

An Exceptional Sale of Bigelow Axminster Carpets

The Standard Bigelow—Best Made

This offer is remarkable, both from the standard of quality and value! A grand Bigelow Axminster for only $1.59 the yard! How can we do it? We have told you how we succeed in doing the carpet business of Portland. We go to the manufacturer direct and buy his entire output of certain popular patterns, and then ship by the carload. We pay no more than the wholesaler.

$1.59

Worth $2.25 Per Yard

There are three beautiful patterns in this lot—not a "cull" carpet, but the most perfect patterns. You will find a grand pattern in tan, another in green, and also one in red. They are superb carpets, the choicest selections from a fortunate purchase. There are sufficient for several rooms in each pattern, and will go to the first bidder at the price quoted. Remember, these are the best Bigelows made—not an imitation. Name woven in the back.

SAVED BY A DREAM

Releases Life Convict From Texas State Prison.

GUILTY OF MURDER

Vision Coming to Total Stranger Brings Freedom to G. W. Jones, Deserted by Friends and Even by Wife.

SAN ANTONIO, Tex., June 30.—Paroled from a penitentiary life sentence because of a dream—such is the romantic circumstance surrounding the release of George W. Jones from the Texas state prison at Huntsville, where he was incarcerated 11 years ago on the charge of murdering a woman.
The murder was committed in Williamson County. A woman whose name has been handled more or less by local gossip was found dead. Certain circumstances seemingly pointed to Jones as the murderer. He was tried and convicted. His wife showed her devotion by removing from her home to Huntsville, so that she might visit him frequently. He was well-to-do and furnished money for her support.
Jones maintained his innocence of the crime, setting forth that he was at all times devoted to his wife and had never associated with other women. For about a year Mrs. Jones was a frequent caller at the prison. It was the one bright spot in Jones' prison life—these visits from his wife. But there came a time when the visits were not so frequent. Jones pined, but his wife explained that she feared to gain the displeasure of the prison officials. She felt that they were annoyed by her calls.
Divorce Papers Served.
One day after the visits had slackened there came a civil officer to the prison with a divorce summons for Jones. "Here is a paper for you," said the officer. Jones' heart fluttered—probably that faithful wife of his had secured him a pardn. He glanced at it hurriedly—he read its meaning.

Catching up the hatchet with which he had been working, he severed his right hand at the wrist, and with his left he handed the amputated member to the Deputy Sheriff, saying:
"Take this back to my wife, and tell her it is my answer to her divorce petition—my good right hand; a hand that has never committed a crime, but that has worked all these years for her support."
The divorce was granted and the wife soon married again—married a man whom she met in Huntsville, where she was living to be near her convict husband.
The woman's arm healed after a painful seige, but he always mourned for his wife, and often in the night the guards on their rounds would hear him sobbing her name.
Waldrup's Strange Dream.
And now for the strange part of the story. J. H. Waldrup, who lives at Chester, Tex., and who years ago read newspaper accounts of how Jones had chopped his hand off, dreamed a few weeks ago of the affair. He also saw in his dream the murder of the woman—saw the tragedy enacted, he declares, as plainly as though he had been an actual eye-witness. Waldrup was not acquainted with Jones—had never even seen him, but he was familiar with his description from hearsay, and the man he saw in his dream—the man who killed the woman—was of entirely different appearance.
Waldrup was so impressed with his dream that he felt called upon to study the case. He neglected his own business and delved into the records. He interviewed the Prosecuting Attorney in the case. He sought the trial judge, long since retired, and begged him for assistance in freeing Jones.
"The man is not guilty, I know it—I saw another man commit that murder—saw him myself," Waldrup declared with earnestness.
Mystery Is Solved.
At first Waldrup's dream was looked upon as a joke. His friends feared for his sanity. But he kept persistently at his task, and at last attracted more or less of a following. Little by little the tangled skein was unwound, and now, through the dream of Waldrup, a total stranger, the Governor of Texas and the Pardon Board have set free a convict.
Berest of the wife for whose love he sacrificed his right hand, Jones has sought seclusion on a ranch near San Antonio, where he says he shall remain.

DR. DAVIS SUES FOR LIBEL

EDITORIAL BASIS OF $40,000 DAMAGE CLAIM.
Member of Legislature Declares Article Published in Journal Is Malicious and Untrue.
Among the many things statement No. 1 in response to, the most recent is a libel suit for $40,000 brought against the Journal by Dr. L. M. Davis, a statement No. 1 member of the Legislature. Dr. Davis' suit was filed in the Circuit Court yesterday afternoon and alleges that he has been so injured by an editorial published in the Journal on June 23, that he has suffered a nervous collapse.
In his suit Dr. Davis alleges that he is a dentist, that he was a candidate for the Legislature on the Statement No. 1 platform, and that he was elected. He says also that Governor Chamberlain received the highest number of votes cast at the June election, and that he is therefore entitled to all the Statement No. 1 votes in the legislature.
Dr. Davis tells the court that ever since he took the pledge he has intended and still intends to adhere to his promise, but that the Journal on June 23, in a long editorial called him a moral weakling, and an untrustworthy and distinguished person. The editorial is headed, "A few plain statements." Dr. Davis says that the Journal's editorial is untrue and malicious, written and published for the purpose of injuring him. He says that it has injured him to the extent of $40,000, and demands judgment for that amount.
Suit Against Lumber Company.
Joseph Quinn filed suit in the Circuit Court yesterday afternoon for $8000 damages from the Bridal Veil Lumber Company for injuries alleged to have been sustained while working in the company's mill. Quinn charges that through the negligence of the company he was injured by a rip saw.
Colored Masons to Meet.
Portland will be the Mecca this week for the gathering of representative Negro Masons and their wives, to attend the sessions of the grand lodge, F. and A. M. Washington and Oregon Jurisdiction, held July 13 to 15. The sessions will be held at Trades Union Hall, under the ausplaces of Enterprise Lodge, No. 1, John C. Logan, of this city, is now closing his fifth term as grand master, having been elected for the fifth time last year in Seattle. J. E. Hawkins, an attorney of Seattle, is deputy grand master and C. S. Parker, of Spokane, grand secretary.

Charged With Misrepresentation.
Suit to recover $10,188 from C. E. Lees was filed in the Circuit Court yesterday afternoon by the Pacific Coast Casualty Company, alleging that Lees' company misrepresented the amount of the pay roll which was the basis of insurance against damages done to employees. It is charged that Lees stated the payroll was only $286,000 for the year from November, 1905, to November, 1906, when in fact it was $688,000. The amount of premium loss paid for insurance against damage to his employes was based on the pay roll.
