Extreme Novelties will Be Favored

The early promise that the Spring styles would surpass any ever yet designed to please my lady of fashion is being rapidly fulfilled by the charming incoming creations in Tailored Suits and Costumes.

The Tailored Suits of a dressier nature reveal endless possibilities in designing. At first glance we perceive the finished effect, and the impression leaves us charmed. On second thought we ask: "Is it the style of the suit itself or the odd little touches here and there—the way the sleeve is joined, the tiny suggestion of a vest, the wee pocket in which to tuck one's dainty bit of handkerchief—that makes such a lasting impression?" Perhaps it is both combined, for does not the style depend to a large extent on these feminine ideas? Certain it is that the cut of the New Suits could not be improved upon, nor the tailoring. Coats are sharply pointed, and are broad and tight or loose, as the fancy dictates. The skirts are wonderfully designed. This season will see our fancy Tailored Suits with skirts longer and a trifle more closely fitting than during the season past, and they are vastly becoming. Tunic effects are revived or are simulated by bias bands.

TAFT SPEAKS ON RIGHTS OF ALIENS

Tells Lawyers Humiliating Impotence of Federal Government.

CANNOT PUNISH VIOLATORS

Neglect of Congress Prevents Enforcement of Treaty Rights—If Foreigners Are Murdered We Can Only Give Money.

NEW YORK, Feb. 29.—Elements of things political did not enter into the speech delivered by Secretary Taft tonight at the annual dinner of the Brooklyn Bar Association at the Union League Club, Brooklyn, and, suiting his talk to the occasion, he expounded his views on "The Constitution of the United States" in an address often broken by applause from his big audience of lawyers. The Secretary carefully avoided any reference to politics and confined himself to the subject matter of his address.

Mr. Taft expressed the conviction that it was plainly in the power of Congress to provide by law for protection of aliens in their treaty rights. In this connection he said:

Protect Aliens' Rights.
Certainly Congress ought to take some steps directly authorizing the Executive to use the forces at his command to protect the treaty rights of such aliens and ought to vest the courts of the United States with power to punish the person who would violate such alien rights.

In the case of the Mafia riots in Louisiana, where Italian subjects were deprived of rights secured by the treaty of the United States, and in the more recent cases in San Francisco, where Japanese subjects were deprived of their rights by lawless violence, the embarrassment of the National Government in attempting to protect and vindicate those rights is known to all men. It puts our country, now become a world-power and entering into treaties of this kind with every government on earth, in the most pusillanimous position of promising that subjects of another country shall be properly treated and then of having no means of carrying out the promise or of punishing those who violate it.

Makes Us Ridiculous.
A foreign nation has nothing to do with our internal concerns. By the Constitution a foreign nation is obliged to look to the Central Government and, if it deals with that Central Government and that Central Government can make a promise, it can only look to the Central Government for a redemption of the promise. We are in a situation now to say to our foreign friends whose citizens may be assaulted or murdered in violation of treaty obligations:

"We can soothe your feelings by paying out of the Government treasury the value of those lives, but we cannot save them. We cannot punish anybody for taking them."

I confess that this lack of Federal power, due wholly to inaction by Congress, savors of that doctrine which attracted so much ridicule when it was advanced, that it was unconstitutional for states to secede, but was unconstitutional for the Central Government to try to coerce them.

Secretary Taft was this afternoon elected a member of the new board of trustees of the Jeanes fund of $1,000,000, which is to be used to lay the foundation of further negro education in the South.

TAFT RECEIVES MORE SUPPORT

Manager Hitchcock Gets News of Additional Indorsements.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—Frank H. Hitchcock, Secretary Taft's campaign manager, today received a dispatch from A. A. Whitner, chairman of the Republican Congressional Committee of the Ninth District of North Carolina, stating that at a meeting of the committee at Hickory, N. C., today, a resolution was adopted unanimously indorsing Mr. Taft for the Presidency.

Mr. Hitchcock tonight received dispatches from the chairman of the County Committees of Union, Henderson and Hancock counties, North Carolina, stating that at meetings of each of these committees today, Secretary Taft was indorsed for the Presidency without a dissenting vote. He also received a dispatch from San Francisco to the effect that at a meeting of the Republican County Committee of San Francisco, last night, Secretary Taft was indorsed for the Presidency.

MEET TO INDORSE W. J. BRYAN

Nebraskan's Election Urged by New England Democrats.

BOSTON, Feb. 29.—A score of supporters in New England of the candidacy of W. J. Bryan as Democratic candidate for President attended the meeting of the New England Democratic Progressive League here today, and later participated in a larger gathering of Mr. Bryan's followers at Faneuil Hall, the league, through its executive committee, called upon all Democratic state and district conventions to instruct all delegates to vote for Mr. Bryan, and called upon all Democrats to help secure his nomination and election.

Alexander Troupe, of New Haven, president of the league, conducted the meeting, at which there were present delegates from all the New England states. George Fred Williams presided at the dinner at Faneuil Hall, and Mr. Troupe was the principal speaker. Mr. Troupe said he believed that 95 per cent of the rank and file of the New England Democracy was in favor of Bryan's nomination. He said:

The Republicans have been in control over 12 years. They have held unlimited sway in the executive, legislative and judicial departments, and we want to inquire of them who now profess to be Democrats and were allies of the Republican party in 1896 and 1900, what they have to say to the masses of voters in 1908, who are out of work or on short time at reduced wages, and instead of the full dinner pail, are looking for the soupstone or besieging the municipal authorities to take measures to open up work to keep them from starving. There can be but one result if you do your duty from now on, and you cannot only hope, but with reasonable certainty

SAYS THAT PARTY IS DYING

Bryan Sees Republican Fading Before Democracy.

JACKSON, Miss., Feb. 29.—Before the members of the state Legislature and several thousand Mississippians, William J. Bryan made a characteristic speech today in the Gallery Theater.

Mr. Bryan said the Democratic party is growing stronger every day in spite of defeat, while the Republican party is slowly but surely dying. The demand for freedom speech is becoming universal and public sentiment tends more and more towards popular government and it will not be stayed or checked.

Mr. Bryan warmly indorsed the currency bill, prepared by John Sharp Williams, saying it was the best measure of the kind that had ever been put before any Congress.

Mr. Bryan, in his address, made caustic reference to the four Democratic members of the Kentucky Legislature who cast their votes for the Republican Senator yesterday. He referred to them as "embezzlers of power," and declared that the embezzler of power is a worse malefactor than the man who embezzles money.

At the conclusion of the address a resolution indorsing Mr. Bryan as the Democratic candidate for President was adopted by a rising vote, every man, woman and child in the theater rising to his feet and applauding the Nebraskan.

Mr. Bryan was asked concerning a paragraph in the current issue of the Commonwealth, reading as follows: "Watch the personnel of the delegations to Denver. Money is being used in some of the states of the Mississippi valley to secure delegations which will be obedient to the predatory interests. The Democratic masses must not be betrayed by representatives of that system."

When asked concerning the evidence in support of this charge of bribery, Mr. Bryan said:

"I wrote that paragraph myself, and know what I am talking about. I have my information from a man who overheard a conversation on the subject."

When asked what interests are behind the movement, Mr. Bryan replied: "I am convinced that it is the interests representing the trusts and the railroads. They don't hope to prevent constructed delegations from the Mississippi valley states, but they are trying to get a personnel of delegates who will be unfriendly to my nomination."

SHOOTS WEALTHY WIDOW

Los Angeles Mining Man Says She Threw Acid on Him.

LOS ANGELES, Cal., Feb. 29.—Evidently as the result of a quarrel over their winnings at the races, Mrs. Charlotte L. Noyes, a young widow, of Boston and Newburyport, Mass., was shot and instantly killed early this morning in her apartments at the fashionable West Lake district. Her assailant was W. F. McComas, an engineer, who has been paying the woman attentions for some time.

McComas, who voluntarily surrendered to the police, declares that Mrs. Noyes attempted to throw sulphuric acid in his face. He first shot at the ceiling, he told the authorities, and then when the fiery acid stung his face, shot the woman. The detectives do not believe the story, declaring that he deliberately applied the acid to his face in order to show the burns that he now uses to support his story.

In contradiction of McComas' story is the fact that Dr. G. W. Campbell, acting for the coroner, held an autopsy in which it was found that two bullets passed through the woman's body. An examination of the revolver developed the further fact that McComas had attempted to fire four shots, but that the weapon had twice snapped.

The first known of the tragedy was when at the close of a ball at the Hotel Pepper, close to Mrs. Noyes' home, McComas, his face stained with acid, appeared in the midst of the crowd, and inquired for Deputy Sheriff V. C. Carey, of the hotel, to whom he announced that he had killed Mrs. Noyes. The police were immediately summoned and the body of Mrs. Noyes was found on the floor of the dining-room, where she had evidently fallen. When asked for a statement, McComas said to the police:

"I have known the woman for five years and she has been bothering me. I could not stand it longer and put an end to it."

Detectives who searched the elaborately furnished apartments of Mrs. Noyes discovered a sheet of paper, presumed to contain an account of the operations of McComas and Mrs. Noyes at the racetrack. It showed heavy winnings up to two weeks ago, but the total losses, all seemingly during the last few days, amounted to between $3000 and $5000. The list was kept in the handwriting of Mrs. Noyes. A bundle of special delivery letters showed that Mrs. Noyes had directed to her daily a statement of "tips" on the races.

Mrs. Noyes was formerly wife of a salesman for a prominent Boston millinery house. It is said the couple were married in Newburyport 12 years ago and divorced five years ago in California. Mrs. Noyes is said to have possessed considerable property in Massachusetts. Since her arrival here she had invested liberally in real estate located in neighboring towns, and several days ago closed a deal for the purchase of a residence on McClintock street in this city.

OIL CLERK STEALS PAPERS

Admits Showing Them to Competitors of Standard.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 29.—At today's session of the hearing of the suit of the Government against the Standard Oil Company, Edward C. Armstrong, formerly a clerk in the Standard Oil office at Baltimore, admitted that he had abstracted papers from the office of the Standard Oil Company relating to information received by the Standard concerning the operations of its competitors, and had shown them to his friends among the independents.
