Miss Ethel Pullman, who has been the guest of Miss Louise Mesick for the past month, will leave Portland Wednesday for her home at Fortness Monroe, Va., and will be accompanied by company her remaining as her guest at the Army post throughout the winter. Miss Ethel Mitchell entertained informally yesterday at her home on Mt. Tabor.

With the opening of the winter season here, dancing becomes again the all-interesting form of entertainment and especially attractive are the hops which are given every year by the officers and women of the Vancouver Barracks, and Portland society is indeed fortunate in its proximity to a United States Army post. Mrs. W. H. Grindstaff and Miss Mildred Grindstaff have sent out cards for an afternoon at bridge which will take place soon.

A San Francisco paper has the following account of the attentions which society folk of the Bay City are bestowing upon Miss Christine Pomeroy, soon to be the bride of Thomas Scott Brooke: "Miss Christine Pomeroy, whose wedding to Thomas Scott Brooke will take place November 3, has been so deluged with invitations to luncheons, teas, and dinners that she has been obliged to call a halt to the many compliments with which her friends would shower her. In truth she finds every hour until her wedding already engaged and scores who wished to entertain for her have been forced to defer their affairs indefinitely. There is no possibility of tendering these affairs after her marriage as it is generally known, and a matter of regret, that this popular girl is to make her home in Portland. Mr. Brooke is one of the leading club and business men of the Northern City."

Mr. Brooke will arrive in San Francisco today and will be accompanied by his best man and several of his ushers for Thursday's wedding. The best man will be E. L. Lintinich and the ushers will include Andrew Kerr and Roderick Macleary of this city, and G. S. Howe, Wilberforce Williams, John Kittle, Wharton Thurston and Arthur Chesborough, of San Francisco.

Mr. Brooke is only recently returned to Portland from a trip to Alaska on his yacht. He will be the guest of his nephew, Douglas Grant, for the Brooke-Pomeroy wedding and will prolong his stay in the southern city a fortnight.

Thomas Scott Brooke will be host at a dinner at the Palace Hotel tomorrow evening in San Francisco in honor of his fiancée, Miss Pomeroy, and the members of their bridal party.

Miss Alma Thane, a former well-known Portland Academy girl now living in San Francisco, was among the luncheon hostesses last week who entertained in honor of Miss Georgia Hammond, one of the popular bride-elects of that city.

The Irvington-Holladay Dancing Club gave its first party Thursday evening at the Irvington Club House, with 49 or 50 couples present. The club is re-organized from last year, and has a limited membership of 50 couples, which list is filled.

Mrs. H. D. Green was the hostess recently at an elaborate dinner given at the Hotel Victoria, San Francisco, prior to her departure for Washington, D. C., where she expects to pass the winter with her daughter, Mrs. Burr.

A theater party at the Heilig Theater evening was given by Roderick Macleay in honor of Mrs. Charles Foster, of Tacoma, who is the guest of Miss Kathleen Burns and was one of the receiving more couples of Miss Anita Burns. The following guests were present: Mrs. Charles Foster, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. Hunt Lewis,

Captain and Mrs. Gordon Voorhies, Mr. and Mrs. Peter Kerr, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Alnoworth, Miss Elizabeth Ballie of Tacoma, Miss Kathleen Burns, Miss Evelyn Wilson, Miss Anita Burns, Kenneth Beebe, Andrew Kerr, Kurt Koehler and C. H. Davis, Jr.

Lieutenant and Mrs. Ross S. Kingsbury, United States Marine Corps (Miss Josephine Elliott), sailed Tuesday on the Mongolia for Honolulu and Manila. Their brief stay at the San Francisco was the occasion of several delightful luncheons and dinners.

Always of interest is the knowledge of representation and Portland certainly has that at Yale University this year. Among the young men from here who are registered there at present are: Spencer Biddle, class 1912; Robert Mersereau, class 1911; Lloyd Mayer, class 1912; Anson Frohman, class 1912; Charles Robinson, class 1911 in Sheffield Medical department; Benjamin Hill and George Stanley, both in the class of 1912, also of Sheffield; Oliver B. Huston, class 1912, and Samuel May, class 1912, both in the law department.

One of these students writes the following bit of gossip: "Portland came visibly to the front at New Haven last Wednesday, October 19, when Ann Ditchburn starred here in the 'Climax.' She has a three months' bill ahead of her in this play in the principal cities of the East and then has the promise of starring in a new play soon after Christmas."

The following cluster of interesting maidens from Portland's younger set are attending Okeley University at New Rochelle, New York: Miss Jean Brownlee, Miss Dorothy Moulton, Miss Helen Byles, Miss Ruth Steiner and Miss Jessie Furnish.

Oliver B. Huston and Arthur Van Dusen, two well-known University of Oregon students now at Yale and Northwestern, respectively, have designated their intention of attending the Grand Chapter meeting of the Sigma Nu Fraternity which will be held in Indianapolis during Christmas week.

Miss Sybil Lippitt will be at home for her friends Friday afternoon, November 4, from 3 until 5 o'clock, when she will entertain in honor of her cousin, Miss Golda Meyer, of San Francisco. Miss Meyer, who has come to Portland to act as maid-of-honor at Miss Lippitt's wedding next week, is one of the champion tennis players of the Pacific Coast and only recently was awarded the prize at the tournament at Del Monte, Cal.

Mrs. Lippitt's wedding to Henry Goldsmith, of San Francisco, will take place at the Portland Hotel, Wednesday evening, November 2. The brother of the bridegroom-elect, Mark Goldsmith, also of San Francisco, will be the best man.

Milton Lippitt, of San Francisco, and Herbert Schel, of Portland, have been appointed ushers.

After the wedding Mr. and Mrs. Goldsmith will be the best man.
