SEPARATE SEXES IN HIGH SCHOOLS

CHICAGO SCHOOL SUPERINTEN-DENT HAS PLANS.

Would Establish Technical School for Girls in Each Section, as for Boys.

CHICAGO, Nov. H .- (Special.) -- Segregaion of the sexes in Chicago High Schools is to be put to an eleborate test in the near future, if the plans of E. G. Cooley, Superintendent of Schools, are carried

The Superintendent's newest plan which will come before the Board of Education at its meeting Wednesday evening. is for a system of three technical high schools for girls, to be located in each of the three divisions of the city and to correspond to the present technical high hoots for boys.

In addition to advanced courses in sewing, cooking and general housekeeping, these schools will give instruction in the various trades which have been invaded by feminine labor. In this way, in addition to turning out skilled mechanics and shopworkers, the public schools will have to their credit a body of "awest girl graduates" who can make gloves, superintend a weaving room or enter a downtown office as an expert stenographer of

In a report he has prepared to submit the Board, Mr. Cooley says:

"There is undoubted need of schools for girls similar in general plan to the two technical high schools which the Board already has provided and to the third technical high school which is projected for the South Side. It is the opinion of the Superintendent that a technical high school for girls should be established first on the West Side and that in time similar technical high schools for girls should be established on the North and South

SECOND MARRIAGE PROVES UNHAPPY

PRINCESS DE SAGAN ON BOR-DERLAND OF DIVORCE.

If Forced to Choose Between Helie and Children, Will Keep Latter and Move Out.

LONDON, Nov. 14 .- (Special.) -- Letters have been shown The Oregonian correspondent written by Princess de Sagan, formerly Miss Anna Gould, to a friend in London, declaring as untrue the rumors that her second marriage is unhappy. She says, however, that if she must choose between her children and the Prince, she will keep the children. She thinks this can be done by a divorce or legal separation from her present husband

In fact, one of her letters implies that he Prince is willing to demand such a separation in order to defeat Count Boni de Castellane's efforts to recover the children. The Princess declares herself to be in a "distracted condition" owing to an apparent probability that Count Bond finally will succeed unless her second marriage, because of which he demands the children, is annulled through divorce or a separation There is a report current today that PRINCETON, N. J., Nov. 14.-Prince ton closed an inglorious football season with a deleat at the hands of Yele today, 11 to 6. Outplayed in the first half 6 to 9, Yale came back determined for the second and simply carried Princeton off its feet. Working like a piece of machinery in the opening half, the Ocange and Black returned for the second session to show only spasmo flashes of the brilliancy displayed earlier in the day. With Yak it was a different story.

Dillon Breaks Down, Cries.

Entering a contest for the first time since the sweeping switch of the men after the Brown game last Saturday, there was some anxiety in the Yale camp as to the outcome today, but as the contest progressed the work of LAD OF 7 SHOOTS BROTHER Wel, to be heir presumptive, made a Yale improved. Princeton fought bitterly to avoid the impending disaster, but the flesh was weak. When, near the end of the second half, Captain Dillon, Princeton's great little leader, was carried from the field fighting and crying like a child, the heart seemed to be taken out of his followers. one the weakened and battered Orange and Black warriors were replaced by fresh men until seven substitutes had been brought into the game.

Probably not in the history of the games between these two universities their respective teams as did Coy of Yale and Tibbott of Princeton today Tibbott by his brilliant runs around ends and his wonderful work in open field made possible Princeton's only touchdown, while Coy, with building tenacity, tore great holes in the Princeton line and many times it required the combined strength of at least four Princeton men to stop this player,

Dillon Knocked Senseless. If Yale has anything new in the HILLSBORO, Or., Nov. 14,-(Speial.)-William Bell, of Tualatin, has med his father Rernard Bell, for specific performance of contract, which was verbal, and entered into in 1899. The father, who was then 70 years of age, agreed to give the son, according to the complaint, a deed to a tract of land if the boy would keep him and improve the farm.

The son claims he has faithfully kept his end of the bargain, and that some few years ago a deed was made out. Last August, however, the plaintiff says, the father found the deed and burned it. He now asks the court to suffering. Recent climatic extremes prevent the father from selling the pince, and wants his equity and rights determined.

He alleges that he has spent about $1200 in labor and money in improve-ments, and that the place is now worth about $2000.

VICTORY FOR REFORMERS

Choice of Prince Chun as Rus Introduces Modern Element Into Government and Respects Hule of Succession.

PEKIN, Nov. 14, 8 P. M.-The Emperor died shortly after 5 o'clock this after-

Kwang Hau's later life was a pittable spectacle to his attendants. His feebleness had rendered him a mere puppet and he had suffered long from ill health, which was combined with fear and despair. Latterly he showed marked signs of mental disturbances and even went so far last August as to declare himself mad. The Emperor had been ill for a long time and during recent audiences with foreign representatives he was unable to sit upon the throne, or even in an erect position. It was evident for a long time that he would be unable to withstand a crisis which sooner or later must develop in the disease from which he was caused fatal complications.

Dowager Critically Ill.

At the moment of the death of the Emperor, the Dowager Empress' own death chamber chair was waiting in the courtyard. She, too, had been in a serious condition and word was brought to her earlier in the day that the Empernt was dying, caused her to collapse. This us prevented ber assuming the relationship of grandmother to the successor to the throne, which according to the Chinese, would enormously augment her au-

There is little indication of emotion among the people. The Emperor's death and the probable death of the Downger Empress within a short time, have had very little effect upon the Chinese, who are pursuing the even tenor of their way without signs of mourning.

The report of yesterday that the Downger Empress of China was mortally ill was today confirmed by the Foreign Board of the government.

The edict promoting Prince Chun to the regency and his infant son, Pu the reformers and appeals to the sentiments held by the people for Kuang Hsu, because it respects the close blood ties in the matter of succession and introduces a new and more modern element into the government. evidence of the victory of the reformers.
