 1000 old soldiers of the Mexican and Civil wars, at Yountville, in the Napa valley. Misconduct is charged against Director George W. Strohl and the papers in the case have been in the hands of Governor Pardee for several days. Dr. W. McAllister, medical director of the Yountville home, preferred the charges and sent them to the Governor, instead of submitting them to the Board of Directors first. Dr. McAllister, in his signed charge, says that he has seen the director at the home in an intoxicated condition and been seen by the old veterans on the grounds in various buildings in that condition. So patient was his drunken state, it is alleged, that the soldier inmates repeatedly commented on Strohl and his drinking habits.

The soldiers are not allowed to drink on the grounds since the abolition of the canteen. McAllister's sworn statement to the Governor comments on that fact and goes on to say that as a consequence, Strohl's conduct has tended to demoralize some of the men and in that respect in particular has been highly reprehensible.

The canteen question has for some time been a burning issue at the institution. That adds importance to the charge against Strohl in that the canteen was abolished the soldiers have patronized saloons at Yountville, a town a mile away from the home. The directors have repeatedly charged that the saloons have been selling bad liquor to the soldiers, and that seven or eight deaths can be traced to this fact. At the last session of the Legislature, the director got a law passed prohibiting the sale of liquor within a mile and a half of the home. This law was aimed at the Yountville saloons, and has caused much bitterness among the inmates and their friends, and also on some of the soldiers who favored the saloons.

HEINZE COPPER CASE.

New Complaint Filed in Famous Montana Mining Suit.

NEW YORK, June 24.—Further litigation in the famous Heinze copper mining case was instituted today before the United States Circuit Court, when the Johnstone Mining Company filed an amended complaint in the suit for the Boston & Montana Silver & Copper Mining Company, in which suit it is alleged the defendant company took valuable ore to the amount of $37,000,000. These charges are repeated in the new complaint, which also alleges that the Montana Ore Purchasing Company, prior to the commencement of the action, was the owner of certain ore of great value that had become separate property and freed from the Rarus mine in Montana; that the defendant, well knowing that the ore were the property of the Johnstone Company and the Montana Ore Purchasing Company, wrongfully took these ores. The Johnstone Company, the complaint alleges, deeded its title to the ore in question to the Montana Ore Purchasing Company.

The real question involved is whether the mining patent granted by the United States to Eugene Palmyre and four others in June, 1884, for the property in question and conveyed to F. A. Heinze, who in 1897 transferred his rights to the Montana Ore Purchasing Company, is legally valid. Since November 8, 1898, the Montana Ore Purchasing Company and the plaintiff were the joint owners of the veins in the Rarus mine. The decision in this case will call for a new construction of the United States mining laws by the Federal courts.

losses to themselves and fearful slaughter to the rioters. The soldiers exhibited the utmost carelessness as to whether they killed peaceful persons or rioters and as a consequence many women and children were among the dead.

Streets Like Battle-Field.

The streets on Friday resembled a battlefield. The houses were barricaded with boards and beams and many volleys and individual shots were heard in every quarter of the city. Until late at night the Cossacks were busy collecting bodies of the dead and picking up persons seriously wounded. The bodies were carried off in carts to neighboring churches. Hence the impossibility of giving an accurate estimate of the dead until order is completely restored, if indeed the full story is ever told.

Terrorists are energetically fomenting agitation among the soldiers by distributing revolutionary proclamations and pamphlets, but their efforts are without effect.

Shooting was renewed this evening. Cossacks are robbing the dead of jewels and money.

A factory-owner named Newmann has been shot by strikers.

ANARCHY REIGNS IN WARSAW

Bombthrowing Is Signal for Battle Between Mob and Troops.

WARSAW, June 25.—Anarchy's red flag was again unfurled in Warsaw's streets today, and in the evening the scenes of rioting and bloodshed that brought death to hundreds and injury to thousands at Lodz in the past four days of rioting promise to be repeated here, unless the troops are able to cow the spirit of the Socialist element. Up to midnight it was known that one soldier had been shot dead. In reprisal the troops to which the murdered soldier belonged fired into the throng, injuring several men and women. Soldiers of an infantry detachment shot down a mother and her daughter, who taunted them with revolutionary cries. Two soldiers were fatally injured by the bursting of a bomb thrown into a detachment of mounted Cossacks.

At 7 o'clock last night, hundreds of Socialists and laboring men cheered the fight their comrades had made against the authorities at Lodz, counting not the cost in life and property after being harangued by several Socialist leaders, whose language whipped them into a frenzy, and all shouting taunts to the troops, who hurried away to give the alarm.

At the corner of Wronia street, the authorities made a determined effort to bring the procession to a halt in order to interrupt its march. A party of mounted gendarmes with drawn sabres blocked the entire width of the street. As the procession came near, the officer in command called to the marchers to disperse.

Bomb Thrown at Cossacks.

In reply a young man went up with the leader, ran forward a few paces, hurled a bomb at the mounted soldiers, and then, turning, fled and made his escape. The bomb exploded under the horse of a Cossack. The animal was blown to pieces and its rider and another soldier were frightfully injured, but were taken to a hospital. It is not expected they can recover.

The damage resulting from the bursting bomb added to the excitement, and for a time had a quieting effect upon the marchers. The noise of the explosion drew a still greater crowd, however, which packed the adjoining streets of Leszno and Chlona. The troops, reinforced by a detachment of infantry, made a determined assault. Two volleys were fired by the foot soldiers into the marchers, the officers giving the order without osting on the people to fall back and disperse. It is not known how many were killed or injured. The marchers withdrew sullenly with their maimed comrades, and order was partially restored.

Later on the remnants of the mob captured a secret police officer and upon him took revenge for the killing of their members. An agent of the police who was recognized by one of the Socialists was shot six times and stabbed twice and left for dead. He was later found by the police, and, despite his frightful wounds, the surgeons say he has a chance for his life.

Deadly Revenge for Comrade.

Later on in the evening, while a Cossack patrol was passing below Konstantna street, one of a number of police and military squads that were sent to every section of the city to restore order and to prevent the formation of mobs, a man leaped from the window of a house and shot dead one of the soldiers. The revenge of his comrades was instantaneous. They surrounded the house, and, without calling on the man to surrender, poured volley after volley through the windows, doors and walls. When they had ceased firing, two men in the house were dead, two women so badly shot that they cannot live, and the remaining inmates, who numbered a score, were all more or less seriously wounded.

Early in the evening a patrol passing near the gas works was taunted with revolutionary cries by two women, a mother and her daughter. Without a word of command from the officers the patrol shot the two dead.

Death Roll at Lodz.

Official reports of rioting at Lodz and vicinity, official in that they are what is admitted by the authorities, who have been in communication with Lodz constantly during the troubles, state that the number of dead is 22.

Funerals of the dead were held today. The burials were wholesale. In the village of Dely 96, and in the village of Darzew 125 were buried. It is believed that the authorities will admit that the number of dead is in excess of that admitted today.

CLIP POWER OF ASSEMBLY

Russian National Parliament Will Be Closely Hedged About.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 25.—(12:45 A. M.)—Russia's coming National Assembly, if forecasts that are appearing in the newspapers are correct, will be controlled by parliamentary intrigues and courtship from the standpoint of Western countries. Everywhere checks will be introduced upon the power of the Goszod-zarstvenno Duma, or popular elected lower house of the Legislative Assembly, and arbitrary methods will be evolved for overriding, or rather, sweeping aside its objections when they become troublesome or too insistent.

For instance, if measures fail to reach the Council of the Empire or the upper house within a certain time, consent of the lower house will be assumed to have been given. This instrumental consent is supported by thirty members and then goes to the Minister whose department is affected, who exercises a sort of preliminary veto power which can only be broken down by vote of two-thirds of both houses and with the approval of the Emperor. Even then it will only have the effect to compel the Minister to introduce a project of law to meet the views of the Assembly within a year.

The lower house has not the power to initiate revenue legislation. The budget is to be introduced by the Minister of Finance annually on November 11, and must go through committee in ten days and be passed by December 5. All items providing for existing laws or relating to the established budget of the army and navy cannot be stricken out and the machinery practically insures acceptance of the budget by providing for a motion picture striking in them to follow the same procedure in new legislation.

Throughout, the Council of the Empire nominated by the Emperor exercises a preponderating influence or control over the elected lower house. The president of the house is clothed with powers not only to keep debate within bounds, but to suspend the session. Ministers are to be interpreted in Camera, and only such portions of proceedings in executive sessions may be published as the president approves. Representatives are to be admitted to open sessions, but their accounts are considerable. Besides, there will be an official publication like the Congressional Record at Washington.

The mode of election is yet undecided. Apparently there are two possibilities, one for class representation and the other along the general suffrage line. This question is yet under consideration.

RUSSIAN TRADE IS CRIPPLED

War and Strikes Reduce Nation to Verge of Bankruptcy.

LONDON, June 24.—A private dispatch from St. Petersburg states that a confidential source of the actual condition of Russia at the present moment is now in the hands of the Minister of the Interior and that its contents, if permitted to become officially known, would make it impossible for Russia to borrow a single kopeck in any foreign market. Embodying statistics gathered within the past month or so, the report shows beyond the shadow of a doubt that Russia is financially bankrupt, with little hope at the moment of early redemption.

Russian Poland has suffered worse than any other region of the country, but even the famous oil belt has become unproductive of property, and the large factory enterprises of St. Petersburg, Moscow and Kiev, which at the beginning of the war were the mainstay of the Russian Empire, have been all but crippled by the strike movements of the past month.

The industrial quarters were apparently struck by the first blow against Port Arthur and suddenly interrupted in very serious fashion Russia's considerable sea-trade. The Russian steamship lines were paralyzed, her Baltic ports and the Far East. The ships of the Russian Empire, which were the mainstay of the Russian Empire, have been all but crippled by the strike movements of the past month.

Then came the crippling for commercial purposes of nearly every railway line in the country. The result was that the shipments of soldiers and supplies, and it is said that, had the interruptions of trade not compelled the Polish and other manufacturers to reduce their employees' money wages, the great strike movement with its attendant cry for liberty would never have been inaugurated.

LIKE TAKING BESIEGED CITY

Desperate Resistance of Workmen to Attacks of Soldiers.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 25.—(12:11 A. M.)—St. Petersburg is without definite news of the happenings on Friday and last night at Lodz and there is the keenest apprehension that Saturday may have been marked by a renewal of the battle of Friday, the dead of which are apparently to be numbered by the hundreds. The troops were desperately opposed by an army of 60,000, many armed with revolvers, and defending substantial barricades with bullets and showers of paving stones and other missiles, and even bombs.

The industrial quarters were apparently largely in the hands of the manifestants and the task of the troops was akin to that of the Russian soldiers in the war in Turkestan, when down had to be stormed street by street, almost house to house.

The demolition of the barricades at Lodz required regular sappers work under the fire of revolvers and showers of missiles from windows of houses, by which the troops suffered heavily. The Military Governor had at his disposal four regiments of infantry and two of cavalry. The last barricades were taken at 4 o'clock Saturday morning.

NEARLY 300 ARE KILLED.

Lodz Full of Dead and Hospitals Are Crowded.

LODZ, Russian Poland, June 24.—So far as ascertained, 130 persons were killed outright during the fighting of Friday, and 41 more died in the hospitals during the night. Of the wounded, 220 sustained only slight injuries, which were attended to on the spot by the ambulance surgeons. The casualties up to noon today add 13 killed or wounded to yesterday's appalling total.

All the hospitals of the city are filled to overflowing, and owing to the insufficient number of beds, many of the wounded are lying on the floors of hospitals.

All the shops, stores and factories are closed, and business is at a deadlock. The rioters this morning attempted to set fire to the government offices, but were scattered by a strong force of troops.

BOMBTHROWER IS SENTENCED

Warsaw Workmen Threaten to Strike in Revenge.

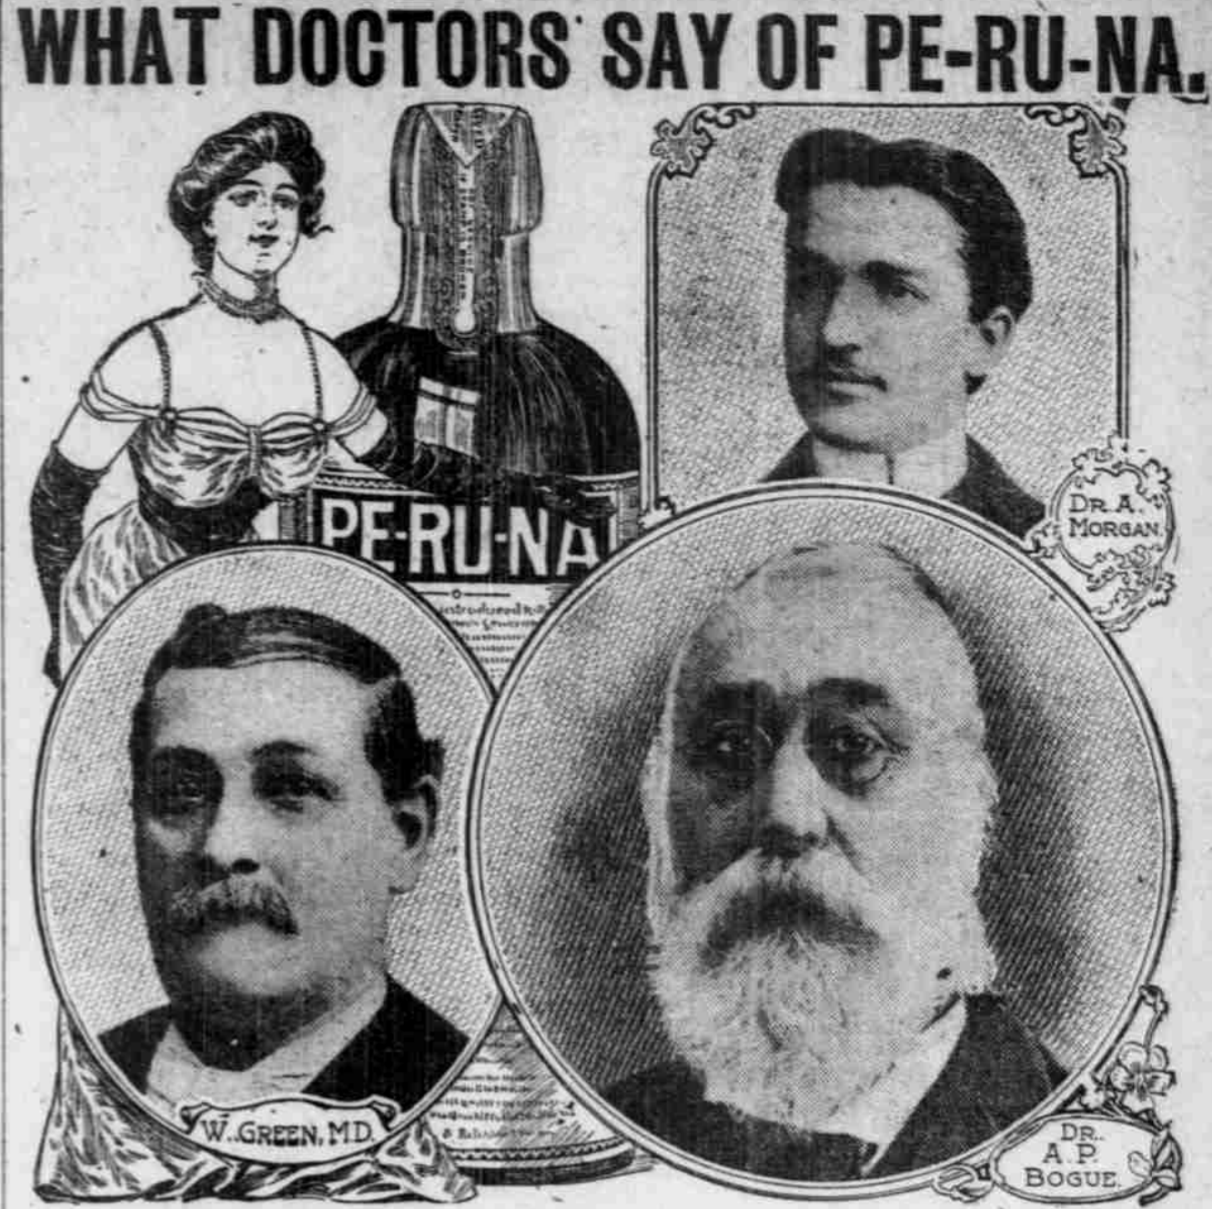

WARSAW, Russian Poland, June 24.—(Stephan Okrzeja, the locksmith who threw the bomb into the Praga police station on Monday night, 18, sustained only slight injuries, which were attended to on the spot by the ambulance surgeons. The workers threaten a general strike as a consequence, and further serious disorder is anticipated. The streets are being patrolled by Cossacks and infantry.

A workman was murdered in the streets during the night for refusing to fight.

FIGHTING LASTED ALL NIGHT

Continuous Fusillade Shows Stubborn Resistance to Troops.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 24 (P. M.).—Dispatches received here from Lodz report that street fighting continued there nearly all night, but that the rioters were finally dispersed and were unable to give the number of dead or even an estimate of the casualties. One fusillade at midnight is reported to have lasted 15 minutes, indicating a stout resistance. The troops Found Pe-ru-na a Notable Exception.

Dr. A. Morgan, 314 West Gater street, Indianapolis, Ind., writes: "Regular physicians do not, as a rule, endorse patent medicines. 'I have, however, found in my practice that Pe-ru-na is a notable exception and not at all like any other medicine generally sold as 'patent medicine.' 'In examining it I find that it is a scientifically prepared medicine, composed of herbal remedies of high medicinal value. 'It is a specific for catarrh of the head, lungs or stomach, a fine remedy for female trouble and invaluable to mothers and children. 'After fevers and other protracted illness, it is one of the best tonics I know of to restore the system to normal condition and I recommend it to convalescents. 'It is a high-class remedy, good for young and old.'"

Professor of Howard University Recommends Pe-ru-na to the Public.

Dr. A. P. Bogue, formerly professor of anatomy at Howard University, writes from the Bureau of Education, Washington, D. C., as follows: "I have used Pe-ru-na in several cases of catarrh and have found it an excellent remedy. 'I can honestly recommend it to the public as an excellent remedy for catarrh and colds.'"

At Lodz were strongly reinforced during the night.

CANT GIVE JEWS EQUALITY

Czar Approves Referring Case to National Assembly.

ST. PETERSBURG, June 24.—Emperor Nicholas last Wednesday approved the recommendations of the Committee of Ministers on the revision of laws dealing with Jews. The committee was of the opinion that it would be detrimental to the interests of the remainder of the population to give Jews equality and might lead to outbreaks of popular illwill, and it therefore was decided to leave the revision of the laws to the forthcoming representative assembly, but recommended the appointment of a special official conference, to consist of members to be nominated by the Emperor and representatives of the authorities, to arrange the preliminaries.
