LADY ANGELA NONPLUSSED

Colonel Forbes Refuses to Live With Actress Wife Who Yearned for the Comforts of Home for Many Years.

LONDON, Dec. 1 .- (Special.) - The heroine of the latest society divorce case is Lady Angela Forbes, sister of the Countess of Warwick, the Duchess of Sutherland, and Lord Rosslyn. Lady Angela is popular as an amateur actress, and is also well known in America.

The Edinburgh Court of Session granted her her freedom after hearing her story, to which her husband, Colonel James Stewart Forbes, made no defense. They had been married ten years, and for four years he had refused to live with her.

"At first," said Lady Angela, "our married life was fairly happy, and then the relations between my husband and myself became rather strained. While in South Africa, during the war, my husband wrote home proposing to execute a deed of separation, and on his return he refused to occupy the same room with me."

"For two years we lived more or less uder the same roof, but never occupled the same room. Occasionally he visited me in my flat in Lendon, but always on this understanding.

"In 1903 I visited America, with my husband's consent, and stayed with a woman friend who had gone to live there. On my return I cabled to my husband to meet me at Liverpool but this he failed to do.

"Afterwards my husband went abroad, but after his return to England his visits ceased altogether. Nor could I get any effect by writing to him. Replying to one of my letters, he refused to come and live with me, say-ing, 'I have made up my mind not to live under the same roof with you. But please don't let us quarrel about it.
"That was his position all along-although he would not treat me as his wife, he saw no reason for making a public quarrel. He would give absolutely no reason for his conduct, al-though throughout the whole course of the separation I have been trying to

For this reason Lady Angela's residence was given as Balfour, Markinch, Fife-shire, and Colonel Forbes' as Aslown, Aberdeenshire, although they had never settled down at either of Colonel Forbes' Scottish seats, but lived in London and at hunting-boxes in Eng-

Finds Race of Cave-Dwellers.

LONDON, Dec. 1 .- (Special.) -- A race of cave-dwellers has been discovered in the great Sahara Desert by Mr. Hans r a Rritish official ing an adventurous journey across the desert from Tripoli to Lake Chad. The troglodytes live in the Ghartlan mountains, among Roman rulns and fig and olive groves. Their villages consist of great holes in the ground, forming courtyards into which the dwellings, barns, etc., open. The rooms are windowless and very dark, but absolutely clean. The courtyard, which is approached by a long narrow passage, is protected by a wall built all round it on the surface.

BALLOON SAILS OVER ALPS

First Successful Trip Ever Made Is Just Completed.

carrying a very light car.
At a hight of 15,000 feet the thermometer registered 39 degrees of frost Fahreneler registered 39 degrees of frost Fahren-helt, and the aeronauts donned heavy gloves and covered their faces with wooi-en masks. The balloon was flying along at an immense speed, while the rarefied atmosphere made their hearts beat vio-lently, their pulses counted 150 a minute, and there was an inconvenient buzzing in their ears. To remdy this they inhaled oxygen from their stores. They were now over the great Apennine range, the backbone of Italy, while ahead of them lay the magnificent panorama of the Alps.

Describing the scene when the balloon was over the Monte Rosa group, at an altitude of 21,000 feet, Signor Usuelli says: "From this height we had an extraordinary vision of the earth's spherical form. The curve of the horizon seemed to be precipitated over an appalling bottomless abyss with a slant of 45 degrees, and we enjoyed the illusion of a hemisphere as seen from a sidereal vantage ground. Flinging out sand, we found ourselves speding towards Mont Blane at a frightful rate. The barometer marked 21,080 feet. Our sand, being somewhat damp, froze to hard blocks inside the sacks." After crossing the highest peaks, the balloon descended on French territory.

The real reason of it is this: There are a number of ecclesiastics who, according to the old custom hitherto followed. to the old custom nitherto followed, would have a kind of right to be created cardinals. Pius X wishes to abolish all such pretended rights—he does not want to make any man a cardinal who has not shown special ability and done special service to the church. BERLIN, Dec. 1.—(Special.)—This is the season of the Kaiser's big battues among the game preserves of the great German landowners. As the guest of some sporting nobleman, His Majesty loves to kill as many head of game as he can with as little trouble or real sport as he can. His shooting methods are not like President Roosevelt's strengous Adirondack expeditions. The Kaiser sits in an ambush, attended by three or four keepers, who hand him loaded repeating rifles in rapid succession. He pots at the game as it is driven past him within easy range by beaters, and his only object is to kill

Woman at the Helm.

SYDNEY, Australia, Dec. 1 .- (Special.) -For 50 hours the wife of Captain Reade of the barkentine Mary Isabel stood at the wheel and steered the ship through tempestuous storms and sigantic seas between Mauritius and this port.

Captain Reade had discovered a ploamong the crew to selze the ship which was bound from London to Sydney via Algoa Bay, Cape Colony. Owing to the precautions he took, six of the crew deserted at Algoa and the mate left at Mauritius. It was impossible to ship a fresh crew at Algoa as the ship was blown out to sea by a heavy gale and un-able to return owing to contrary winds. The ship thus being shorthanded, Mrs. Reade volunteered to assist in working her. She took eight hour watches and at an emergency remained at the wheel two days and two nights continuously. The vessel was considerably overdue when she arrived at this port.

In fact, his assiduous attention keeps alive the idea that the Pope himself is not well. The mention of sulphur will recall to many of us the early days when our mothers and grandmothers gave us our daily dose of sulphur and molasses every spring and fall.

It was the universal spring and fall "blood purifier," tonic and cure-all, and, mind you, this old-fahioned remedy was not without merit.

The idea was good, but the remedy was crude and unpalatable, and a large countries had to be a large countries and a large countries had to be Lawyers in order to notify him of the approach of No. 33. quantity had to be taken to get any effect. Nowadays we get all the beneficial effects of sulphur in a palatable, con-centrated form, so that a single grain is far more effective than a tablespoonful of the crude sulphur.
In recent years research and experiment have proven that the best sul-phur for medicinal use is that obtained from Calcium (Calcium Sulphide) and sold in drug stores under the name of Stuart's Calcium Wafers. They are small chocolate coated pellets and contain' the active medicinal principle of sulphur in a highly concentrated, ef-fective form.

Our grandmothers knew this when they dosed us with sulphur and molasses every spring and fall, but the crudity and impurity of ordinary flowers of sulphur were often worse than the disease, and cannot compare with the modern concentrated preparations of sulphur, of which Stuart's Calcium Wafers, is undoubtedly the best and most widely used.

They are the natural antidote for liver and kidney troubles and cure constipation and purify the blood in a way that often surprises patient and physician alike.

Dr. R. M. Wilkins, while experimenting with sulphur remedies, soon found that the sulphur from Calcium was superior to any other form. He says: "For liver, kidney and blood troubles, especially when resulting from constipation or malaria, I have been sur-prised at the results obtained from Stuart's Calcium Wafers. In patients suffering from boils and pimples and even deep-seated carbuncles, I have repeatedly seen them dry up and disappear in four or five days, leaving the skin clear and smooth. Although Stnart's Calcium Wafers is a proprietary article and sold by druggists and for that reason tabooed by many physi-cians, yet I know of nothing so safe and reliable for constipation, liver and kidney troubles and especially in all forms of skin diseases as this remedy.

At any rate people who are tired of pills, cathartics and so-called blood "purifiers" will find in Stuart's Calcium Wafers, a far safer, more palatable and effective preparation.
